The House proceeding on the order of Resolutions, Mr. Peter F. Smith offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 50.

WHEREAS, It has been repeatedly announced from public platforms by His Honor, William Hale Thompson, Mayor of the city of Chicago, that the fares charged by the surface lines of the city of Chicago at the rate of 8c per passenger are arbitrarily unreasonable, inequitable and unfair, and should be reduced, and the Mayor of Chicago has on many such occasions pledged himself to accomplish the reduction of street car fares in Chicago from the present rate of 8c to a 5c fare, and in the campaign of 1920 repeatedly promised the voters that if the Thompson local ticket in Chicago, and the associated State ticket, were elected, a reduction in the street car fares in Chicago would be effected; and

WHEREAS, The bill for the creation of transportation districts is the method adopted by His Honor, the Mayor of Chicago, for the purpose of carrying into effect the much promised reduction of street car fares, and the said measure, if passed by the Legislature, cannot become operative so as to grant to the people this reduction in a period less than from two to five years from the present time, owing to the necessity for its approval by referendum vote and election of trustees, and the possibilities of untoward litigation; and

WHEREAS, The Governor of the State of Illinois has a certain amount of control, or at least an advisory relation with the members of the Public Utilities Commission appointed by him, since the first of the present year, and as the power lies with the Public Utilities Commission, subject to review by the courts to compel the surface lines of Chicago to exact a fare from passengers which will duly regard the rights of the public and the rights of the traction companies; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That his Excellency, the Governor of the State of Illinois, be and he is hereby requested to bring to the attention of the Public Utilities Commission of Illinois the condition of the question of rates of fare for transportation upon the surface lines of the city of Chicago in order that due steps may be taken by the Public Utilities Commission to obtain and enforce for the benefit of the public, the relief so greatly needed in the opinion of His Honor, the Mayor of Chicago, by means of a reduction of the present existing fare to five cents.

Mr. Boyd offered the following resolution which was referred to the Committee on Senatorial Apportionment.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 51.

WHEREAS, It is believed that the work of the General Assembly could be performed more efficiently and expeditiously if the membership of the two houses were not so large; and

WHEREAS, The reduction of the membership of the General Assembly would not only make for a more efficient legislative body, but would also reduce the expenditure of State money for the salaries and expenses of that body; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Fifty-second General Assembly, That it is suggested to the Constitutional Convention that the senatorial districts of the State be made to coincide with congressional districts, and that one senator and three representatives be elected from each district; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House is directed to send a copy of this resolution to each delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

A person is qualified to receive a license to do business as an insurance agent

1. Who is a resident of this State;
2. Who has been authorized by any insurance company, association or other insurer, to transact business as the agent of such insurer; and

The application shall state under oath the name, age, residence, present occupation, occupation for the five years last past and such other information as the department may require.

The application shall be accompanied by a written notice by an insurance company, association or other insurer authorized to transact business in this State, of its appointment of the applicant as agent, and shall also be accompanied by evidence verified by oath, and satisfactory to the department that the applicant is a person of good moral character.

When the conditions herein prescribed have been complied with, the Department of Trade and Commerce shall issue to the applicant a license to do business as an insurance agent.

Any such license may be revoked by the Department of Trade and Commerce for any one or more of the following reasons:

1. The termination of the licensee's authority to act as agent for the insurance company, association or other insurer;

2. Conviction of a felony;

3. Wilful failure or refusal to comply with any provision of the laws of the State relating to insurance; or

4. Any unprofessional or dishonorable conduct.

The Department of Trade and Commerce may not, however, refuse to issue or renew, nor revoke any license to act as agent for any cause, unless the person accused has been given at least 10 days' notice in writing of the charge against him and a public hearing by the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Upon the hearing of any such proceeding, the Director of Trade and Commerce, the Assistant Director of Trade and Commerce and the Superintendent of Insurance may administer oaths and the Department of Trade and Commerce may procure, by its subpoena, the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant books and papers.

Any circuit court or any judge of a circuit court, either in term time or in vacation, upon application either of the accused or of the Department of Trade and Commerce, may, by order duly entered, require the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant books and papers before the Department of Trade and Commerce in any hearing relating to the refusal suspension or revocation of certificates of registration. Upon refusal or neglect to obey the order of the court or judge, the court or judge may compel, by proceedings for contempt of court, obedience of its or his order.

Any person to whom the department has refused to issue or renew a license or whose license has been revoked by the Department of Trade and Commerce may, within ten days after the order, appeal to the circuit court of Sangamon County for the purpose of having the reasonableness or lawfulness of the order inquired into and determined. The person taking the appeal shall file with the Department of Trade and Commerce, written notice of appeal. The department shall, within five days thereafter, file with the clerk of the circuit court of Sangamon County, a certified copy of the order appealed from, and within ten days thereafter, a full record of the proceedings had before the department, including a transcript of the testimony, together with all exhibits introduced and considered by the department. The person taking the appeal, within five days after serving notice upon the department, shall file a copy of the notice with the clerk of the Circuit Court of Sangamon County, and the appeal shall, thereupon, be docketed and tried without formal pleadings. No new or additional evidence shall be introduced upon the trial of the appeal, but it shall be heard on the record of the department as certified by it to the circuit court. If it appears that the department fails to receive evidence properly proffered, the court shall remand the case to the department, with instructions to receive the testimony so proffered and rejected, and to enter an order based upon the evidence theretofore taken, and such new evidence as it is directed to receive. Upon hearing any such appeal, the court shall enter judgment either affirming or setting aside the order of the department either refusing to issue or renew or revoking the license.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Murray, Secretary:

Mr. Speaker—I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 6.

WHEREAS, This nation, governed by its traditional opposition to tyranny and despotism, and actuated by the highest motives in furthering the welfare of humanity, entered the great world war and in furtherance of such traditions and motives gave up its treasures in money and manhood without stint;

AND, WHEREAS, The great underlying purposes of this nation in so entering the great war was to seek justice for the weak and oppressed peoples of the world and to effectuate the principle of justice which gives to those peoples the right to form a government of their own to regulate their own domestic and internal affairs and their relations to each other;

AND, WHEREAS, The American government, through its people, has, in all its history, deplored and opposed usurpation of powers which have the direct object of the establishment of tyranny and despotism, over those peoples who are of themselves powerless to oppose such usurpation of powers;

AND, WHEREAS, The same nation which sought and attempted to tyrannize and establish a despotism over our own beloved country, by the exercise of its military and naval power, is now, and has, for the past seven centuries, by the unjust exercise of its military and civil power, cruelly used, usurped the powers properly vested in and belonging to the Irish people, and has established a tyrannical despotism to rule over said Irish people by the use of force so violent that it has become necessary for the Irish people to set up and maintain a government of their own in opposition to the despotism so established over them by the British government;

AND, WHEREAS, The people of this country read daily, with horror and disgust, of the brutal and indefensible massacre of peace-loving and saintly Irish priests, as well as Ireland's bravest and noblest citizens by the British government, through its appointed military forces known as the murderous "Black and Tans," now forcibly and unjustly occupying the sacred soil of that ancient and historic land;

AND, WHEREAS, Ireland has always been America's best and warmest friend from the days in 1774, when on many bloody battlefields its sons bravely fought on American soil the European mercenaries and Indian savages sent over to this country by George III of England to suppress the patriotic efforts of George Washington, Samuel Adams, John Hancock, Patrick Henry and innumerable other patriots, who, like the sons of Ireland of today were struggling to be free;

AND, WHEREAS, The people of Ireland have committed no crime, other than that of seeking for their beloved country that form of national dependence which the immortal Washington and his noble compatriots sought to establish for their oppressed country in the memorable days of the American Revolution;

Be it, therefore, resolved, by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, That we sincerely sympathize with the Irish people in their heroic struggle for national independence; and condemn with all the force at our command the brutal and wanton murder of innocent Irish priests, sisters and laymen by British soldiery, now unjustly occupying the sacred soil of Ireland.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Secretary of State of the United States of Washington, D. C., coupled with the request that he at once recommend to Congress the passage of such necessary measures as will enable our American nation to recognize the Republic of Ireland, now established by the will of eighty-five per cent of its brave and patriotic people, and thus show the civilized world that from our beloved America still radiates the joy and hope of all small nations struggling to be free.

Adopted by the Senate, May 31, 1921.

The foregoing message reporting Senate Joint Resolution No. 6, was ordered to lie on the Speaker's table.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Murray, Secretary:

Together with the following amendments thereto, in the adoption of which amendments I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

That sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of an Act entitled, "An Act in regard to elections, and to provide for filling vacancies in elective offices." Approved April 3, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended, are amended to read as follows:

Section 1. That there shall be elected by general ticket in the manner and with the effect hereinafter provided, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November preceding the expiration of the term of office of each President of the United States, as many electors of President and Vice President of the United States as this State may be entitled to appoint; which election shall be conducted and returns thereof made as hereinbefore provided: Provided, that if Congress should hereafter fix a different day, then the election for electors shall be held on such day as shall be named by Act of Congress. The choosing, election and appointment of electors aforesaid shall be made in the following manner:

(a) In each year in which a President and Vice-President of the United States are chosen, each political party or group in this State shall choose by its Congressional Convention in each congressional district, and if not so done then by the delegates from a congressional district to a State Convention choose an elector of President and Vice-President of the United States, to be reported to the State Convention of such party or group and such State Convention of such party or group shall also choose electors at large, if any are to be appointed for this State, and such State Convention of such party or group shall by its chairman and secretary certify the total list of such electors, together with electors at large so chosen to the Secretary of State of Illinois.

The filing of such certificate, with said Secretary of State, of such choosing of electors shall be deemed and taken to be the choosing or selection of the electors of this State to be appointed by the Governor of this State, if such party or group is successful at the polls as herein provided in choosing their candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States.

(b) The names of the candidates of the several political parties or groups for electors of President and Vice-President shall not be printed on the official ballot to be voted in the election to be held on the day in this section first above named. Each voter in this State from the several lists or sets of electors so chosen and selected by the said respective political parties or groups, may choose and elect one of such lists or sets of electors to be appointed as herein provided by the Governor, by placing a cross in the square to the left of the bracket aforesaid of one of such parties or groups.

The Governor shall appoint as electors of this State, that list or set of electors, whose party or group by its voters in the manner herein provided cast the highest vote for President and Vice-President, by placing a cross in the square to the left of the bracket aforesaid. Placing a cross within the square before the bracket enclosing the names of President and Vice-President shall not be deemed and taken as a direct vote for such candidates for President and Vice-President, or either of them, but shall only be deemed and taken to be a vote for the entire list or set of electors chosen by that political party or group so certified to the Secretary of State as herein provided.

(c) Such certification by the respective political parties or groups in this State of electors of President and Vice-President by the State Convention of such parties or groups shall be made to the Secretary of State within the same time that nominations are required by law to be made of candidates for State offices to be voted for on the date of the election first above named in this section.

(d) Should more than one certificate of choice and selection of electors of the same political party or group be filed by contesting conventions or contesting groups, it shall be the duty of the Governor, the Secretary of State, the Auditor of Public Accounts, the State Treasurer and the Superintendent of Public Instruction within five days after the close of the period within which nominations of State candidates may be made and filed with the Secretary of State to meet in the office of the Governor and determine which set of nominees for electors of such party or group was chosen and selected by the authorized convention of such party or group. The Secretary of State shall notify such State officers of the date, time and place of such meeting. At such meeting a majority of the said officers present, after notice to the chairman and secretaries or managers of the conventions or groups and after a hearing shall determine which set of electors was so chosen by the authorized convention and shall so announce and publish the fact, and such decision shall be final and the set of electors so determined upon by said State officers to be so chosen shall be the list or set of electors to be appointed by the Governor as aforesaid if that party shall be successful at the polls, as herein provided.

(e) Should a vacancy occur in the choice of an elector in a congressional district, such vacancy may be filled by the executive committee of the party or group for such congressional district, to be certified by such committee to the Secretary of State of Illinois. Should a vacancy occur in the office of elector at large, such vacancy shall be filled by the State committee of such political party or group and certified by it to the Secretary of State of Illinois.

President by each political party or group, as indicated by the voter as aforesaid, by a cross in the square to the left of the bracket aforesaid, and transmit by mail one of said copies to the Governor, another to the office of the Secretary of State, and retain the third in his office, to be sent for by the Governor in case both the others should be mislaid. Within twenty days after the holding of such election, and sooner if all the returns are received by either the Governor or by the Secretary of State, the Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts and Treasurer, or any two of them, shall, in the presence of the Governor, proceed to open and canvass said election returns, and to declare which set of candidates for President and Vice-President received as aforesaid the highest number of votes cast at such election as aforesaid; but should two or more sets of candidates for President and Vice-President be returned with an equal and the highest vote, the said Secretary of State shall cause a notice of the same to be published, which notice shall name some day and place, not less than five days from the time of such publication of such notice, upon which the said Secretary, Auditor of Public Accounts and State Treasurer will decide by lot which of said sets of candidates for President and Vice-President so equal and highest shall be declared to be highest. And upon the day and at the place so appointed in said notice, the said Secretary, Auditor and Treasurer, or any two of them, shall, in the presence of the Governor, so decide by lot and declare which is deemed highest of the said sets of candidates for President and Vice-President so equal and highest; thereby determining only that the electors chosen as aforesaid by such candidates' party or group are thereby elected by general ticket to be appointed as aforesaid by the Governor.

Sec. 3. Within five days after the votes shall have been canvassed and the results declared or the result declared by lot as provided for in Section 2 above the Governor shall cause the result of said election to be published, and shall appoint the persons electors of President and Vice-President so chosen composing the list so elected, by transmitting by mail to the several persons so chosen and composing the list or set elected, electors of President and Vice-President certificates in triplicate, under the Seal of State of their appointment, and shall also transmit under the Seal of State to the Secretary of State of the United States the certificate of the appointment of said electors as required by the laws of Congress.

Sec. 4. The electors appointed as aforesaid, shall meet at the office of the Secretary of State in a room to be designated by him in the Capitol at Springfield in this State, at the time appointed by the laws of the United States at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of such day, and give their votes for President and for Vice-President of the United States, in the manner therein provided, and perform such duties as are or may be required by law. Each elector shall receive for every twenty miles necessary travel in going to the seat of government to give his vote and returning to his residence, to be computed by the most usual route, the sum of three dollars ($3.00), to be paid on the warrant of the Auditor, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, and any person appointed by the electors assembled to fill a vacancy shall also receive the compensation provided for electors appointed.

Sec. 5. In case any person duly appointed an elector of President and Vice-President of the United States shall fail to attend at the Capitol on the day on which his vote is required to be given, it shall be the duty of the elector or electors of President and Vice-President, attending at the time and place, to appoint a person or persons to fill such vacancy; provided, that should the person or persons chosen and appointed as in this Act provided, in the foregoing sections, arrive at the place aforesaid before the votes for President and Vice-President are actually given, the person or persons appointed to fill such vacancy shall not act as elector of President and Vice-President.

Mr. Lacy, from the Committee to Visit Educational Institutions, submitted the following report, which was received and ordered placed on file:

To the Honorable Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives:

Your committee appointed to visit the Educational Institutions of the State, having performed that duty, beg leave to submit the following report:

MACOMB.

The committee visited the Western Illinois Normal School on Friday, March tenth. This institution, having an enrollment of 475, is beautifully located on a 69-acre tract in the northwest part of the City of Macomb, and is under the able management of Dr. Walter P. Morgan. We found the buildings and grounds in good physical condition with the exception of the heating plant which has outlived its usefulness.

The building for the School of Arts which was recently completed is an elegant building conveniently arranged, its only shortcoming being the lack of elevator facilities which are badly needed for the carrying of supplies to the cafeteria and the School of Domestic Science, which are located on the third floor. A shaft for an elevator was provided in the erection of the building, and we would advise the installation of the car as soon as the estimates for same reach a reasonable figure.

While this school is not as yet overcrowded, it soon will be, in all probability, and there will then be urgent need of an addition to the dormitory, which will involve also the erection of a larger and more modern heating plant.

A new gymnasium would be a very valuable addition to the equipment as soon as the more urgent needs of the school are cared for. It would also be well for the State to buy the 10-acre tract adjoining the campus on the west when finances will permit.

A specially interesting feature of your Committee's visit was an observation of class-room work. Macomb children are taught by advanced students under the supervision of the Training Teachers, and it was intensely interesting to see the efficiency displayed by those students in the handling of classes. Any public school in need of a good teacher will be fortunate to secure such talent.

Another item of interest was a little play staged before the entire student body by a dozen tots seven and eight years old who gave evidence of most careful training. A class of eight year old tots playing Esquimaux, and later acting out very realistically a story of "Bunny Rabbit" caused your Committee to pay high praise to Miss Willis for her efficient work.

NORMAL.

On April fifth, the Committee visited the Illinois State Normal University at Normal, which is under the presidency of Dr. Felmley.

This Institution is the oldest of its kind in the State, and because of that fact some of the buildings are in great need of repair. This is especially true of the old Training School building which was erected in 1892. It is now being used as a library building, being converted to that use in 1914, and is very serviceable for that purpose. The floors which are pine, are in very bad condition and should be replaced. The stair-way should also receive immediate attention. The present gymnasium which was erected in 1896 is entirely too small to meet the demands of the school. The Institution is also using the gymnasium of the M. E. Church, and in the summer, it uses the public school gymnasium. The building, on the first floor of which the gymnasium is located, also houses the Commercial Department on the second floor, and the Biology Department on the third floor.

The women's Dormitory, or Fell hall, is virtually a new building, being erected in 1917 and 1918. It is well furnished and houses about 80 young women.

Because of the unforeseen increase in the cost of building material when the building was erected, it was not possible to complete it as provided for in the original plans. As soon as conditions will permit, the Colonial portico over the main entrance and the south wing of the building should be added.

The heating plant is probably the best to be found in any of the State Institutions. It is modern in every way and will take care of the needs of the Institutions for many years.

The green-house, as presently located near the abandoned boiler house, infringes on the play grounds of the children of the Elementary Training School, it could be moved over near the new heating plant at a nominal cost, and in our opinion this should be done.

Some of the drive-ways of the Institution are considerably worn and should be re-surfaced as soon as it is possible.

The Institution has a present enrollment of about 400.

CHARLESTON.

On April 8th the committee visited the Eastern Illinois Normal School at Charleston. This institution has probably the most beautiful campus of any of the normal schools. Some of the buildings, however, are in need of improvement. The gymnasium should be equipped with lockers, as the present equipment of this character is far inadequate to meet the needs of the school. This is also true of the Domestic Science School, and lockers should be installed for the use of the students in this department.

Additional facilities can be provided very inexpensively for the housing of thirty or forty more young women students in this school by erecting a sleeping porch on the wing of the present dormitory with no additional overhead expense whatever.

The kitchen which is too small for present use, should be extended and above this extension we would recommend the erection of a second and third floor sleeping porch, in each of which probably twenty girls could find sleeping quarters. This would materially increase the revenue of the dormitory at a very small expense.

CARBONDALE.

The committee visited the Southern Illinois Normal University on April 15th. This institution is located in the city of Carbondale, and has the largest enrollment of any of the normal schools and is under the capable management of Dr. H. W. Shryock. So far as the committee was able to ascertain by visiting the various class rooms, the educational work of the school is in a flourishing condition.

The buildings of the institution are in very good condition, but some of them are wholly inadequate to meet its requirements. This is especially true of the gymnasium which the school has long since outgrown, and in our opinion the most urgent need is a new gymnasium. The erection of such a building in addition to providing sufficient equipment for physical training would solve other problems with which the school is confronted by permitting the utilization of the present gymnasium for the Manual Arts School, which is crowded beyond its capacity. We even found that some of the shop room of this school is being used for recitation room. The moving of the manual arts department would in turn permit the chemical laboratory, which is also very much overcrowded to expand by occupying the room which is now used by the above mentioned school.

The dining room of the girls' dormitory is much too small, which condition should be corrected as soon as practicable by the erection of an annex.

The auditorium at this institution is one of the finest buildings of its kind in the State, and will meet the needs of the school for many years to come. It is indeed a magnificent structure of which the school is justly proud.

DE KALB.

The committee completed its work with a visit to the Northern Illinois Normal School at DeKalb on April 25th. The buildings of this institution are comparatively new, and together with the grounds are in excellent conditions.

The lighting system on the grounds of this institution should be completed as soon as it is possible to do so. We might mention here also that none of the other normal schools have any lighting system on their grounds. This condition should not exist and we recommend that such a system be installed on the grounds of all the institutions as soon as practicable.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—The Governor directs me to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

To the Gentlemen of the Fifty-second General Assembly:

In the interest of economy, for the convenience of our citizens, and to extend the control by the people over our State and National governments, I urge upon the General Assembly the prompt passage of bills to amend the general primary law and the legislative primary law so that there shall be but one State-wide party primary in any one year, and that where more than one primary election be provided for, as now, that these all be combined in one party primary in April, so there will be ample time for careful consideration and deliberate choice by the people of their party candidates for public office.

I desire also to take advantage of this opportunity to recommend to the General Assembly that in the consideration of other proposed amendments to our primary or election laws that they be sure to safeguard, protect and preserve to the people of each Congressional District the right to choose by direct vote their delegates to the National party conventions, and the right of each citizen of our State to indicate his or her choice for president of the United States.

I am convinced that the nearer government be brought to the people, the better that government will be. It will be the unchanging policy of my administration to enlarge rather than abridge the right of self-government. There need be no fear whatever that I will approve any legislation to abridge the power of the people while I am governor.

In the interest of a greater exercise of the right of self-government, I respectfully ask prompt consideration of the proposal herein to combine and simplify our primary laws, saving thereby the expense and annoyance of holding repeated party primaries.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL,
Governor of Illinois.

The House proceeding on the order of Resolutions, Mr. Gregory offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 41.

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois has placed the city of Chicago in the Mississippi watershed in pursuance not only of its own statutes but also of the Acts of Congress of March 30, 1822, and March 2, 1827, the validity of which is not disputed; and

WHEREAS, The People of the State of Illinois and the People of the Mississippi Valley States have long cherished plans for a deep waterway connecting Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico thereby greatly improving transportation facilities and contributing to the prosperity of the entire Mississippi Valley; and

WHEREAS, In furtherance of these plans the People of the State of Illinois have heretofore voted in favor of the issuance of bonds in the sum of twenty million dollars for the improvement of the DesPlaines and Illinois Rivers and the construction of a deep waterway from the Sanitary District Canal at Lockport to the Illinois River at Utica; and

WHEREAS, Work is now under construction and the present session of the Illinois General Assembly has re-appropriated the unexpended balance of said sum of twenty million dollars for the purpose indicated; and

WHEREAS, The success of the plan for a deep waterway depends entirely upon obtaining permission from the Federal Government to divert a sufficient amount of water from Lake Michigan to properly serve the purpose of such channel and without which such deep waterway is an utter impossibility; and

WHEREAS, The Sanitary District of Chicago has heretofore dredged the Chicago River from Lake Michigan to Robey Street, Chicago, and has constructed a channel 24 feet deep and 160 feet wide from Robey Street to Lockport to be used in carrying the sewage and drainage of the said Sanitary District of Chicago into the DesPlaines River at Lockport, thus reversing the flow of water in the said Chicago River and diverting the sewage of the Sanitary District of Chicago from Lake Michigan; and

WHEREAS, The said Sanitary District Canal constructed and paid for by the People of the Sanitary District of Chicago, together with the improvements of the DesPlaines and Illinois Rivers between Lockport and Utica by the State of Illinois, form a necessary connecting link between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi River; and

WHEREAS, A diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan will contribute to the success of the Lakes to the Gulf Waterway and is absolutely essential to reverse the runoff of water into the Chicago River and to cause said river and the sewage of said Sanitary District to at all times flow away from Lake Michigan, and to protect the lives and health of the more than three million inhabitants of said Sanitary District who are obliged to use Lake Michigan as their source of domestic water supply; and

WHEREAS, Neither the State of Illinois nor the Sanitary District of Chicago has been able to secure from the Secretary of War of the United States permission to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan, due to possible lack of authority and also because it has been and is claimed that diversion of water tends to lower the levels of the Great Lakes and to interfere with commerce and navigation; and

WHEREAS, The Sanitary District of Chicago while asserting that no actual injury to commerce or navigation has resulted or will result from such diversion, nevertheless, stands ready, willing and able to pay the cost of building wiers or dams or other works designed to restrict the outflow of water from the Great Lakes and to regulate and maintain lake levels, and thus to compensate for any injury to commerce or navigation which may be held to result from such diversion; and

WHEREAS, Authority to establish the amount of water which may be diverted from Lake Michigan at Chicago for purposes of sanitation and for the development of the Lakes to the Gulf Waterway rests with the Congress of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois and the Sanitary District of Chicago are mutually interested in securing congressional action in this regard and in having the amount of water which may be diverted definitely fixed and established; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Illinois General Assembly, the Senate concurring therein, That a joint committee of ten be appointed, four members thereof to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, three members thereof to be appointed by the President of the Senate upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, and three persons to be appointed by the Governor for the purpose of cooperating with the trustees of the Sanitary District of Chicago, and with the United States Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Illinois in presenting to the Congress of the United States the pressing necessity for congressional action authorizing a diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan at Chicago for the double purpose of protecting the waters of Lake Michigan from sewage pollution dangerous to the lives and health of over three million people who must use Lake Michigan's water for drinking purposes and also to make certain an adequate supply of water for navigation purposes between Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico when the connecting link between the Sanitary District Canal and the Illinois River has been completed.

Resolved, further, That the General Assembly proceed to make an appropriation in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00) for the necessary expenses of said committee.

And the resolution was adopted.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof and ask their concurrence therein.

WHEREAS, The said location and juxtaposition of said Wolf Lake and Lake Michigan are such as to make this site ideally adapted for the development and operation of a public interstate transfer harbor; and

WHEREAS, The U. S. engineers, recognizing the necessity and feasibility of the proposed public interstate harbor, having prepared plans for the same, contemplating the construction by the United States of an outward protecting breakwater in Lake Michigan approximately three and one-half miles in length at a cost of approximately six million dollars ($6,000,000) and dredging operations by the United States shoreward of said breakwater in and to the proposed inner basin in Wolf Lake at an additional cost, providing that suitable co-operative harbor construction in and near said Wolf Lake be undertaken and performed by another proper public body, said plans having been approved by the chief of engineers and the secretary of war; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that additional information and data be secured by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana before proceeding upon the appointment of a harbor board or arranging otherwise for the development and construction of such proposed public interstate harbor; therefore,

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

ERNST FREUND, President.....University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois
JOSEPH J. THOMPSON, Secretary.....917 Ashland Block, Chicago, Illinois
NATHAN WILLIAM MACCHESNEY.....30 N. LaSalle st., Chicago, Illinois
JOHN H. WIGMORE.....Northwestern University, Chicago, Illinois

BIENNIAL REPORT OF THE COMMISSION FOR THE UNIFORMITY OF LEGISLATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

TO THE HONORABLE LEN SMALL, Governor:

The Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation in the United States, in addition to the Preliminary Report made to the Honorable Frank O. Lowden, Governor, on December 27, 1920, begs to report more fully as follows:

I. AUTHORIZATION.

The Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation exists under and by virtue of an Act of the General Assembly, approved June 3, 1907, which provides:

"There is hereby created a Commission which shall be styled 'Commission for the Uniformity of Legislation in the United States' to consist of five persons, to be appointed by the Governor, and who shall hold office for the term of four years respectively, and until their successors are appointed."

The duties of the Commission are defined by Section 2 of the Act:

"Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of said Commission to examine the subjects of marriage and divorce, commercial paper, insolvency, form of notarial certificates, descent and distribution of property, acknowledgment of deeds, execution and probation of wills, and all other subject (subjects) on which uniformity is desirable with the laws of other states, to ascertain the best means to effect uniformity in the laws of the states and to represent the State of Illinois in convention, conference or congress of like commissions heretofore appointed or to be appointed by other states to consider and draft uniform laws to be submitted for the approval and adoption by the several states and to devise and recommend such other course of action as shall best accomplish the purpose of this Act. Such commissioners shall report to the Governor at least thirty days before the convening of the biennial session of the General Assembly, and the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly such report, with his recommendation, if any, in reference thereto."

II. THE COMMISSIONERS.

The Commissioners during the last several years have been Ernst Freund, Chicago; James M. Graham, Springfield; Nathan William MacChesney, Chicago; Joseph J. Thompson, Chicago, and John H. Wigmore, Evanston. The term of each of the Commissioners expired in 1920, and each was reappointed by Governor Lowden on December 4, 1920, for another term of four years.

At an election of officers held on December 27, 1920, Commissioner Ernst Freund was elected President and Commissioner Joseph J. Thompson was elected Secretary.

III. THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS.

The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is composed of commissioners appointed by legislative or executive authority from the states, the District of Columbia, the territory of Alaska, and the island possessions of the United States. The organization meeting was held at Saratoga, N. Y., in August, 1892, and annual meetings have been regularly held since that time, immediately preceding the meeting of the American Bar Association.

The purpose of the organization, as its name imports, is to promote uniformity of legislation on subjects of common interest throughout the United States. The commissioners are chosen from the legal profession, and serve without compensation or emoluments. Proposed acts are carefully drawn by special committees of trained lawyers, assisted by experts in many instances, and are printed, distributed, and discussed in the National Conference at more than one annual session. When finally approved by the conference the uniform acts are recommended for general adoption throughout the jurisdiction of the United States and are submitted to the American Bar Association for its approval. Each uniform act is thus the fruit of one or more tentative drafts submitted to the criticism, correction, and emendation of the American bar and represents the experience and the judgment of a select body of lawyers chosen from every part of the United States.

The National Conference met in Boston, August 27th to September 2, 1919, and in St. Louis, August 19th to August 24th, 1920. Three of the Commissioners from Illinois were present at the Boston meeting and all were present at the St. Louis meeting.

IV. UNIFORM LEGISLATION APPROVED AND RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE.

The National Conference has approved and recommends to the several states for adoption the following laws:

1. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, approved August, 1896.

3. Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, approved August, 1906.
4. An Act Regulating Annulment of Marriage and Divorce, approved August, 1907.

10. Uniform Child Labor Law, approved August, 1911.
11. An Act on the Subject of Marriages in Another State or Country in Evasion or Violation of the Laws of the State or Domicile, approved August, 1912.
12. An Act to Make Uniform the Law of Acknowledgments to Deeds or other Instruments Taken Outside the United States, approved October, 1914.

V. UNIFORM LAWS ADOPTED IN ILLINOIS.

Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, 1907.
Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, 1907.
Uniform Bills of Lading Act, 1911.
Uniform Sales Act, 1915.
Uniform Marriage Law Evasion Act, 1915.

Uniform Limited Partnership Act, 1917.
Uniform Stock Transfer Act, 1917.
Uniform Cold Storage Act, 1917.
Uniform Act for Extradition of Persons of Unsound Mind, 1917.

VI. RECOMMENDATIONS.

The Commission recommends for enactment by the General Assembly, the following:

- (1) The Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Law.
- (2) The Uniform Conditional Sales Law.
- (3) The Uniform Vital Statistics Law.
- (4) The Uniform Occupational Diseases Law.
- (5) The Uniform Depositions Law.
- (6) The Uniform Proof of Statutes Law.

(7) The Uniform Foreign Acknowledgment Law.

(8) The Uniform Foreign Probate Law.

As regards the Uniform Family Desertion Act, the Uniform Workmen's Compensation Act, the Uniform Land Registration Act, and the Uniform Flag Law, they are substantially the law in Illinois at the present time.

The Commission understands that there is a movement for consolidating the Child Labor Laws of the State, and it recommends that if the work is undertaken those charged with the preparation of the Bill be requested to observe as far as possible the provisions of the Uniform Child Labor Law, approved by the National Conference.

VII. STATUS OF FINANCES.

The last General Assembly appropriated for the expenses of the Commission, for

Salary and wages.....	$200.00 per annum
Office expenses	200.00 per annum
Traveling expenses	750.00 per annum
The available balance in each of those accounts is:
Salary and wages	$218.00
Office expenses	75.00
Traveling expenses	640.00

VIII. APPROPRIATIONS.

During the last four years the appropriations for the Commission have totalled $2,300.00 for each biennium, divided as follows: For salary and wages, $400,000; for office expenses, $400,000; for traveling expenses, $1,500.00. In the appropriation made for the Printing Department, an item of $400.00 for the biennium is included for this Commission, of which there is still available some $300.00.

The budget request filed by the Commission asks for the same appropriation for the coming biennium, but notice is given that it may be found desirable to ask for some modification of some of the items, depending upon the place determined upon for holding the National Conference. Should the Conference be held on the Atlantic or Pacific Coast, an increased appropriation for traveling expenses would be necessary.

Copies of the texts of the Uniform Laws, approved in 1920, are hereto attached.

The Committee begs to suggest that this report be printed and transmitted to the General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST FREUND, President,
JOSEPH J. THOMPSON, Secretary.

Dated, Chicago, January 15, 1921.

A BILL

For an Act to amend Section 10 of an Act entitled "An Act in regard to evidence and depositions in civil cases," approved March 29, 1872.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: That Section 10 of an Act entitled "An Act in regard to evidence and depositions in civil cases", approved March 29, 1872, be amended to read as follows:

SECTION 10. Printed books or pamphlets purporting on their face to be the session or other statutes of the United States or of this state or of any of the United States or the territories thereof, or of any foreign jurisdiction, and to have been printed and published by the authority of the United States or of any such state, territory, or foreign jurisdiction or proved to be commonly recognized in its courts, shall be received in the courts of this state as prima facie evidence of such statutes.

UNIFORM OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES ACT.

NOTE.—This Uniform Act is prepared in such shape that it may be enacted in the different States as an addition to existing statutes relating to workmen's compensation, subject to any changes made necessary by constitutional or statutory requirements.

A BILL

For an Act Concerning Occupational Diseases and to Make Uniform the Law with Reference Thereto

[Be it enacted]

SECTION 1. [Right to Compensation.] If an employee is disabled or dies, and his disability or death is caused by disease arising out of and in the course of his employment, or is caused by the aggravation of a pre-existing disease, which aggravation arises out of and in the course of his employment, and if such disease is included in the schedule of diseases shown in section two of this act, he or his dependents shall, except as hereinafter stated, be entitled to compensation to be determined and awarded to the same extent and in the same manner as though such disability or death resulted from a personal injury or accident compensable under the statute.

SECTION 2. [Schedule of Occupational Diseases.]

1—Anthrax.

2—Lead poisoning, etc.

3—Phosphorus poisoning, etc.

NOTE.—The foregoing list is intended to be merely suggestive. Each state should include in said schedule such occupational diseases as it may deem proper, having regard to local conditions.

SECTION 3. [Disability and Incapacity Defined.] In this act disability and incapacity are synonymous, and mean the state of being disabled or incapacitated from earning full wages.

SECTION 4. [Time Limit.] Neither the employee nor his dependents shall be entitled to compensation for disability or death resulting from a disease covered by this act unless the disease or the aggravation of the disease is due to the nature of his employment, whether under one or more employers, within one year previous to the disability or death.

SECTION 5. [False Representation.] If an employee at the time of his employment wilfully and falsely represents in writing that he has not previously suffered from the disease which subsequently is the cause of his disability or death, no compensation shall be payable.

SECTION 6. [Liability of Several Employers.] If the disease, which is the cause of the disability or death, was contracted or aggravated while the employee was with several employers during the one year prior to the date of disability or death, each of said employers shall be liable to the employee for a share of the compensation, fixed with reference to the respective lengths of the several employments, the relative risk or exposure in each, the earnings of the employee in each, and such other matters as may be relevant and material.

Each employer shall be liable only for disability which is the result of risk or exposure while the employee was in his employ.

SECTION 7. [Joinder of Other Employers.] Any party to a proceeding to recover compensation for disability or death caused by a disease covered by this act may join any employer claimed to be liable in whole or in part, and may file a claim that such other employer be liable in whole or in part. Such claim shall be filed at least ten days before the date set for hearing, unless by leave duly granted.

SECTION 8. [Information. Penalty.] If so requested in writing by any employer, the employee or his dependents shall furnish such information as he or they may possess as to the names and addresses of all his other employers during the said one year, and if such information is not furnished when so requested, then the employer so requesting shall not be liable to pay compensation until such request is complied with; but a misstatement in the information furnished as aforesaid shall not impair the employee's rights or those of his dependents except so far as such employer is prejudiced thereby.

SECTION 9. [Notice to Employers.] Any one who seeks compensation under this act as soon as practicable give notice of disability or death and of his claim for compensation to the employer or employers claimed by him to be liable to pay compensation on account of disability or death, but any failure to give notice as aforesaid shall not impair the employee's rights or those of his dependents except so far as the employer is prejudiced thereby.

SECTION 10. [Notice to Other Employers.] Whenever any employer receives a notice and claim, or either, from an employee or his dependents he shall, as soon as reasonably may be, send a copy of such notice and claim, or either, to all other employers during said one year known to him.

SECTION 11. [Act Not Retroactive.] The results of risks or exposure before this act takes effect shall be excluded in awarding compensation hereunder.

SECTION 12. [Uniformity of Interpretation.] This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

SECTION 13. [Short Title.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Occupational Disease Act.

SECTION 14. [Prior Statutes. Repeal.] [All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.]

SECTION 15. [Time of Taking Effect.] [This act shall take effect on the first day of

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

When the Uniform Workmen's Compensation Act was being drafted, it was well understood by the committee having the matter in charge that there was no valid distinction between disability resulting from accident and disability caused by an occupational disease, but it then seemed wise not to include occupational diseases in the Uniform Workmen's Compensation Act.

Disability caused by occupational diseases was covered by the English law as early as 1906.

The Uniform Occupational Diseases Act has been adopted by the Conference, after a careful consideration of the English Workmen's Compensation Act and the Workmen's Compensation Acts of the Canadian Provinces and those of Massachusetts, California, Connecticut and the other states.

The Conference devoted upwards of five years to the consideration of the matter of occupational diseases before it finally adopted the Act which is now recommended to the several states for enactment.

Provisions for compensation for disability resulting from occupational disease usually are embodied in and form a part of the statutes relating to workmen's compensation. As stated in the prefatory note, this Uniform Act is prepared in such shape that it may, with slight changes, be embodied in existing statutes relating to workmen's compensation.

UNIFORM FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES ACT.

A BILL

For an Act Concerning Fraudulent Conveyances and to Make Uniform the Law Relating Thereto.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc. [Definition of Terms.] In this act "Assets" of a debtor means property not exempt from liability for his debts. To the extent that any property is liable for any debts of the debtor, such property shall be included in his assets.

"Conveyance" includes every payment of money assignment, release, transfer, lease, mortgage or pledge of tangible or intangible property, and also the creation of any lien or incumbrance.

"Creditor" is a person having any claim, whether matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, absolute, fixed or contingent.

"Debt" includes any legal liability, whether matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, absolute, fixed or contingent.

A person who has been injured by another, although he has not made any claim for damages, would be a creditor. Crossley vs. Elworthy, L. R. 12 Eq. 158.

SECTION 2. [Insolvency.] (1) A person is insolvent when the present fair salable value of his assets is less than the amount that will be required to pay his probable liability on his existing debts as they become absolute and matured.

This interpretation of insolvency, taken in connection with Section 4, [Conveyances by Insolvent] in effect declares that a person, although he is indebted at the time, may give away a part of his property, if in so doing he has no actual intent to defraud present or future creditors (Section 7), provided he has sufficient property left to pay his creditors. This is in accord with the present law in the great majority of states. Glenn, on Creditors' Rights and Remedies, pp. 96, 98. Chancellor Kent in Reade vs. Livingston, 3 Johns, Ch. 481, held that if the donor at the time of making the gift is indebted, there is an "irrebuttable presumption" that he intended to defraud his creditors. This decision although no longer in New York (Con. Laws, Vol. 4, Per. Prop. Law, Sec. 37, Real Prop. Law, Sec. 265), has been followed in Ala., Ky., Mich., N. J., S. C. and Va.

(2) In determining whether a partnership is insolvent there shall be added to the partnership property the present fair salable value of the separate assets of each general partner in excess of the amount probably sufficient to meet the claims of his separate creditors, and also the amount of any unpaid subscription to the partnership of each limited partner, provided the present fair salable value of the assets of such limited partner is probably sufficient to pay his debts, including such unpaid subscription.

SECTION 3. [Fair Consideration.] Fair consideration is given for property, or obligation,

(a) When in exchange for such property, or obligation, as a fair equivalent therefor, and in good faith, property is conveyed or an antecedent debt is satisfied, or

(b) When such property, or obligation, is received in good faith to secure a present advance or antecedent debt in amount not disproportionately small as compared with the value of the property, or obligation obtained.

The cases relating to the subject of this section usually deal with the amount of the consideration as indicating whether there is a fraudulent intent on the part of the grantor or collusion on the part of the grantee. It is submitted that the real question in such cases is, the good faith of the grantee, and whether the consideration given by him is a reasonable equivalent for the property received.

SECTION 4. [Conveyances by Insolvent.] Every conveyance made and every obligation incurred by a person who is or will be thereby rendered insolvent is fraudulent as to creditors without regard to his actual intent if the conveyance is made or the obligation is incurred without a fair consideration.

This section does not change the practical result of recorded cases, except in a few jurisdictions in the matter indicated in the note to Section 2, supra.

In dealing with the subject of the section our courts have usually treated a voluntary conveyance by an insolvent as indicating an "irrebuttable presumption of fraudulent intent." As stated in the Explanatory Note, this awkward method of treating the subject arose from the wording of the 13th of Elizabeth. That statute renders void those conveyances only which are made with the "intent" to "hinder, delay, and defraud" creditors. To avoid a gift made by an insolvent where no actual intent to defraud existed, it was necessary to "presume as a matter of law" an intent to defraud.

SECTION 5. [Conveyances by Persons in Business.] Every conveyance made without fair consideration when the person making it is engaged or is about to engage in a business or transaction for which the property remaining in his hands after the conveyance is an unreasonably small capital, is fraudulent as to creditors and as to other persons who become creditors during the continuance of such business or transaction without regard to his actual intent.

A conveyance made with intent to be secure against the hazards of business would not be fraudulent under this section, unless the remaining property in his hands is an unreasonably small capital in view of the nature of the business or transaction. Winchester vs. Charter, 12 Allen, 606, 611, accord. On the other hand, actual intent to defraud is not necessary if the facts set forth in the section exist.

The section does not change the result of the recorded cases, although for the reasons stated in the Explanatory Note and in the note to Section 4, supra, the usual statement is that there must be an intent to defraud, and that this "intent" can be presumed from the nature of the business. See, for example, Hagerman vs. Buchanan, 45 N. J. Eq. 92.

SECTION 6. [Conveyances by a Person About to Incur Debts.] Every conveyance made and every obligation incurred without fair consideration when the person making the conveyance or entering into the obligation intends or believes that he will incur debts beyond his ability to pay as they mature, is fraudulent as to both present and future creditors.

SECTION 7. [Conveyance Made with Intent to Defraud.] Every conveyance made and every obligation incurred with actual intent, as distinguished from intent presumed in law, to hinder, delay, or defraud either present or future creditors, is fraudulent as to both present and future creditors.

The section is practically identical with the 13th of Elizabeth. As the other sections of this act deal with conveyances which are fraudulent as to creditors irrespective of intent, this section is expressly so drawn as to relate to conveyances with intent to defraud. In this manner the Act will do away with legal presumptions of fraud which have been a main cause of existing uncertainty and confusion. See Explanatory Note.

SECTION 8. [Conveyance of Partnership Property.] Every conveyance of partnership property and every partnership obligation incurred when the partnership is or will be thereby rendered insolvent, is fraudulent as to partnership creditors, if the conveyance is made or obligation is incurred,

(a) To a partner, whether with or without a promise by him to pay partnership debts, or

(b) To a person not a partner without fair consideration to the partnership as distinguished from consideration to the individual partners.

The existing case law on the subject of this section is in such confusion that it is impossible to state whether the section as drafted represents the weight of authority. See notes to Franklin Sugar Co. vs. Henderson, 86 Md. 452, 1897, in Pepper and Lewis's Cases on Associations, p. 761; also 28 Har. Law Rev., pp. 774, 5 and notes. The primary cause of the confusion is whether knowledge of insolvency is necessary.

See Section 2, supra, for statement of facts which must exist to make a partnership insolvent.

SECTION 9. [Rights of Creditors Whose Claims Have Matured.] (1) Where a conveyance or obligation is fraudulent as to a creditor, such creditor, when his claim has matured, may, as against any person except a purchaser for fair consideration without knowledge of the fraud at the time of the purchase, or one who has derived title immediately or mediately from such a purchaser.

(a) Have the conveyance set aside or obligation annulled to the extent necessary to satisfy his claim, or

(b) Disregard the conveyance and attach or levy execution upon the property conveyed.

In England, if a conveyance is fraudulent as to any creditor, it can be treated as void or set aside by any other creditor, even though the conveyance was not fraudulent as to him. Freeman vs. Pope, L. R. 5 Ch. App. 528; Ideal Bedding Co. vs. Holland, 76 L. J. Ch. Div. 441. There are American cases in support of this proposition.

The paragraph as drawn, however, expresses the dominant American rule, which is that only those creditors as to whom the conveyance is fraudulent, can proceed to set the conveyance aside.

(2) A purchaser who without actual fraudulent intent has given less than a fair consideration for the conveyance or obligation, may retain the property or obligation as security for repayment.

SECTION 10. [Rights of Creditors Whose Claims Have Not Matured.] Where a conveyance made or obligation incurred is fraudulent as to a creditor whose claim has not matured he may proceed in a court of competent jurisdiction against any person against whom he could have proceeded had his claim matured, and the court may,

(a) Restrain the defendant from disposing of his property,

(b) Appoint a receiver to take charge of the property,

(c) Set aside the conveyance or annul the obligation, or

(d) Make any order which the circumstances of the case may require.

SECTION 11. [Cases not Provided for in Act.] In any case not provided for in this Act the rules of law and equity including the law merchant, and in particular the rules relating to the law of principal and agent, and the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, mistake, bankruptcy or other invaliding cause shall govern.

SECTION 12. [Construction of Act.] This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

SECTION 13. [Name of Act.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act.

SECTION 14. [Inconsistent Legislation Repealed.] Sections are hereby repealed, and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Existing confusion in the law relating to conveyances in fraud of creditors make the adoption by the several states of an act which shall put an end to the confusions by concise and clear statements of legal principles pertaining to the subject a matter of practical importance.

The confusions and uncertainties of the existing law are due primarily to three things:

First, the absence of any well recognized, definite conception of insolvency.

Second, failure to make clear the persons legally injured by a given fraudulent conveyance.

Third, the attempt to make the Statute of Elizabeth cover all conveyances which wrong creditors, even though the actual intent to defraud does not exist.

The Statute of Elizabeth condemns conveyances as fraudulent only when made with the "intent" to "hinder, delay or defraud." There are many conveyances which wrong creditors where an intent to defraud on the part of the debtor does not in fact exist. In order to avoid these conveyances, the courts have called to their assistance presumptions of law as to intent, and in equity have pushed presumption of fraud as a fact to an unwarranted extent; with the result that, while in the main the decisions under the facts do justice, the reasoning supporting them leaves much to be desired.

In the Act as drafted all possibility of a presumption of law as to intent is avoided. Certain conveyances which the courts have in practice condemned, such as a gift by an insolvent, are declared fraudulent irrespective of intent. On the other hand, while all conveyances with intent to defraud creditors (see Section 7) are declared fraudulent, it is expressly stated that the intent must be "actual intent, as distinguished from intent presumed as a matter of law."

The Act as drafted makes few changes in the law of any state. In this subject, as in many others in our law, need for definite statutory statement does not arise so much from actual conflict between the law of different jurisdictions arising out of clear cut differences in judicial opinion, as from the confusion of thought manifested in judicial opinion, which renders the law in a great degree uncertain in all jurisdictions.

The chief benefit to be derived from the adoption of a uniform act on conveyances in fraud of creditors is that, if properly enforced, it will give a known certainty to the law which it does not now possess.

A statement of the process by which the act has been developed may be of interest. In 1915 the Conference directed its Committee on Commercial Law to prepare the draft of an act to make uniform the law relating to fraudulent conveyances. The Committee secured the services as draftsman of Wm. Draper Lewis, Professor of Law in the University of Pennsylvania, who in his work for the Committee acted for the New York Drafting Association. The first tentative draft was submitted by the Committee to the Conference in 1916, the second tentative draft in 1917, and the third in 1918, the Conference carefully going over, discussing and amending the act section by section at each session. The completed Act represents, therefore, most careful work.

UNIFORM CONDITIONAL SALES ACT.

A BILL

For an Act Concerning Conditional Sales and to Make Uniform the Law Relating Thereto.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc. [Definition of Terms.] In this Act "Conditional sale" means (1) any contract for the sale of goods under which possession is delivered to the buyer and the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer at a subsequent time upon the payment of part or all of the price, or upon the performance of any other condition or the happening of any contingency; or (2) any contract for the bailment or leasing of goods by which the bailee or lessee contracts to pay as compensation a sum substantially equivalent to the value of the goods, and by which it is agreed that the bailee or lessee is bound to become, or has the option of becoming the owner of such goods upon full compliance with the terms of the contract.

"Buyer" means the person who buys or hires the goods covered by the conditional sale, or any legal successor in interest of such person.

"Filing district" means the sub-division of the state in which conditional sale contracts, or copies thereof, are required by this act to be filed.

"Goods" means all chattels personal other than things in action and money, and includes emblements, industrial growing crops, and things attached to or forming a part of land which are agreed to be severed before sale or under the conditional sale.

"Performance of the condition" means the occurrence of the event upon which the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer, whether such event is the performance of an act by the buyer or the happening of a contingency.

"Person" includes an individual, partnership, corporation, and any other association.

"Purchase" includes mortgage and pledge.

"Purchaser" includes mortgagee and pledgee.

"Seller" means the person who sells or leases the goods covered by the conditional sale, or any legal successor in interest of such person.

SECTION 2. [Primary Rights of Buyer.] The buyer shall have the right when not in default to retain possession of the goods, and he shall also have the right to acquire the property in the goods on the performance of the conditions of the contract. The seller shall be liable to the buyer for the breach of all promises and warranties, express or implied, made in the conditional sale contract, whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer.

SECTION 3. [Primary Rights of Seller.] The buyer shall be liable to the seller for the purchase price, or for installments thereof, as the same shall become due, and for breach of all promises made by him in the conditional sale contract, whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer.

SECTION 4. [Conditional Sales Valid Except as Otherwise Provided.] Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller after possession of the goods is delivered to the buyer, shall be valid as to all persons, except as hereinafter otherwise provided.

SECTION 5. [Conditional Sales Void as to Certain Persons.] Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller, shall be void as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer, who, without notice of such provision, purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien upon them, before the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed as hereinafter provided, unless such contract or copy is so filed within ten days after the making of the conditional sale.

SECTION 6. [Place of Filing.] The conditional sale contract or copy shall be filed in the office in [the city,] [county,] [registration district,] in which the goods are first kept for use by the buyer after the sale. It shall not be necessary to the validity of such conditional sale contract, or in order to entitle it to be filed, that it be acknowledged or attested. This section shall not apply to the contracts described in Section 8.

SECTION 7. [Fixtures.] If the goods are so affixed to realty, at the time of conditional sale or subsequently as to become a part thereof and not to be severable wholly or in any portion without material injury to the freehold, the reservation of property as to any portion not so severable shall be void after the goods are so affixed, as against any person who has not expressly assented to the reservation. If the goods are so affixed to realty at the time of a conditional sale or subsequently as to become part thereof but to be severable without material injury to the freehold, the reservation of property shall be void after the goods are so affixed as against subsequent purchasers of the realty for value and without notice of the conditional seller's title, unless the conditional sale contract, or a copy thereof, together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are or are to be affixed thereto, shall be filed before such purchase in the office where a deed of the realty would be recorded or registered to affect such realty. As against the owner of realty the reservation of the property in goods by a conditional seller shall be void when such goods are to be so affixed to the realty as to become part thereof but to the severable without material injury to the freehold, unless the conditional sale contract, or a copy thereof, together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are to be affixed thereto, shall be filed before they are affixed, in the office where a deed would be recorded or registered to affect such realty.

SECTION 8. [Railroad Equipment or Rolling Stock.] No conditional sale of railroad, or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock shall be valid as against the purchasers and creditors described in Section 5, unless the contract shall be acknowledged by the buyer or attested in like manner as a deed of real property, and the contract, or a copy thereof, shall be filed or recorded in the office of _____; and unless when any engine or car so sold is delivered there shall then be plainly and conspicuously marked upon each side thereof the name of the seller, followed by the word "owner."

SECTION 9. [Conditional Sale of Goods for Resale.] When goods are delivered under a conditional sale contract and the seller expressly or impliedly consents that the buyer may resell them prior to performance of the condition, the reservation of property shall be void against purchasers from the buyer for value in the ordinary course of business, and as to them the buyer shall be deemed the owner of the goods, even though the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed according to the provisions of this act.

SECTION 10. [Filing.] The filing officer shall mark upon the contract or copy filed with him the day and hour of filing and shall file the contract or copy in his office for public inspection. He shall keep a separate book in which he shall enter the names of the seller and buyer, the date of the contract, the day and hour of filing, a brief description of goods, the price named in the contract and the date of cancellation thereof; except that in entering the contracts mentioned in Section 8 the shall record either the sum remaining to be paid upon the contract or the price of the goods. Such book shall be indexed under the names of both seller and buyer. For filing and entering such contract or copy the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of [ten cents], except that for filing and entering a contract described in Section 8 the shall be entitled to a fee of [one dollar].

SECTION 11. [Refiling.] The filing of conditional sale contracts provided for in Sections 5, 6 and 7 shall be valid for a period of three years only. The filing of the contract provided for by Section 8 shall be valid for a period of fifteen years only. The validity of the filing may in each case be extended for successive additional periods of one year from the date of refiling by filing in the proper filing district a copy of the original contract within thirty days next preceding the expiration of each period, with a statement attached signed by the seller, showing that the contract is in force and the amount remaining to be paid thereon. Such copy, with statement attached, shall be filed and entered in the same manner as a contract or copy filed and entered for the first time, and the filing officer shall be entitled to a like fee as upon the original filing.

SECTION 12. [Cancellation of Contract.] After the performance of the condition, upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer or any other person having an interest in the goods, the seller shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to the demandant a statement that the condition in the contract has been performed. If for ten days after such demand the seller fails to mail or deliver such a statement of satisfaction, he shall forfeit to the demandant five dollars [$5.00] and be liable for all damages suffered. Upon presentation of such statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall file the same and note the cancellation of the contract and the date thereof on the margin of the page where the contract has been entered. For filing and entering the statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of [ten cents], except that the shall be entitled to a fee of [fifty cents] for filing and entering a statement of the satisfaction of a contract described in Section 8.

SECTION 13. [Prohibition of Removal or Sale Without Notice.] Unless the contract otherwise provides, the buyer may, without the consent of the seller, remove the goods from any filing district and sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them; but prior to the performance of the condition, no such buyer shall remove the goods from a filing district in which the contract or a copy thereof is filed, except for temporary uses for a period of not more than thirty days, unless the buyer not less than ten days before such removal shall give the seller personally or by registered mail written notice of the place to which the goods are to be removed and the approximate time of such intended removal; not prior to the performance of the condition shall the buyer sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in the goods, unless he, or the person to whom he is about to sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of the same, shall notify the seller in writing personally or by registered mail of the name and address of the person to whom his interest in the goods is about to be sold, mortgaged or otherwise transferred, not less than ten days before such sale, mortgage or other disposal. If any buyer does so remove the goods, or does so sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them without such notice or in violation of the contract, the seller may retake possession of the goods and deal with them as in case of default in payment of part or all of the purchase price. The provisions of this section regarding the removal of goods shall not apply, however, to the goods as described in Section 8.

SECTION 14. [Refiling or Removal.] When, prior to the performance of the condition, the goods are removed by the buyer from a filing district in this state to another filing district in this state in which such contract or a copy thereof is not filed, or are removed from another state into a filing district in this state where such contract or copy is not filed, the reservation of the property in the seller shall be void as to the purchasers and creditors described in Section 5, unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof shall be filed in the filing district to which the goods are removed, within ten days after the seller has received notice of the filing district to which the goods have been removed. The provisions of this section shall not apply, however, to the goods described in Section 8. The provisions of Section 11 regarding the duration of the validity of the filing and the necessity for refileing shall apply to contracts or copies which are filed in a filing district other than that where the goods are originally kept for use by the buyer after the sale.

SECTION 15. [Fraudulent Injury, Concealment, Removal or Sale.] When, prior to the performance of the condition, the buyer maliciously or with intent to defraud, shall injure, destroy or conceal the goods, or remove them to a filing district where the contract or a copy thereof is not filed, without having given the notice required by Section 13, or shall sell, mortgage, or otherwise dispose of such goods under claim of full ownership, he shall be guilty of a crime and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned [in the county jail] for not more than [one year] or be fined not more than [$500] or both.

SECTION 16. [Retaking Possession.] When the buyer shall be in default in the payment of any sum due under the contract, or in the performance of any other condition which the contract requires him to perform in order to obtain the property in the goods, or in the performance of any promise the breach of which is by the contract expressly made a ground for the retaking of the goods, the seller may retake possession thereof. Unless the goods can be retaken without breach of the peace, they shall be retaken by legal process; but nothing herein shall be construed to authorize a violation of the criminal law.

SECTION 17. [Notice of Intention to Retake.] Not more than forty nor less than twenty days prior to the retaking, the seller, if he so desires, may serve upon the buyer personally or by registered mail a notice of intention to retake the goods on account of the buyer's default. The notice shall state the default and the period at the end of which the goods will be retaken, and shall briefly and clearly state what the buyer's rights under this act will be in the case they are retaken. If the notice is so served and the buyer does not perform the obligations in which he has made default before the day set for retaking, the seller may retake the goods and hold them subject to the provisions of sections 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23 regarding resale, but without any right of redemption.

SECTION 18. [Redemption.] If the seller does not give the notice of intention to retake described in Section 17, he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking within the state in which they were located when retaken, during which period the buyer, upon payment or tender of the amount due under the contract at the time of retaking and interest, or upon performance or tender of performance of such other condition as may be named in the contract as precedent to the passage of the property in the goods, or upon performance or tender of performance of any other promise for the breach of which the goods were retaken, and upon payment of the expenses of retaking, keeping and storage, may redeem the goods and become entitled to take possession of them and to continue in the performance of the contract as if no default had occurred. Upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer, the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of the sum due under the contract and the expense of retaking, keeping and storage. For failure to furnish such statement within a reasonable time after demand, the seller shall forfeit to the buyer [$10] and also be liable to him for all damages suffered because of such failure. If the goods are perishable so that retention for ten days as herein prescribed would result in their destruction or substantial injury, the provisions of this section shall not apply, and the seller may resell the goods immediately upon their retaking. The provision of this section requiring the retention of the goods within the state during the period allowed for redemption shall not apply to the goods described in Section 8.

SECTION 19. [Compulsory Resale by Seller.] If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession, and the buyer has paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase price at the time of the retaking, the seller shall sell them at public auction in the state where they were at the time of the retaking, such sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking. The seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale, either personally or by registered mail, directed to the buyer at his last known place of business or residence. The seller shall also give notice of the sale by at least three notices posted in different public places within the filing district where the goods are to be sold, at least five days before the sale. If at the time of the retaking $500 or more has been paid on the purchase price, the seller shall also give notice of the sale at least five days before the sale by publication in a newspaper published or having a general circulation within the filing district where the goods are to be sold. The seller may bid for the goods at the resale. If the goods are of the kind described in Section 8, the parties may fix in the conditional sale contract the place where the goods shall be resold.

SECTION 20. [Resale at Option of Parties.] If the buyer has not paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase price at the time of the retaking, the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods as prescribed in Section 19, unless the buyer serves upon the seller, within ten days after the retaking, a written notice demanding a resale, delivered personally or by registered mail. If such notice is served, the resale shall take place within thirty days after the service, in the manner, at the place and upon the notice prescribed in Section 19. The seller may voluntarily resell the goods for account of the buyer on compliance with the same requirements.

SECTION 21. [Proceeds of Resale.] The proceeds of the resale shall be applied (1) to the payment of the expenses thereof, (2) to the payment of the expenses of retaking, keeping and storing the goods, (3) to the satisfaction of the balance due under the contract. Any sum remaining after the satisfaction of such claims shall be paid to the buyer.

SECTION 22. [Deficiency on Resale.] If the proceeds of the resale are not sufficient to defray the expenses thereof, and also the expenses of retaking, keeping and storing the goods and the balance due upon the purchase price, the seller may recover the deficiency from the buyer, or from anyone who has succeeded to the obligations of the buyer.

SECTION 23. [Rights of Parties Where There is no Resale.] Where there is no resale, the seller may retain the goods as his own property without obligation to account to the buyer except as provided in Section 25, and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligation.

SECTION 24. [Election of Remedies.] After the retaking of possession as provided in Section 16 the buyer shall be liable for the price only after a resale and only to the extent provided in Section 22. Neither the bringing of an action by the seller for the recovery of the whole or any part of the price, nor the recovery of judgment in such action, nor the collection of a portion of the price, shall be deemed inconsistent with a later retaking of the goods as provided in Section 16. But such right of retaking shall not be exercised by the seller after he has collected the entire price, or after he has claimed a lien upon the goods, or attached them, or levied upon them as the goods of the buyer.

SECTION 25. [Recovery of Part Payments.] If the seller fails to comply with the provisions of Sections 18, 19, 20, 21 and 23 after retaking the goods, the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages, if any, and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the contract, with interest.

SECTION 26. [Waiver of Statutory Protection.] No act or agreement of the buyer or at the time of the making of the contract, nor any agreement or statement by the buyer in such contract, shall constitute a valid waiver of the provisions of Section 18, 19, 20, 21 or 25; except that the contract may stipulate that on such default of the buyer as is provided for in Section 16, the seller may rescind the conditional sale, either as to all the goods or as to any part thereof for which a specific price was fixed in the contract. If the contract thus provides for rescission, the seller at his option may retake such goods without complying with or being bound by the provisions of Sections 17 to 25 inclusive, as to the goods retaken, upon crediting the buyer with the full purchase price of those goods. So much of this credit is necessary to cancel any indebtedness of the buyer to the seller shall be so applied, and the seller shall repay to the buyer on demand any surplus not so required.

Note—This section was amended at the 1920 Conference by adding the words beginning with "except that the" and continuing to "not required."

SECTION 27. [Loss and Increase.] After the delivery of the goods to the buyer and prior to the retaking of them by the seller, the risk of injury and loss shall rest upon the buyer. The increase of the goods shall be subject to the same conditions as the original goods.

SECTION 28. [Act Prospective Only.] This act shall not apply to conditional sales made prior to the time when it takes effect.

SECTION 29. [Rules for Cases not Provided for.] In any case not provided for in this act the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, and in particular those relating to principal and agent and to the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, mistake, bankruptcy, or other invalidating cause, shall continue to apply to conditional sales.

SECTION 30. [Uniformity of Interpretation.] This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

SECTION 31. [Short Title.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Conditional Sales Act.

SECTION 32. [Inconsistent Laws Repealed.] Except so far as they are applicable to conditional sales made prior to the time when this act takes effect, the following acts shall be and hereby are repealed. [Here repeal all existing acts in the field of conditional sales.]

SECTION 33. [Time of Taking Effect.] This act shall take effect

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The unsatisfactory nature of the law governing conditional sales of chattel property has often been the subject of comment. The fact that the buyer is immediately intrusted with possession of the property and the power to use it as if it were his own, offers easy opportunity for defrauding both the buyer's creditors and subpurchasers from him. An attempt has been made in most of the United States, but by no means in all of them, to guard against this difficulty by enacting statutes which make record or filing of the conditional sale contract a condition of its validity against innocent third persons. These statutes, however, are by no means uniform in their requirements, and subject a conditional seller of goods who sells goods all over the country (and there are many manufacturers who dispose of their products in this way) to great inconvenience in discovering and complying with the different statutory regulations. Moreover, the law governing the subject has further defects. Most courts have failed to recognize fully that a conditional sale is in its essence similar to a chattel mortgage; the seller's title being retained merely for the purpose of security, and the buyer acquiring from the outset not merely an executory contractual right, but a property interest in the goods. The result has been a great conflict of authority in regard to the rights of the parties. These circumstances in connection with the magnitude of the business carried on by means of conditional sales (the annual inter-state business alone being estimated at nearly half a billion of dollars) make the subject a most important one for regulation by a uniform statute in the several states. Moved by these considerations, the Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its meeting at Salt Lake City in August, 1915, directed its Committee on Commercial Law to prepare an Act to make uniform the law on the subject and to employ a draftsman for that purpose. In accordance with these directions the Committee employed Professor George G. Bogert of Cornell University to draft such a law. A first tentative draft was prepared by him, and, after criticism and consideration by the Committee on Commercial Law, was submitted to the Conference at its meeting in August, 1916, at Chicago, when it was examined and discussed with the assistance of the draftsman, section by section, and a number of amendments were tentatively adopted. Soon thereafter, in accordance with instructions given by the Conference, the draftsman presented a second tentative draft to the Committee on Commercial Law, which was carefully considered and discussed by the Committee and with the changes made after this discussion was presented to the Conference at its meeting in August, 1917, at Saratoga. The revised draft was again carefully discussed section by section with the aid of the draftsman, and with further amendments was again submitted to the Committee. A new tentative draft was prepared and was once more considered by the Committee. With the light gained by further discussion and conferences with lawyers and mercantile men whose business gave them expert knowledge of the subject, further amendments were made and a third tentative draft submitted to the Conference at its meeting in Cleveland, August, 1918. There the draft was, for the third time, carefully examined and discussed section by section by the Conference, and, with amendments then made, was finally adopted and recommended for passage.

ANNOTATIONS.

NOTE TO SECTION 1.

It seems desirable to include sales where title is to pass on part payment since the opportunity for deception of the public exists in such cases, though for a shorter period than when title is retained till full payment. The statutes of Montana, New Brunswick, and Ontario expressly include such contracts. Occasional cases of such reservation of title are to be found. Powell vs. Clawson, 38 Pa. Super. Ct. 245.

The statutes of Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming define as conditional sales contracts which provide for the passing of the property to the buyer upon the performance of any condition, not merely upon the payment of the price. In such cases possession and apparent ownership are rendered deceptive by a reservation of title, and the danger to the public is as great as if the condition had been payment of the price. Instances of reservations of this kind are not uncommon. Forbes vs. Taylor, 139 Ala. 286 (third party to pay the price); Van Allen vs. Francis, 123 Cal. 474 (execution of mortgage); Tarr vs. Stearman, 264 Ill. 110 (rendition of services); Bailey vs. Dennis, 135 Mo. App. 93 (execution of note); Clark vs. Clement, 75 Vt. 417 (doing of work).

It is well known that some sellers attempt to evade the conditional sale recording act by calling the contract a "lease" or "hiring agreement" and providing for the payment of "rent." Wherever these "leases" are substantially equivalent to conditional sales, they should be subject to the same restriction. This equivalency seems to exist when the buyer is bound to pay rent substantially equal to the value of the goods and has the option of becoming or is to become the owner of the goods after all the rent is paid. In such a contract "rent" means the purchase price, and possession as "lessee" means the possession of a buyer under an executory contract of sale. That the buyer, in some cases, has the option of becoming the owner and thus a sale is not sure to take place, is of but small importance, for, as a practical matter, the buyer will always be willing to accept ownership when he has paid the value. The instances of a buyer declining to become the owner of goods where he has paid "rent" equivalent to the value of the goods, and electing to return the goods and allow these payments to be considered as actual rent, must be exceedingly infrequent.

The statutes of Alabama, Iowa, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, Washington, Wyoming, and Ontario class as conditional sales, leases substantially like those described in section one. In many cases where the "lessee" has absolutely agreed to buy the goods at the rent named the contract has been held one of conditional sale. Warren vs. Liddell, 110 Ala. 232; Lundy Furniture Co. vs. White, 128 Cal. 170; Coors vs. Reagan, 96 Pac. (Colo.) 966; Hine vs. Roberts, 48 Conn. 267; Staunton vs. Smith, 65 Atl. (Del.) 593; Hays vs. Jordan, 85 Ga. 751; Lucas vs. Campbell, 88 Ill. 447; Singer Sewing Machine Co. vs. Holcomb, 40 Iowa 33; Campbell vs. Atherton, 92 Me. 66; Smith vs. Aldrich, 180 Mass. 367; Wickes Bros. vs. Hill, 115 Mich. 333; Gerrish vs. Clark, 64 N. H. 492; Equitable Gen. Prov. Co. vs. Eisentrager, 34 Misc (N. Y.) 179; Kelly Road Roller Co. vs. Spyker, 215 Pa. 332; Carpenter vs. Scott, 13 R. I. 477; Pringle vs. Canfield, 19 S. "Leases" have likewise been construed to be conditional sale contracts in numerous cases where the buyer had merely an option to become the owner in return for the rentals paid. Unmack vs. Douglass, 75 Conn. 633; Vette vs. J. S. Merrill Drug Co., 117 S. W. (Mo.) 666; Lanter vs. Isenrath, 72 Atl. (N. J.) 56; Central Union Gas Co. vs. Browning, 210 N. Y. 10; Weiss vs. Leichter, 113 N. Y. Co. vs. Nash*, 70 Vt. 434.

NOTE TO SECTION 2.

The special right of a buyer under a conditional sale where he is not in default is to retain possession even though the price is not yet paid, and to acquire title, and not merely a right of action for breach of contract, by satisfying the condition.

The remedies which are common to all buyers of goods, whether the contract be conditional or unconditional, are left to the Uniform Sales Act or to the prevailing common law. The courts have found some difficulty in fixing the rights of the parties where a warranty has been made in a conditional sale contract. Rogers & Thornton vs. Otto Gas engine Works, 7 Ga. App. 587; W. W. Kimball Co. vs. Massey, 126 Minn. 461; Peuser vs. Marsh, 167 App. Div. (N. Y.) 604; Cooper vs. Payne, 186 N. Y. 334; Blair vs. A. Johnson & Sons, 111 Tenn., 111. If the seller's promise with respect to the goods has been broken, it is submitted that the buyer ought to be allowed to recover damages suffered by that breach, whether the buyer has become the owner of the goods or not.

NOTE TO SECTION 3.

This section is elementary, but is inserted for the sake of a complete enumeration of the rights of the seller against the buyer. The seller's only remedies are an action for the price or the retaking of the goods or both. Of course, no attempt is made to state the rights of the seller against third persons, as, for example, the right to maintain trover or replevin. Such rights are the same as those of any other owner of personal property.

NOTE TO SECTION 4.

This states the general rule of the common law. It is accepted by the statute, except so far as the requirements of filing, etc., qualify it.

NOTE TO SECTION 5.

Statutes requiring the recording or filing of conditional sale contracts now exist in 29 states, namely: Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. In four other states recording statutes partially covering the filing of conditional sales have been passed, namely, in Massachusetts, Michigan, Oregon, and Pennsylvania. In Kentucky these contracts are treated as chattel mortgages and required to be recorded as such. To prevent injury to innocent persons who may rely on the buyer's apparent ownership, it seems desirable to insert this filing requirement in the uniform act. The burden on the seller is slight, and the benefit to the public is great.

The question of difficulty is, in whose favor shall this filing statute operate? Against what persons shall the reservation of title be void in the absence of recording?

As far as subsequent purchasers from the buyer are concerned the statutes are practically unanimous in protecting them. Under the definition of purchaser in section 1 mortgagees and pledges are included.

The statutes of Alabama, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, New Brunswick, Ontario, and Saskatchewan expressly require that the purchasers to be protected shall have paid "value." This element of value is necessarily implied in the word "purchaser." There is no equity in protecting donees of the buyer by the recording section. In view of the great variety of definitions of "value," it is deemed wise to leave that question to be determined by the pre-existing local law and not to attempt to make uniform the law by a definition in this act.

It is well established that only purchasers without notice of the conditional nature of the buyer's interest should be protected. Express provisions to that effect are found in the statutes of Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, New Brunswick, Ontario, and Saskatchewan. See also Anderson vs. Adams, 117 Ga. 919; First Nat. Bk. vs. Tufts, 53 Kans. 710; VanBuren vs. Stubbings, 149 Mich. 206; Barnes vs. Rawlings, 74 Mo. App. 531; Kelsey vs. Kendall, 48 Vt. 24; Perkins vs. Best, 94 Wis. 168.

As to creditors, in a few states, namely, Alabama, Georgia, North Dakota, South Carolina, and Washington, only creditors whose rights accrue subsequent to the conditional sale are protected, but in a great majority of the states the date of the extension of the credit is not important. See the statutes of the various states and Patton vs. Phoenix Brick Co., 150 S. W. (Mo.) 1116; Hamilton vs. David C. Biggs Co., 170 Fed. 949; (C. C. Ohio); Corbett vs. Riddle, 209 Fed. 811 (C. C. A. Va.); Huffard vs. Akers, 52 W. Va. 21. In New York creditors are not protected at all by the recording act.

Creditors have been classed in a second way by the courts, namely, as lien creditors and general creditors. In many states there are decisions to the effect that only those creditors who have by judgment, or levy of an execution, or by attachment, secured a lien on the particular goods which were the subject-matter of the conditional sale, are protected. The general creditors of the buyer are not within the protection of the recording act. John Deere Plow Co. vs. Anderson, 174 Fed. 815 (C. C. A. Ga.); In re Atlanta News Pub. Co., 160 Fed. 519 (D. C. La.); in re Hager, 166 Fed. 972 (D. C. Iowa); Big Four Implement Co. vs. Wright, 207 Fed. 535 (C. C. A. Kans.); Crucible Steel Co. vs. Holt, 174 Fed. 127 (C. C. A. Ky.); Wilson vs. Lewis, 63 Neb. 617; Reischmann vs. Masker, 69 N. J. L. 353; Mechanics Bank vs. Gullett Gin Co., 48 S. W. (Tex.) 627; Malmo vs. Shubert, 79 Wash. 534; E. L. Essley Mach. Co. vs. Milwaukee Motor Co., 160 Wis. 300. In several states the statutes expressly protect lien creditors only. This is true in Alabama, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, Vermont and Wyoming.

The statute as drafted protects both prior and subsequent creditors who have acquired a lien on the goods by levy or attachment. By such act they have in a certain sense become purchasers of the goods. They have required legal property rights in the goods, and, if they have done so innocently, they ought to be protected as against the conditional seller. Their equities are superior to his.

It is very generally held that creditors, in order to claim the protection of the statute, must have been without notice of the conditional nature of the buyer's rights at the time when their rights were fixed. See the statutes of Alabama, Arizona, Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Washington. See also Diamond Rubber Co. vs. Fourth Nat. Bk., So. (Ala.) 1911; Jones vs. Clark, 20 Colo. 358; Reisman vs. Wester, 72 S. E. (Ga.) 942; F. P. Gluck Co. vs. Therme, 134 N. W. (Iowa) 438; Dyer vs. Thorstad, 35 Minn. 534; Norton vs. Pilger, 30 Neb. 800; Batchelder vs. Sanborn, 66 N. H. 192; in re Vanderwater & Co., 219 Fed. 627 (D. C. N. J.); McPhail vs. Gerry, 55 Vt. 174; Secor vs. Close, 145 Pac. (Wash.) 56; Wolf Co. vs. Kutch, 147 Wis. 209.

In a majority of the states the contract or a copy may be filed. See the statutes of Arizona, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Saskatchewan. In Alabama, Iowa, and New Jersey the contract itself must be recorded. In Nebraska, New Hampshire, Virginia, Washington, and West Virginia only memorandum of the contract need be filed. To require that the original contract or a copy be filed seems best. Doubtless generally a copy will be filed. It seems useless to restrict the seller to either the original or a copy. The object is to make public the terms of the sale. The exact words of the contract will do that better than any abbreviation or memorandum.

Under the statute the contract is valid for ten days without filing. It was thought unwise to require the seller to file immediately. The seller's office may be far distant from the filing district. He should have a reasonable time to mail his papers and get them filed. A filing after ten days from the date of the making of the contract of course protects the seller against all subsequent purchasers or creditors who buy or levy on the goods.

NOTE TO SECTION 6.

The filing statutes now in force are of two classes with respect to the place of record required. One requires record in a local office, such as the town clerks' office; the other class makes the county the unit of record. Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York (with some exceptions), Vermont, and Wisconsin have the town recording system. The twenty-three other states having recording statutes require record in the county office where deeds are recorded and all important records with respect to real property are kept.

The county system has seemed the better, since the records in the county office will be kept in much more orderly fashion than in the town offices, and since the convenience of persons desiring to deal with the goods will be served quite as well by a record in the principal town or city of the county as if the record were located in some remote office in the county, but in view of the fact that communities become accustomed to a method long in use, and that a change would be difficult especially as chattel mortgages are not covered by this Act, the office of filing is left blank.

The next question to be decided is, which city or county shall be made the place of record? There are but two practical possibilities, namely, the place of the buyer's residence and the place where the goods are situated.

Connecticut, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin, New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, and Saskatchewan (15 states and 4 Canadian provinces) require record in the district of the buyer's residence.

Arizona, Montana, North Dakota, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wyoming (6 states) record in the county where the goods were at the time of sale.

Oklahoma and Kansas (2 states) record where the goods shall be kept after the sale.

In Alabama, Georgia and Michigan a double record is required, one in the district of the buyer's residence and one in the district where the goods were delivered. In Texas the record may be either in the county of the buyer's residence or in the county of delivery.

The desideratum is to have a record in the place where the goods are permanently kept. It is there that innocent purchasers and creditors will be misled by the apparent ownership of the buyer. Record in the place of the buyer's residence is of little importance, unless the goods are kept there. The district "in which the goods are first kept for use by the buyer" will be the district where the goods are first located with any degree of permanence. The seller may keep the goods for a time after the sale; the buyer may receive the goods at one place and immediately transmit them to another; the goods may be technically delivered to the buyer by handing the over to a carrier; but in none of these cases in the district of temporary location the district where a record should be made.

It is of particular importance that the rules governing the place of filing be uniform in the several states. Many sellers do business of making, conditional sales throughout the nation. For their sake a single simple rule everywhere is important; and the interest of other members of the public is the same.

NOTE TO SECTION 7.

In practically all American states a conditional seller who has reserved title to a chattel which is affixed by the vender to his real property has no rights against a subsequent purchaser or mortgagee of the real property who has no notice of the conditional sale of the chattel. Price vs. Case, 10 Conn. 375; J. S. Schofield Sons Co. vs. Woodward, 72 S. E. (Ga.) 509; Allis-Chalmers Co. vs. City of Atlantic, 144 N. W. (Iowa) 346; Rowand vs. Anderson, 33 Kans. 264; Jenks vs. Colwell, 66 Mich. 420; Hopewell Mills vs. Taunton Cav. Bk., 150 Mass. 519, 521; Tibbotts vs. Home, 65 N. H. 242; Brennan vs. Whitaker, 15 Ohio St. 446; Washburn vs. Inter-Mountain Mining Co., 109 Pac. (Ore.) 382; Union Bank vs. Wolf Co., 114 Tenn. 255, 4 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cases 1073; Devenport vs. Shants, 43 Vt. 546.

In four states comparatively recently statutes have been enacted declaring that the condition reserving title to fixtures shall be void as against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees of the real property who have no notice of the conditional sale, unless the conditional sale contract is recorded in the office where a deed of the land would be recorded. See the statutes of Massachusetts, New York, Oregon and Pennsylvania.

Section 7 above is modeled in the main after these statutes. If the property can be severed from the realty without material injury, it seems desirable to give the conditional seller a chance to protect himself against dealers with the real estate by the making of a record. If this record is in the same office where deeds of real property are recorded, the labor of searching for conditional sale contracts on the part of the prospective buyer or mortgagee of the land will be slight.

A distinction, however, is made between goods affixed to realty which have lost their identity and goods affixed to realty which can be readily severed. A separate sentence has also been inserted to cover the peculiar case of the sale of goods to a contractor to be affixed by him to the real property of another, in other words, the case of the validity of the conditional sale of a fixture as against the "owner" of the realty.

NOTE TO SECTION 8.

Statutes making special provision for the conditional sale of railroad and street railway rolling stock and equipment are now found in 46 states. They are strikingly similar.

Goods Covered by the States. The phrase most commonly used to describe the goods covered by these statutes is "railroad and street railway equipment and rolling stock." In a few states interurban equipment and rolling stock are specifically mentioned, and there seems to be no reason why they should not be included. In some states only railroad equipment and rolling stock are mentioned. The slight variations of wording are so numerous that they cannot be detailed here. The words used in Section 8 are supported by a majority of the statutes.

Acknowledgment Required. Acknowledgment is required in 40 of the 46 states having these railroad statutes. It seems desirable to give some formality to the contract, in view of the large amounts of money generally involved and the fact that record is required in a state office.

Persons Protected. The existing statutes in most instances make the reservation of title void as against judgment creditors and purchasers in good faith. It seems desirable to give the protection of the statute, in case of failure to record, to the same persons named in the general filing statute herein, Section 5.

Place of Record. In 28 of the states the place of record is made the office of the Secretary of State and in four others record is required in the office and also in a county office. In view of the statewide nature of the business often involved and the importance of the contracts, state registration is justifiable.

Marking of Engines and Cars. In all but four of the 46 states the engines and cars are required to be marked with the name of the seller and a statement indicating his ownership. This provision is continued in Section 8 above.

Duration of Conditional Sale Contracts of Railroad Equipment. In 12 states the time during which these contracts can run is limited. In Arizona, Delaware, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin the limit is 10 years; in Mississippi and Tennessee 15 years; in Maryland 20 years, and in Colorado and Kentucky 25 years. A provision requiring the refiling of these contracts at the end of fifteen years has been inserted in Section 11.

NOTE TO SECTION 9.

This section attempts to state a rule of law quite widely recognized. Bass vs. International Harv. Co. 53 So. (Ala.) 1014; Flint Wagon Works vs. Malone, 81 Atl. (Del.) 502; Clarke Bros. vs. McNatt, 132 Ga. 610; Trousdale vs. Winona Wagon Co. 25 Idaho 131; Barbour vs. Perry, 41 Ill. App. 613; Winchester Wagon Works vs. Carman, 109 Ind. 31; Rogers vs. Whitehouse, 71 Me. 722; Spooner vs. Cummings, 151 Mass. 313; Pratt vs. Burhans, 84 Mich. 487; Columbus Buggy Co. vs. Turkey, 73 Miss. 529; Baker vs. Tolles, 68 N. H. 73; Fitzgerald vs. Fuller, 19 Hun 180; Star Mfg. Co. vs. Nordeman, 118 Tenn. 384; Oconto Land Co. vs. Wallschlaeger, 155 Wis. 418. Where the same seller attempts to reserve the property in himself and at the same time to allow a resale by a retailer in the ordinary course of business, he is doing two inconsistent things. A purchaser from a retailer in the ordinary course of business ought not to be obliged to examine the records to learn whether retailer has title or whether title has been reserved under a conditional sale contract. That the goods have been put into the retailer's stock with the consent of the wholesaler is conclusive evidence that they are there for sale and that the retailer has title or the right to convey.

The mere constructive notice of the record of the contract ought not to prevail as against a buyer from a retailer in the ordinary course of business. Mortgagees and pledges, since they are not purchasers "in the ordinary course of business," and creditors of the retailer will be bound by the provisions of the recording act and will have constructive notice of the conditional sale, but in the case of purchasers in the ordinary course of business, as distinguished from purchasers of the stock in bulk, no notice of the conditional sale should be effectual to bind them.

Public Acts of Michigan, 1915, p. 112, Sec. 1, requires that a contract for the conditional sale of goods to a retailer to be resold by him shall be recorded in order to be valid as against anyone except the seller and buyer. But in Michigan there is no general recording statute.

NOTE TO SECTION 10.

In Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New York, Texas, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming, New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, and Saskatchewan the statutes expressly provide as to the duties of the clerk receiving a conditional sale contract for filing. The clerk would, in order to make the record effective, necessarily be obliged to have some such system of recording, but it seems better to require it expressly rather than to leave it to the discretion of the various officers concerned. Uniformity of style of record is of some importance.

The filing fee for ordinary contracts is 50 cents in Montana and Prince Edward Island; 25 cents in Nebraska, Virginia, Washington, Wyoming, and Saskatchewan; 12 cents in New York and Wisconsin, and 10 cents in Minnesota, New Brunswick, and Ontario. It is desirable to encourage sellers to file their contracts and therefore the fee of 10 cents has been suggested. The labor of the clerk will be very slight.

The fee for filing contracts with respect to railroad equipment is found to be $15 in two states, $10 in one state, $5 in seven states, $2 in four states, and $1 in four states. The fee of $1 seems adequate to compensate the Secretary of State.

The amount of the fee has been bracketed to indicate the possibility of local variation upon this point.

NOTE TO SECTION 11.

In only a few jurisdictions are there provisions limiting the effectiveness of the record of conditional sale contracts. In Minnesota the record is good for but six years, in Nebraska for five years, in Saskatchewan for two years, and in New York, Wisconsin and Wyoming for one year only. Notwithstanding the slight acceptance of this principle of refiling, it seems desirable to require a refiling after three years. The ordinary conditional sale contract will be performed or broken before that time. If a contract extends over a period longer than three years, a fresh record should be made at the end of three years. Searchers should not be obliged to go back for an indefinite period to discover whether the title to a piano is in the possessor of it.

As shown in the notes to Section 8, in twelve states the validity of car trust contracts is limited, the period ranging from 10 to 25 years. A longer time is ordinarily required for the performance of these contracts than for the performance of an ordinary conditional sale contract. It would seem that 15 years, with a provision for refiling at the end of that time, would be sufficient.

NOTE TO SECTION 12.

The procedure upon the cancellation of a conditional sale agreement, due to performance, is expressly provided for in but few states. In Minnesota, New York, Vermont and Virginia, and in New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, provisions similar to those made in Section 12 are set forth in the statutes. Here, as in the case of filing and refiling, it seems desirable to make the record uniform and to prescribe an orderly procedure to be followed in dealing with these contracts. The clerk would in most cases probably, without statutory direction, treat the question of cancellation as above provided, but it is advantageous to make certain such treatment.

The fees for the cancellation of the railroad equipment contract as set forth in the present statutes, range from three dollars to fifty cents. In the majority of states in which provisions have been found, namely, in 12, the fee is one dollar. The fee of fifty cents seems adequate to compensate the official for his labor, and seems in correct proportion to the fee of one dollar for filing the contract.

NOTE TO SECTION 13.

Unless there is a record of the conditional sale contract in the place in which the goods are located, the public is apt to be defrauded. Innocent buyers and chattel mortgagees will naturally examine only the records of the city or county in which the goods are located. They are not apt to know where the goods were originally delivered, or where the possessor of them lived, when he bought them. It seems desirable to compel the seller to make a new record of the contract when the goods are moved into a new county, or for the first time brought into the state. In order that it may be reasonable to compel the seller to make this record, every effort must be made to give the seller notice of the removal. He will naturally learn in many cases of such removal, because he will be collecting the part payments and will be looking for the buyer. But if a civil penalty is placed upon removal by the buyer without notice to the seller, the chances of the seller knowing of such removal and being able to file the contract in the new county will be greatly increased. In view of the danger to the seller if the goods are taken into a new county where there is no record, the penalty of allowing the seller to retake the goods as on default, does not seem too harsh.

In Texas the seller is allowed to retake the goods if the buyer removes them from the county without his consent. In Vermont for the removal of the goods from the state without the seller's consent the buyer may be subjected to a penalty of twice the value of the goods. In Saskatchewan removal from the registration district without 20 days' written notice to the seller is prohibited under penalty of $100 fine.

It seems unreasonable to compel the buyer to get the consent of the seller to a removal to a new county or a new state unless he has agreed to such a provision in his original contract. Such consent might be withheld unjustly by the seller. If the seller knows of the removal, he can refile the contract. Such refile is what is desired, not an absolute prohibition against moving the goods about from place to place.

Conditional sale contracts frequently contain provisions prohibiting removal and allowing retaking by the seller on that account and such provisions have been forced by the courts. Hall vs. Draper, 20 Kans. 137.

The interest of the buyer ought to be assignable before complete payment, but the assignment is of so much importance to the seller that he should receive notice of it as soon as possible. The section requires notice to be given under penalty of allowing the seller to treat the buyer as if in default. If the seller is to look to another than the original buyer for his payments, he should know that fact as soon as possible. If the seller is not obliged to look to that other for the payments, he should know that possession of the goods has passed to another or that another claims some interest in the goods. The statutes of at least 27 states make a sale by the buyer criminal, in some cases merely where such sale is without the written consent of the seller, and in others where the subsale or other transfer is with fraudulent intent.

NOTE TO SECTION 14.

As stated previously, the place where the goods are situated is the county where it is important to have the record for the purpose of protesting the public. In a few jurisdictions the statutes provide that the seller must refile the contract or a removal of the goods to a new county and on the bringing of the goods into the state for the first time. This refileing is not required to be immediate. In Alabama the refileing must be within 30 days after the removal, in Georgia within six months, in Mississippi within 12 months, in Texas within four months, in West Virginia within three months, and in Saskatchewan within 60 days. It might be unreasonable to require the seller to make a new record at once. He should be given time to learn of the removal and to prepare and send for his papers for record. Most sellers collect part payments frequently and will thus learn of the removal. The provisions of section 11 and 13 will assist in bringing the removal to the seller's attention. The ten day period within which the contract must be filed seems not too strict a requirement since the time runs not from the removal but from the seller's notice of the place to which the goods have been removed.

A large number of cases have arisen in which the principal question was as to the law which controlled where goods were removed from one state to another. It seems to be settled that if the goods were sold in state A for the purpose of being removed to state B, the law of state B would control regarding the recording of the conditional sale contract. Summers vs. Carbondale Mach. Co. 173 S. W. (Ark.) 194; Beggs vs. Bartels, 73 Conn. 132; David Bradley & Co. vs. Kingman Implement Co., 112 N. W. (Neb.) 346; Lanston Monotype Mach. Co. vs. Curtis, 224 Feb. 403; Potter Mfg. Co. vs. Arthur, 220 Fed. 843; in re Gray, 170 Fed. 638. But if the goods are sold under a conditional sale contract in state A and delivered in state A, and after some use they are removed to state B, there is a great conflict of opinion. In the following cases the law of state A, the state where the contract was made, controlled as to the conflicting rights of the seller and claimants under the buyer: Fuller vs. Webster, 95 Atl. (Del.) 335; Harper vs. People, 2 Colo. App. 177; Waters vs. Cox, 2 Mradw. (Ill.) 129; Baldwin vs. Hill, 4 Kans. App. 168; Cross vs. Jordan, 83 M. 380; Davis vs. Osgood, 69 N. H. 427; Warnken vs. Chisholm, 8 N. D. 243; Studebaker Bros. Co. vs. Mau, 13 Wyo. 358. In the following cases the law of state B, the state to which the goods were removed, controlled as to the formalities necessary to protect the seller's rights under the conditional sale contract; Corbett vs. Riddle, 209 Fed. 811; Public Parks Amus Co. vs. Embree-McLean Co., 64 Ark. 29; Weinstein vs. Freyer, 93 Ala. 257; North vs. Goebel, 138 Ga. 739; Marvin Safe Co. vs. Norton 48 N. If a uniform law with respect to conditional sales were adopted, and this law provided for the refileing of the contract upon removal of the goods, the difficulties illustrated by these cases would be avoided. A slight extra burden would be placed upon the seller in refileing the contract, but much litigation and loss on the part of the innocent public would be prevented.

NOTE TO SECTION 15.

Provisions of this sort imposing a criminal penalty for acts done with a fraudulent intent and calculated to destroy the seller's security are very common. It seems desirable to insert such a section for the prevention of fraud upon the seller, and also fraud upon the innocent public in some cases.

In Kansas, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon and Washington the statute makes fraudulent destruction of the goods a crime.

In Kansas, Missouri, Oregon, South Dakota and Washington fraudulent injury of the goods is a crime.

In Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Washington fraudulent concealment of the goods is covered by the criminal statute.

In Arkansas, California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Virginia, Washington and Wyoming the statutes make fraudulent removal a crime.

In Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and Wyoming the fraudulent sale or other disposal of the goods is a crime.

The fines imposed vary from $1,000 as a maximum in Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, and North Dakota to $5.00 as a minimum in Virginia. The periods of imprisonment to which the criminal may be sentenced vary from 10 years as a maximum in Nebraska to 15 days as a minimum in Kentucky and Virginia. The one year period of imprisonment seems reasonable as a maximum and it seems desirable to make the possible fine depend upon the value of the goods.

Some of the criminal statutes apply specifically only to conditional sales, others to conditional sales and chattel mortgages, and still others by their express wording might seem to be confined to cases of chattel mortgages. The latter class are inserted here, since the offense in the case of fraud on the part of a chattel mortgagee is essentially similar, and doubtless in many cases the statutes have been held to apply to conditional sales by implication.

NOTE TO SECTION 16.

This right on the part of the seller is an elementary one. It is generally reserved in the contract, but it is deemed wise to make it a statutory right, rather than a right to be contracted for. This right is restricted and limited by the following sections, which prescribe what the seller must do after resuming possession.

It is deemed wise to insert a statement that the seller may resume possession without process, only if he can do so without breach of the peace; but that he must resort to legal process if he cannot obtain the goods without breach of the peace.

NOTE TO SECTION 17.

The object of this section is to enable the seller to avoid unnecessary expense and trouble. Often the seller without this section would have to make one trip to the buyer's town to retake the goods, then store the goods at considerable expense during the redemption period, and lastly make a second trip to the buyer's town to resell the goods. If the buyer has from twenty to forty days' notice that he must pay up or lose the goods, his rights are as well protected as if he had ten days' period of redemption after the goods have been retaken. The object is to give the buyer a reasonable time to raise the back payments. Either a notice of intention to retake or a period of redemption after retaking will give the buyer protection. If the former enables the seller to avoid useless trouble and expense, the seller should have the option of taking either method.

NOTE TO SECTION 18.

The theory of the following sections is that a conditional sale is practically equivalent to a chattel mortgage, and that the rights of buyer and seller in the conditional sale ought to coincide with those of chattel mortgagor and mortgagee as nearly as possible. Hence the buyer is given the right of redemption after default. It seems but little hardship on the seller to compel him to retain the goods within reach of the buyer for ten days and allow the buyer to redeem the goods, if he can raise the money. In ten days there should be opportunity to borrow the money, or to obtain it through the receipt of salary or wages. To extend the period unduly imposes a hardship upon the seller in every case, and will benefit a buyer only in rare instances. Experience shows that if he does not do so promptly he seldom attempts to redeem. It is essential that the buyer should be able to discover just how much is claimed' to be due on the contract and as a result of the retaking. The seller should furnish a written statement of this. The fixing of a small penalty for failure to deliver such a statement may stimulate promptness on the part of the seller.

In Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin, New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, and Saskatchewan the statutes expressly provide for redemption by the buyer, the period of redemption varying from 15 days to 40 days. In some states in the absence of statutes the courts have allowed the buyer the right of redemption. Miller vs. Steen, 30 Cal. 407; Liver vs. Mills, 101 Pac. (Cal.) 299; Puffer vs. Lucas, 112 N. C. 377.

NOTE TO SECTION 19.

In many states the buyer, upon default, forfeits the part payments already made, if the seller retakes the goods. Bray vs. Lowery, 163 Cal. 256; Herbert vs. Rhodes-Burford Furniture Co., 106 Ill. App. 583; Fleck vs. Warner, 25 Kans. 492; Lorain Steel Co. vs. Norfolk, 187 Mass. 500; Thrilby vs. Rainbow, 93 Mich. 164; C. W. Raymond Co. vs. Kahn, 124 Minn. 426; Duke vs. Shackelford, 53 Miss. 552; Richards vs. Helen, 133 N. W. (Iowa) 393; Stearns vs. Drake, 24 R. I. 272. But in several of these cases the holding was merely that the seller need not return the part payments before bringing replevin for the goods, and the court hinted that the buyer might later recover his part payments, less a reasonable reduction for the use of and damage to the goods. In other cases it has been held that the buyer is entitled to have his part payments, less rent and damage charges, returned to him when the seller retakes the goods. Hill vs. Townsend, 69 Ala. 286; Commercial Pub'g. Co. vs. Campbell Printing-Press Co., 111 Ga. 388; Quality Clothes Shop vs. Keeney, 106 N. E. (Ind.) 541; Shafer vs. Russell, 28 Utah 444. The tendency of the courts is to avoid the old hard and fast rule that the buyer forfeited his part payments on default. The courts recognize the equity of the buyer in the goods on account of his part payments. In some states they have had to resort to indirect methods of giving the buyer the benefit of this equity. In other states they have felt bound by the old strict rule of forfeiture. It seems desirable to do away with this doubt and indirection and to admit clearly the right of the buyer to have the benefit of his part payments after default.

In a few states statutory schemes for relieving the buyer of the hardship of forfeiture have been provided. These may be divided into three classes. There are first the states which provide that the seller may not retake the goods for default, unless he returns to the buyer the part payments, less a reasonable amount for the use of the property and damage to it. Such systems prevail in Missouri and Ohio. In Missouri the right to the return of part payments on retaking exists in all cases. In Ohio only when the buyer has paid an amount in excess of twenty-five per cent of the purchase price must the seller return part payments on retaking. This scheme is open to the objection that it is difficult to determine what the value of the use of the goods has been and whether they have been damaged or not. The seller is apt to impose on the buyer and retain too much of the part payments under a claim of rent and alleged damage to the goods.

In Massachusetts and Pennsylvania the right to have a resale is optional with the buyer. In Massachusetts, where seventy-five per cent or more of the price has been paid, the buyer may demand a resale, and will be entitled to the surplus in the hands of the seller after the payment of the full price and expenses. This statute applies only to furniture and other household effects. In Pennsylvania the statute respecting the conditional sale of chattels to be attached to real property provides that the buyer may, within 10 days after the retaking, demand a resale of the property and shall be entitled to any surplus in the hands of the seller after the satisfaction of the price and the expenses. In Vermont the seller may resell the goods, and if he does so, the buyer shall be entitled to the surplus thus created. The option in Vermont is with the seller.

In a third class of states resale is compulsory. These states are New York and Tennessee. In these states the seller is obliged, after retaking the goods, to resell them and return to the buyer the excess in his hands after the payment of the price and the expenses of resale. This compulsory resale insures the return of all part payments equitably due him. If he has contracted for goods at a price of $100 and has paid $75 at the time of default and retaking, and the goods on the compulsory resale bring but $25, the buyer is entitled to no return of part payments. The use he has had of the property has evidently been worth $75, for the goods have become so worn and damaged that they will bring only $25. But if, in the case supposed, the goods bring $50 on the resale, it is evident that the buyer ought to have returned to him $25, less the expense of resale. If such return is not made, the seller will have received $25 unjustly and the buyer will have been mulcted in that amount because of his default.

This latter system, namely, that of compulsory resale, is the one adopted in the proposed statute. It is believed to be better than the optional resale plan adopted in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, because it works automatically. Many buyers of goods on conditional sale contracts are men of small means, little versed in the law and unfamiliar with correct business methods. They will not, it is believed, be apt to take advantage of an optional resale provision. They will not ordinarily know of it. It may be said that, if they are careless with respect to their own rights, they do not deserve protection. But the answer is that they frequently will not know what their own rights are, that they are a class of buyers who are frequently very needy and ignorant.

In New York the resale must take place within 60 days after the retaking of the goods and not before 30 days after such retaking. This seems a needlessly long period. It is believed that, if the buyer does not redeem the goods, the seller should be allowed to dispose of the matter by resale as soon as he can do so with due regard to a protection of the buyer's right. Ten days after the period of redemption has expired seems long enough in which to advertise the resale. In Tennessee the seller must advertise the property for resale within 10 days after the retaking.

The length of notice of the resale which the seller must give varies in the different states. In Massachusetts the requirement is three days' newspaper notice; in New York 15 days' notice to the buyer is required; in North Carolina 10 days' notice to the buyer and 20 days' public notice by posting; in Tennessee 10 days' notice to the public by three posted notices; in Vermont 10 days' notice to the buyer and 10 days' notice to the public by two posted notices.

The notices required by the proposed Section 15 are believed to be reasonable and to give the buyer and the public sufficient time to prepare to attend the sale ready to bid, if they desire to do so.

In New Brunswick, Ontario, and Prince Edward Island 5 days' personal notice to the buyer or 7 days' written notice is required. In Saskatchewan the buyer is entitled to 8 days' personal notice of the resale or 10 days' written notice. The resale in the Canadian provinces is optional with the seller and not for the purpose of awarding the buyer the surplus after the payment of the price and expenses.

Under this statute a compulsory resale is provided for only where the buyer has paid a considerable portion of the purchase price, namely, fifty per cent. If he has paid less, statistics show that nothing is realized for the buyer on a resale. The depreciation of the goods more than eats up the buyer's equity. Where there is no chance of benefiting the buyer, a compulsory resale is a useless and expensive formality. If the buyer wants a resale for the purpose of determining his equity, he may, under the provisions of the following section demand it, even though he has paid only ten per cent of the price. But it seems undesirable to require such resale as a matter of law in cases where business experience shows that it can do no good.

The last sentence of this section gives greater liberty as to the place of sale to the parties in the case of the resale of railroad equipment.

NOTE TO SECTION 20.

As explained in the notes to Section 19, a resale where less than fifty per cent of the price has been paid has been shown to be a useless, expensive formality, not productive of any good to buyer or seller. Nevertheless, if the buyer desires to have a resale when he has paid less than fifty per cent of the price, he ought to have the right to demand a resale. This section gives him such right but does not make the resale compulsory where less than fifty per cent has been paid.

NOTE TO SECTION 21.

The provisions of this section are supported by the statutes of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Vermont, the only statutes in which resale as a means of estimating the amount to be returned to the buyer is recognized. That the buyer should have the surplus which represents his equity in the goods, is in accord with the chattel mortgage theory of the conditional sale.

NOTE TO SECTION 22.

This section follows out the mortgage theory. The chattel mortgagee can, of course, recover any deficiency after foreclosing his mortgage. The result produced by this section has been reached in a number of cases: Matteson vs. Equitable Min. & Mill Co., 143 Cal. 436; Kinney vs. Avery & Co., 80 E. E. (Ga.) 663; Christie vs. Scott, 94 Pac. (Kans.) 214; Dederick vs. Wolfe, 68 Miss 500; McCormick Mach. Co. vs. Koch, 8 Okla. 374; Ascue vs. C. Aultman & Co., 2 Wilson (Tex.), Sec. 947.

NOTE TO SECTION 23.

This section frees the seller from all obligations where the law is complied with and there is no resale. In such cases the equity of the buyer is probably practically worthless and it has seemed best to wipe out the transaction and clear the slate of all obligations on both sides.

NOTE TO SECTION 24.

It is often held that the retaking of the goods by the seller constitutes an election which prevents him from later suing for the purchase price. Nashville Lumber Co. vs. Robinson, 121 S. W. (Ark.) 350; Muncy vs. Brain, 110 Pac. (Cal.) 945; Manson vs. Dayton, 153 Fed. 258; Turk vs. Carnahan, 25 Ind. App. 125; Perkins vs. Grobben, 116 Mich. 172; A. F. Chase & Co. vs. Kelly, 146 N. W. (Minn.) 113; Madison Live Stock Co. vs. Osler, 39 Mont. 244; Nelson vs. Gibson, 143 App. Div. (N. Y.) 894; Kelly Co. vs. Schlimme, 220 Pa. 413; Stewart & Holmes Drug Co. vs. Ross, 74 Wash. 401. This seems correct, only if the act of retaking necessarily amounts to a rescission of the contract. This is not necessarily true because it is perfectly possible that the seller has resumed possession merely for the purpose of realizing on his security. On the other hand, the buyer ought not thereafter to be liable for the price, unless the security which he has given for the payment of the price, the goods themselves, proves insufficient to compensate the seller. In Section 22 the seller is allowed to recover the deficiency after a resale. If he retakes the property, he is deemed to have elected to look to the goods as his primary security. If that should fail, he may have the secondary remedy of recovering the deficiency from the buyer.

It seems obvious that action for a single installment of the price not the final installment, does not amount to an election to treat the buyer as the owner of the goods. The buyer is not, according to the most essential term of the contract, to become the owner until he has paid the price. The recovery of a single installment is perfectly consistent with the payment of the further installments by the buyer and the complete performance of the contract. The recovery of such installments ought not, therefore, to preclude the seller from retaking the goods later, in case of default. Haynes vs. Temple, 198 Mass. 372.

Upon the question of the effect of bringing an action for the entire balance of the price due, the authorities are not harmonious. The prevailing view is that the commencement of an action for the entire price prevents a retaking of the goods at a later time. Butler vs. Dodson & Son, 78 Ark. 569; Waltz vs. Silveira, 25 Cal. App. 717; North Robinson Dean Co. vs. Strong, 25 Idaho 721; Smith vs. Barber, 153 Ind. 322; Richards vs. Schreiber, 98 Iowa 422; Bailey vs. Hervey, 135 Mass. 172; Alden vs. Dyer, 92 Minn. 134; Frederickson vs. Schmittroth, 112 N. W. (Neb.) 564; Orcutt vs. Rick-enbrodt, 42 App. Div. (N. Y.) 238; Dowagiac Mfg. Co. vs. Mahon, 13 N. D. 416; Sioux Falls Adjustment Co. vs. Aikens, 142 N. W. (S. D.) 651; Winton Motor Carriage Co. vs. Broadway Automobile Co., 118 Pac. (Wash.) 817. The contrary view has been maintained in E. E. Forbes Piano Co. vs. Wilson, 144 Ala. 586; Jones vs. Snider, 99 Ga. 276; Foster vs. Briggs Co., 98 S. W. (Ind. Terr.) 120; Westinghouse Co. vs. Auburn Co., 76 Atl. (Me.) 897; Campbell Mfg. Co. vs. Rockaway Pub. Co., 56 N. J., L. 676.

The minority view which is that adopted in Section 24 seems more reasonable and in accord with the chattel mortgage theory of a conditional sale. If an action for the price bars a later retaking of the goods, the seller will never dare to sue for the price and run the risk of getting a worthless judgment and losing his claim upon the goods. Just as an action for the chattel mortgage debt does not bar the foreclosure of the chattel mortgage at a later time, so an action for the purchase price under a conditional sale should not bar a later reliance on the reservation of the property in the goods as security.

NOTE TO SECTION 25.

In the two states which have a compulsory resale provision, namely, New York and Tennessee, the penalty for failure to carry out the resale provision according to law is that the buyer may recover his part payments. Some penalty is necessary in order to insure that the resale will take place. It seems fair to allow the buyer his actual damages (the difference between the amount of his part payments and the value of the use of the property which he has had, and also the value of his bargain) and to fix a minimum penalty to be recovered in all cases. This will protect the buyer in all cases where his equity is of any appreciable value.

In Massachusetts, where the buyer may in some cases demand a resale, the penalty for failure to resell is that the right of redemption on the part of the buyer is not foreclosed. In Pennsylvania, where a similar right on the buyer's part to demand a resale exists, there seems to be no penalty for failure to resell after the demand.

NOTE TO SECTION 26.

This section is supported by decisions in three of the states having resale and redemption provisions for the benefit of the buyer. Desseau vs. Holmes, 187 Mass. 486; Darke vs. Metropolitan Mfg. Co., 218 Mass. 112; Crowe vs. Liquid Carbonic Co., 208 N. Y. 396; Massillon Engine & Thresher Co. vs. Wilkes, 82 S. W. (Tenn.) 316. In the absence of such a provision unscrupulous sellers would do away with the effect of the statute by waivers printed in small type in the contract. No act should constitute a waiver unless performed after the contract of conditional sale is complete.

• NOTE TO SECTION 27.

The rule with respect to risk of loss is that adopted by the Uniform Sales Act and by a great majority of the states. Uniform Sales Act, Sec. 22; Blue vs. American Soda Fountain Co., 43 So. (Ala.) 709; Hollenberg Music Co. vs. Barron, 140 S. W. (Ark.) 582; O'Neil-Adams Co. vs. Eklund, 89 Conn. 232; Phenix Ins. Co. vs. Hilliard, 52 So. (Fla.) 799; Jessup vs. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 78 N. E. (Ind.) 1050; Burnley vs. Tufts, 66 Miss. 48; Tufts vs. Wynnee, 45 Mo. App. 42; Charles A. Stickney Co. vs. Nicholas, 152 N. W. (Neb.) 554; Collerd vs. Tully, 78 N. J. Eq. 557; Nata. Cash Reg. Co. vs. South Bay Club House Ass'n, 64 Misc. (N. Y.) 125; Whitlock vs. Auburn Lumber Co., 145 N. C. 120; Harley vs. Stanley, 105 Pac. (Okla.) 188; Carolina, etc., Co. vs. Unaka Springs Lumber Co., 130 Tenn. 354; Lavalley vs. Ravenna, 78 Vt. 152; Exposition Arcade Corp. vs. Lit. Bros., 75 S. E. (Va.) 117. It seems desirable to insert this section in the Uniform Conditional Sales Act, although there may be a duplication of legislation in states where the Uniform Sales Act is already in force. The Uniform Sales Act does not expressly refer to conditional sales, but only to sales where the title is reserved as security for the payment of the price. Furthermore, states which have not adopted the Uniform Sales Act may adopt the Uniform Conditional Sales Act.

It is well established that the increase of goods sold under a conditional sale remain the property of the seller until the performance of the condition and then pass to the buyer with the original goods. Anderson vs. Leverette, 116 Ga. 732; Allen vs. Delano, 55 Me. 113; Desany vs. Thorp, 70 Vt. 31.

NOTE TO SECTION 29.

This section is modeled after Sec. 73 of the Uniform Sales Act and is inserted for the sake of completeness and clarity.

NOTE TO SECTION 30.

This important section is contained in all the Uniform Commercial Acts to lead courts to consider in construing the act not only the previous jurisprudence of the state, but the law of other states.

The [State Board of Health] shall provide for such clerical and other assistants as may be necessary for the purpose of this act, who shall serve during the pleasure of the [board], and shall fix the compensation of persons thus employed within the amount appropriated therefor by the legislature. The [custodian of the capitol] shall provide for the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the state capitol at _____, suitable offices, which shall be properly equipped with fireproof vault and filing cases for the permanent and safe preservation of all official records made and returned under this act.

SECTION 3. [Registration District.] For the purpose of this act the state shall be divided into registration districts as follows: Each city, each incorporated town, and each township³ shall constitute a primary registration district; provided, that the [State Board of Health] may combine two or more primary registration districts when necessary to facilitate registration.

SECTION 4. [Local Registrars—Term—Deputies—Subregistrars.] Within ninety days after the taking effect of this Act, or as soon thereafter as possible, the [State Board of Health] shall appoint a local registrar of vital statistics for each registration district in the state.⁴ The term of office of each local registrar so appointed shall be for four years, and until his successor has been appointed and has qualified, unless such office shall sooner become vacant by death, disqualification, operation of law, or other causes; provided, that in cities where health officers or other officials are, in the judgment of the [State Board of Health], conducting effective registration of births and deaths under local ordinances at the time of the taking effect of this Act, such officials may be appointed as registrars in and for such cities, and shall be subject to the rules and regulations of the State Registrar, and to all of the provisions of this Act. Any vacancy occurring in the office of local registrar of vital statistics shall be filled for the unexpired term by the [State Board of Health]. At least ten days before the expiration of the term of office of any such local registrar, his successor shall be appointed by the [State Board of Health].

Each local registrar shall, immediately upon his acceptance of appointment as such, and at such other times as may be necessary, appoint a deputy, whose duty it shall be to act in his stead in case of his absence or disability, and who may be removed by him; and such deputy shall in writing accept such appointment, and be subject to all rules and regulations governing local registrars. And when it appears necessary for the convenience of the people in any rural district, the local registrar is hereby authorized, with the approval of the State Registrar, to appoint one or more suitable persons to act as subregistrars, who shall be authorized to receive certificates and to issue burial or removal permits in and for such portions of the district as may be designated; and each subregistrar shall note, on each certificate, over his signature, the date of filing, and shall forward all certificates to the local registrar of the district within ten days, and in all cases before the third day of the following month; provided, that each subregistrar shall be subject to the supervision and control of the State Registrar, and may be by him removed for neglect or failure to perform his duty in accordance with the provisions of this Act or the rules and regulations of the State Registrar, and shall be subject to the same penalties for neglect of duty as the local registrar.

⁴ This method of appointment of local registrars by the State Board of Health—or perhaps by the State Registrar or upon his nomination—with a reasonably long term of service and subject to removal for neglect of duty, is the preferable one for efficient service. Should there be objection, however, to the creation of new offices, the section may be redrafted so that it will provide that township, village or city clerks, or other suitable officials, shall be the local registrars.

SECTION 5. [Burial permits required.] The body of any person whose death occurs in this state, or which shall be found dead therein, shall not be interred, deposited in a vault or tomb, cremated or otherwise disposed of, or removed from or into any registration district, or be temporarily held pending further disposition more than 72 hours after death, unless a permit for burial, removal, or other disposition thereof shall have been properly issued by the local registrar of the registration district in which the death occurred or the body was found.⁵ And no such permit shall be issued by any registrar until, wherever practicable, a complete and satisfactory certificate of death has been filed with him as hereinafter provided; provided, that when a dead body is transported from outside of the state into a registration district in ——— for burial, or other disposition, the transit or removal permits, issued in accordance with the law and health regulations of the place where the death occurred, shall be accepted by the local registrar of the district into which the body has been transported for burial or other disposition, as a basis upon which he may issue a local permit; he shall note upon the face of such permit the fact that it was a body shipped in for interment, or other disposition, and give the actual place of death; and no local registrar shall receive any fee for the issuance of such permits under this Act other than the compensation provided in Section 20.

SECTION 6. [Stillborn child—Birth—Death certificates—Midwives cannot sign.] A stillborn child shall be registered as a birth and also as a death, and separate certificates of both the birth and the death shall be filed with the local registrar, in the usual form and manner, the certificate of birth to contain in place of the name of the child, the word "stillbirth"; provided, that a certificate of birth and a certificate of death shall not be required for a child that has not advanced to the fifth month of uterogestation. And he shall then state the facts required relative to the date and place of burial or removal, over his signature and with his address, and present the completed certificate to the local registrar in order to obtain a permit for burial.

Every person, firm or corporation selling a casket at retail, and not having charge of the disposition of the body, shall inclose within the casket a notice furnished by the State Registrar calling attention to the requirements of the law, a blank certificate of death, and the rules and regulations of the [State Board of Health] concerning the burial or other disposition of a dead body.⁹

Section 10. [Interment within state—Certificate required.] If the interment, or other disposition of the body, is to be made within the state, the wording of the burial or removal permit may be limited to a statement by the registrar, and over his signature, that a satisfactory certificate of death having been filed with him, as required by law, permission is granted to inter, remove, or dispose otherwise of the body, stating the name, age, sex, cause of death, and other necessary details upon the form prescribed by the State Registrar.

SECTION 11. SECTION 12. [Birth registration compulsory.] The birth of each and every child born in this state shall be registered as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 13. In each case where there was no physician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, in attendance upon the birth, it shall be the duty of the father or mother of the child, the householder or owner of the premises where the birth occurred, or the manager or superintendent of the public or private institution where the birth occurred, each in the order named, within ten days after the date of such birth, to report to the local registrar the fact of such birth. In such case and in case the physician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, in attendance upon the birth does not possess and cannot obtain, without independent inquiry, any item or items of information contemplated in Section 14 of this act, it shall then be the duty of the local registrar to secure from any person having the required knowledge, such information as will enable him to prepare the certificate of birth herein contemplated, and it shall be the duty of the person reporting the birth or who may be interrogated in relation thereto to answer correctly and to the best of his knowledge all questions put to him by the local registrar which may be calculated to elicit any information needed to make a complete record of the birth as contemplated by said Section 14, and it shall be the duty of the informant as to any statement made in accordance herewith to verify such statement by his signature, when requested so to do by the local registrar.

SECTION 19. [Records of legitimacy shown only on order of court.] Except when ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction in a case where such information is necessary for the determination of personal or property rights, and then only for such purpose, no member of the State Board of Health, nor any state nor local registrar, nor any person connected with the office of either, shall disclose the fact that any record in this act provided for, shows that any child was either legitimate or illegitimate.

The [] court shall have jurisdiction, upon petition against and notice to the State Registrar, under such rules and regulations as the court may prescribe, to issue such writs or orders permitting or requiring the inspection of such records and the making and delivery of certified copies thereof as to it may seem just and proper.

SECTION 20. [Local registrars—Duties.] Each local registrar shall supply blank forms of certificates to such persons as require them. Each local registrar shall carefully examine each certificate of birth or death when presented for record in order to ascertain whether or not it has been made in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the instructions of the State Registrar; and if any certificate of death is incomplete or unsatisfactory, it shall be his duty to call attention to the defects in the return, and to withhold the burial or removal permit until such defects are corrected, if practicable. SECTION 21. [Transcript—Duty State Registrar to make.] Immediately upon the receipt by the State Registrar of each birth certificate, he shall from such certificate make a transcript containing the items of information specified under Section 18 hereof, as those to be furnished to school authorities, factory inspectors and employers of youthful labor; and only from such transcript shall the certificates aforesaid be compiled.

SECTION 22. [Local registrars—Compensation.] Each local registrar shall be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each birth certificate and each death certificate properly and completely made out and registered with him, and correctly recorded and promptly returned by him to the State Registrar, as required by this Act.¹⁶ And in case no births or no deaths were registered during any month, the local registrar shall be entitled to be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each report to that effect, but only if such report be made promptly as required by this Act. All amounts payable to a local registrar under the provisions of this section shall be paid by the treasurer of the county in which the registration district is located, upon certification by the State Registrar. And the State Registrar shall annually certify to the treasurers of the several counties the number of births and deaths properly registered, with the names of the local registrars and the amounts due each at the rates fixed herein.¹⁷

SECTION 23. [Certificate furnished by State Registrar—Fees—Exceptions.] The State Registrar shall, upon request, supply to any applicant a certified copy of the transcript of the record of any birth as set forth in the provisions of sections 18 and 21 hereof, or death registered under provisions of this Act, for the making and certification of which he shall be entitled to a fee of [fifty] cents, to be paid by the applicant, provided, that the fact that any child was either legitimate or illegitimate or other facts from which such fact could be determined, shall not be disclosed except when ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction in accordance with Section nineteen hereof; and provided, that the United States Bureau of the Census may obtain, without expense to the state, transcripts or certified copies of births and deaths without payment of the fees herein prescribed. And any such copy of the record of a birth or death, when properly certified by the State Registrar, shall be prima facie evidence in all courts and places of the facts therein stated. For any search of the files and records when no certified copy is made, the State Registrar shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents for each hour or fractional part of an hour of time of search, said fee to be paid by the applicant. And the State Registrar shall keep a true and correct account of all fees by him received under these provisions, and turn the same over to the State Treasurer.

SECTION 24. [Penalties violation death or birth registration law.] Any person, who for himself or as an officer, agent, or employee of any other person, or of any corporation or partnership (a) shall inter, cremate, or otherwise finally dispose of the dead body of a human being, or permit the same to be done, or shall remove said body from the primary registration district in which the death occurred or the body was found, without the authority of a burial or removal permit issued by the local registrar of the district in which the death occurred or in which the body was found; or (b) shall refuse or fail to furnish correctly, as required by this act, any information in his possession, or shall furnish false information affecting any certificate or record, required by this act, or who in violation of this Act shall disclose any information; or (c) shall willfully alter, otherwise

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

The uniform Vital Statistics Act herewith submitted was finally approved by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws on August 23, 1920, and recommended to the various legislatures for adoption. It is believed that the act as submitted represents the best thought in this country upon the subject, and that it should be immediately passed in those states—notably Arizona, Iowa, South Dakota, Nevada, and West Virginia,—where reasonably effective laws do not now exist, and ¹⁸ Provision may be made whereby compliance with this act shall constitute a condition of granting licenses to physicians, midwives and embalmers. In any event the amount of the fine or period of imprisonment might well be substantially increased in view of sub-section (6) or a substantially higher penalty provided for violation of the sub-section (6) with reference to disclosure of information.

that steps should be taken in those other states in which legislation has already been based upon the so-called "Model Act" to so modify such laws as to bring them in harmony with the submitted bill.

The history of the development of this legislation is fully outlined in the attached reports for the years 1917, 1918, and 1920, and those interested in the subject are particularly requested to consider the history of the Act as presented in the report of 1917.

Great credit is due to the American Medical Association, to the United States Bureau of Census, and to the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor for the great advance which has been made in this type of legislation since the matter was first considered by the National Conference. The Committee of the National Conference cooperated in the original drafting of the "Model Act," but as is noted in the report for 1917, due to the failure in the judgment of the Conference to properly protect the question of illegitimacy, the approval of the Conference was withheld in 1914.

With the changes now made in Section 14 (Sub-Sections 8 and 14) 18, 19, 21, 23, and 24, to which particular attention is directed, it is believed that the rights of illegitimate children are properly protected. In this connection attention is called to the fact that the so-called standard certificate of birth which has heretofore been incorporated in such legislation by the United States Department of Census makes public the record of illegitimacy, and does not meet the approval of the National Conference. All friends of this legislation are therefore urged to get together in order that the submitted Uniform Vital Statistics Act may be passed in such states as do not now have proper legislation as stated above, and that wherever the legislation heretofore passed has failed to protect the illegitimate child, it may be modified in accordance with the present submitted bill.

With reference to this question, when the draft was submitted to Miss Julia C. Lathrop, Chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, prior to the report of 1917, she said it "seems to meet squarely the objection to the Massachusetts and New York form, and I am very glad personally to see this done."

Following the approval of the Act at the Thirtieth Annual Meeting of the National Conference at St. Louis in August, the Chairman received a letter from the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, stating that "The Children's Bureau wishes to offer you sincere congratulations on your success in obtaining the approval of this Act. I am sure it will mean a great deal to the movement for better and more complete vital statistics."

Since the 1917 report was prepared outlining the states having proper laws upon the subject, new laws have been passed in:

Alabama,	New Mexico,
Delaware,	Oregon,
Iowa,	South Dakota,
Louisiana,	Texas.

The laws in South Dakota and Iowa, however, have been characterized by the Statistical Division of the Children's Bureau as unsatisfactory. In addition to the above legislation, the laws have been modified in California, Indiana, Maryland, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

When the Uniform Vital Statistics Act was finally approved last summer, a resolution was passed by the National Conference directing that copies of the Act be sent to the United States Bureau of Census, to the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, to the American Medical Association, and to the American Public Health Association, with the request that all co-operate together for the enactment of the Uniform Act. It is hoped that in view of this action the American Medical Association, the United States Bureau of Census, and the Children's Bureau will hereafter use the submitted Uniform Act rather than the old so-called "Model Law" as a basis for their further efforts in the field of Vital Statistics, as it is the belief of this Committee and of the National Conference that the submitted act not only contains all of the valuable material of the so-called "Model Law," but that in addition to it it safeguards the rights of illegitimates as was not done in that Act, and so meets certain criticism which has heretofore been directed against the legislation, and should make it easier for passage in the future than it has been in the past.

1917 REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VITAL AND PENAL STATISTICS.

To the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State laws.

GENTLEMEN: Herewith we beg to present a report of the Committee on Vital and Penal Statistics.

This committee, consisting of Nathan William MacChesney, Chairman, Chicago, Illinois; Eugene A. Gilmore, Madison, Wisconsin; George D. Ayers, Moscow, Idaho; J. S. Sexton, Hazlehurst, Mississippi; Charles W. Smith, Topeka, Kansas; Bradner W. Lee, Los Angeles, California; Manley O. Hudson, Columbia, Missouri, was appointed at the Twenty-sixth Annual Meeting at Chicago, with instructions to continue the work of the National Conference theretofore done upon the question of a Vital Statistics Bill, make such changes as they deemed wise in the draft of the bill as theretofore presented, and present the same for action at the next meeting of the National Conference.

You will therefore find hereto attached a copy of a fourth tentative draft of a proposed "Uniform Vital Statistics Act," which the committee respectfully requests be given final consideration at this meeting with a view to approving the same, and recommending it to the legislatures of the various states.

Briefly, the history of this act is as follows:

At the Sixteenth Annual Conference held at St. Paul, Minnesota, in August, 1906, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the communication of Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the Section (Division) of Vital Statistics of the Census Bureau, addressed to the president of the Conference and the reference in the President's annual address to the subject of Uniform Registration Laws concerning Births and Deaths, as an important part of Vital Statistics, as well as his reference to penal statistics, be referred to a special committee of three members of the Conference, to be appointed by the President to consider the same, and to report to the next annual meeting of the Conference."

Under the authority of the foregoing resolution, President Eaton appointed Messrs. F. L. Siddons, R. Ross Perry, and Aldis B. Browne, then Commissioners on Uniform State Laws for the District of Columbia, the special committee provided by the resolution.

Mr. Perry having resigned as such commissioner, there was appointed in his place Mr. Walter C. Clephane, who continued to be engaged in the work of this committee up to the time of his resignation from the National Conference two years ago, and who has done much constructive work on the subject and been of much assistance to the present committee.

The resolution deals with two subjects:

- (1) Uniformity of Registration concerning Births and Deaths;
- (2) Uniformity in the Collection of Penal Statistics.

Your committee has only given consideration to the first of these subjects, and recommends that the matter of penal statistics be referred to the Committee of the Conference on Co-operation with the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, as the Institute has been investigating the subject of Penal Statistics for a number of years.

With reference therefore to the matter of Registration of Birth and Deaths, it should be noted that it was not until 1901 that a movement to bring about uniformity in these laws began to take definite shape, when almost coincidentally the American Public Health Association, through its Committee on Demography and Statistics in their Sanitary Relations, and the United States Census Office, resolved to prepare an outline for a complete system of registration, including suggestions for necessary legislation and methods of treating the records so as to secure the maximum benefit from them, and since that time the Census Office, through its chief statistician for Vital Statistics, acting with a committee of the American Public Health Association, the American Medical Association, and others interested, has succeeded in arousing some interest in the subject, and in securing the passage of a reasonably satisfactory law in a considerable number of the states. These laws have been based upon a so-called Model State Law for the Registration of Births and Deaths, drafted by a joint committee, on which were represented the American Medical Association, the American Public Health Association, the Bureau of the Census and the Children's Bureau, as well as certain former members of this committee, though neither the National Conference nor the American Bar Association ever approved the act.

This Model State Law forms the basis of the Fourth Tentative Draft herewith presented. It creates the office of a State Registrar of Vital Statistics under the State Board of Health. Upon this officer it places squarely the responsibility of securing the registration of all births and deaths. The law divides the state into small primary registration districts; each city, each incorporated town, and each township constitutes a separate registration district, and when these are too large to be covered conveniently by the local registrar, sub-registrars may be appointed by the State Board. It provides compensation to local registrars at the rate of twenty-five cents for each birth or death certificate issued; and in case no birth or death occurs in a given month, twenty-five cents for reporting of that fact.

The responsibility of reporting births to the registrar is placed upon the physicians and midwives, or other persons in attendance at the birth. The law provides that they may be prosecuted for failing to perform this duty. The parents of every child should specifically ascertain that the birth of the infant has been duly registered.

It proves in practice impossible to secure satisfactory registration of births through the machinery of the county government. A county is too large an area to be covered by a single registration official. Too frequently the county officials are made a step between the local registrar and the state registrar, thus preventing the effective supervision of the whole work by the state official who is responsible for the efficiency of the entire system.

The above may seem to be an elaborate scheme for accomplishing this purpose, but nothing short of it will be satisfactory. We beg to quote the following from Monograph No. 1 of the U. S. Department of Labor, Children's Bureau, Julia C. Lathrop, Chief "On Birth Registration—an Aid in Protecting the lives and Rights of Children":

"Birth registration means the record in public archives of the births of children. In the civilized countries of Europe it has long been complete. It is, of course, the first item in Vital Statistics. In the United States birth registration has made progress less rapidly than the other items of a complete system of Vital Statistics, notably death registration and the registration of marriages. While the importance of such statistics has been recognized in certain parts of America from Colonial days, the country as a whole is still devoid of uniform and complete records of the births of its citizens. This neglect is undoubtedly to be ascribed to the lack of a proper conviction that such records are dignified and valuable. Everybody agrees that it is dignified and valuable to make public record of marriages and deaths. Only a monement's thought is necessary to show that the public record of births is of kindred importance, and for the same reason to protect individual and property rights.

"Moreover, as a working expedient, it is coming to be regarded as indispensable in the eradication of three great evils which affect the children of the country. There are no more important undertakings at the present day than the Reduction of Infant Mortality, Preservation of the Children's Right to Education, and the Abolishing of Child Labor. In serving all three of these ends, birth registration is an indispensable practical aid."

The National Conference has already shown its interest in the subjects of Child Labor and Workmen's Compensation by the adoption of acts upon these subjects, and there will be considered at this meeting of the National Conference a bill upon Occupational Diseases.

Adequate Vital Statistics are essential in order to properly safeguard the rights of the youth of the land under Child Labor Statutes, and in order to properly administer Workmen's Compensation Acts, Occupational Disease Acts, or other legislation having to do with the health of the community.

They are essential also to the fair and orderly enforcement of a selective draft law or other general or universal military service laws. Ours is the only country where the government has to take a man's word as to whether he is within the age limits of the draft. This is unfair to every one concerned—the government, the man himself, and others subject to call, and should be remedied immediately.

As the result of the agitation promoted largely by the Bureau of the Census and the American Medical Association, assisted informally by your committee and its chairman, good birth registration laws have been enacted in at least thirty-three states and the District of Columbia, although their enforcement does not yet meet the census requirements. These states are:

Arkansas,	Michigan,	Ohio,
Connecticut,	Minnesota,	Pennsylvania,
District of Columbia,	Mississippi,	Rhode Island,
Florida,	Missouri,	South Carolina,
Georgia,	Montana,	Tennessee,
Idaho,	Nebraska,	Utah,
Illinois,	New Hampshire,	Vermont,
Kansas,	New Jersey,	Virginia,
Kentucky,	New York,	Washington,
Maine,	North Carolina,	Wisconsin,
Maryland,	North Dakota,	Wyoming.
Massachusetts,

while in the following states, either new laws or important amendments are considered necessary, unless legislation based upon the act herewith presented was passed at the legislative sessions of 1917, of which your committee is not aware:

Alabama,	Indiana,	Oklahoma,
Arizona,	Iowa,	Oregon,
California,	Louisiana,	South Dakota,
Colorado,	Nebraska,	Texas,
Delaware,	New Mexico,	West Virginia.

[Since the above report was prepared outlining the states having proper laws upon the subject, new laws have been passed in:

Alabama,	Louisiana,	South Dakota,
Delaware,	New Mexico,	Texas.
Iowa,	Oregon,

The laws in South Dakota and Iowa, however, have been characterized by the Statistical Division of the Children's Bureau as unsatisfactory. In addition to the above legislation, the laws have been modified in California, Indiana, Maryland, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. December 1, 1920.]

It will be remembered that at the National Conference in Washington in 1914, a resolution, introduced by Nathan William MacChesney of Illinois, was passed calling attention to the fact that this so-called Model State Law had been sent to certain legislatures with the statement that it had been endorsed by the Committee on Uniform State Laws of the American Bar Association and by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, when it had not, in fact, been so endorsed, calling attention to certain defects of the law, noticeably with reference to the question of illegitimate births, and requesting that the act should not be given further consideration because of such proposed endorsement until the National Conference had had further time for consideration of the act. A similar resolution was presented by Mr. MacChesney to and passed by the American Bar Association.

This action grew out of certain provisions of the act which necessarily made public the fact of the illegitimacy of children with great resulting hardship to the child without any adequate compensating benefit to the community. The chairman of this committee has discussed in full the objections to such provisions in the Model State Act in a pamphlet entitled, "Race Development by Legislation," printed by the State Charities Commission of Illinois, in the Institute Quarterly, Vol. IV, No. 2, where he quotes Mr. Victor Von Borosini in "The Problem of Illegitimacy in Europe," as found in his article in V Journal of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, 212:

"If the legal birth and baptism certificates could be modified so that by looking them over it would not appear immediately that the person was of illegitimate origin, much unnecessary sorrow, mental anguish and suffering could be avoided. The adopted person carrying the name of the adopting person would start in life without the serious handicap under which bastards suffer, and which frequently results in their moral breakdown, ending often in the penitentiary or in suicide."

As the result of the agitation carried on by the chairman of this committee, the Model State Act was amended in Illinois before passage so as to partially meet this criticism, and it was agreed by Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, the Secretary of the State Board of Health of Illinois, that certain additional amendments would be supported by the Board in order to completely meet this criticism.

The act passed in Illinois, instead of providing for certain specific information, provides that the certificate shall require at least the information required by the Standard Certificates of Births and Deaths prepared by the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce and Labor, and fails to protect the secrecy of the return thereby required, but still creates a public record on the question of legitimacy. The situation should be remedied.

The Minnesota Child Welfare Commission, as the result of correspondence had by the chairman of your committee with the chairman of that commission, Hon. Edward F. Waite, recommended to the legislature certain changes in their law based upon the act herewith submitted, particularly sections 18, 19, 21 and 23 with reference to illegitimate births, which recommendations were enacted into law (See Minnesota Statutes—Chap. 220—Laws of 1917). This endorsement of the correctness of our position on this subject is gratifying and encouraging.

The attention of the United States Bureau of the Census was also called by the chairman of your committee to the fact that the Model State Law fails to take into account Civil Service methods of appointment for registrars, the careful consideration of which question should be given in all states which maintain a Civil Service system for medical officers of any kind.

The Act as hereto attached incorporates certain amendments which fully safeguard against publicity on the part of the mother in the case of an illegitimate child, prevent any use of any such information by way of blackmail against the alleged father, and fully protect the illegitimate child against knowledge or publicity because of the official records upon such fact.

The superiority of the Model State Law, with the amendments incorporated by this committee, to any other legislation heretofore framed upon the question, is not all that it has to commend it to us. It shows the way for uniformity among the states, in which this Conference is particularly interested and statistics collected under this law and tabulated by the United States Census Bureau will give information that can be secured in no other way.

The interest of the legal profession in this movement, like that of the medical profession, on the ground of sanitary improvement is not based alone upon the professional interest of individual practitioners. It is true that an orderly and authentic system of records of births and deaths would greatly facilitate legal and judicial procedure in which certain evidence may be necessary, but the chief benefit will result to the people themselves, and not to any limited profession. The special interest of lawyers may be expected because they are in a position to appreciate more clearly than any other class of the community the disadvantages and financial losses that not infrequently result to individuals from the absence of proper legal records which the city or state in which they live has undertaken but failed to maintain. It is not so much the absence of laws as the presence of worthless or defective laws, incapable of satisfactory operation, that has been responsible for failure of registration throughout so large a part of the United States.

The Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of the Census, has also called attention to the fact, in a pamphlet issued by it on "Legal Importance of Registration of Births and Deaths," that,

"The present unfortunate condition of the United States as practically a no registration country, causing it to be classed with the interior of Africa and other uncivilized regions of the globe, from which no Vital Statistics (from the nation as a whole) are obtainable, cannot indefinitely continue. Although the Federal Government had endeavored to secure Vital Statistics in connection with the decennial Censuses of population since 1850, the method of attempting to enumerate births and deaths was necessarily a failure (and was entirely discontinued in the last census). Beginning in 1880, the registration records in certain states having fairly accurate systems of the immediate registrations of deaths with the provision of compulsory burial permits, were substituted for the enumerators' returns, and with the growth of efficient state laws and municipal ordinances, the registration area for deaths has increased until the present time."

While the action in the first effort to secure registration laws was largely confined to the registration of deaths, it soon became apparent that these laws should include as well the registration of births and since then the movement has pressed consideration of proper registration laws covering both subjects.

The fourth tentative draft herewith attached, of course, even though approved by the Conference, should, before being introduced in any legislature, be carefully reviewed by a competent lawyer in connection with other statutes on related topics, so to be sure that it properly adjusts itself to the administrative machinery provided in given state.

Your Committee in 1916 went over the third tentative draft in detail and recommended at the Conference in Chicago that final approval be given the act as then presented. Lack of time prevented the consideration of the report at that Conference. The fourth draft as now presented is the same as the third draft with certain changes in the language of section 23 to make its meaning clearer, with the addition of clauses in sections 7 and 14 relating to judgments as to paternity and of certain foot-notes calling attention to civil service provisions, and action in Minnesota based on the work of this committee.

This act has been endorsed in principle by the Conference, and the Chief of the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Miss Julia C. Lathrop, says it "seems to meet squarely the objection to the Massachusetts and New York form." We hope, therefore, that the Conference will adopt it without further delay.

The act has been submitted to all the members of the Committee, and is believed to meet with their approval in its present form. We urgently recommend that it be given final approval at this session.

1918 REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VITAL AND PENAL STATISTICS.

To the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

GENTLEMEN: Herewith we beg to present the report of the Committee on Vital and Penal Statistics. The Committee consists of: Nathan William MacChesney, Chicago, Chairman; Mark Sullivan, Jersey City, N. J.; Joseph F. O'Connell, Boston, Mass.; J. S. Sexton, Hazelhurst, Mississippi; Charles W. Smith, Topeka, Kansas; Bradner W. Lee, Los Angeles, California; Manley O. Hudson, Columbia, Missouri.

It has had submitted to it and carefully considered the report of the Committee made to the Twenty-seventh Annual Meeting of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws held at the Grand Union Hotel, Saratoga Springs, New York, in 1917 (which will be found preceding this report) together with the Fourth Tentative Draft included therein, and all of the members of the present committee adopt that report as their own and again present it as the report of the Committee to the present Conference, with the exception that one member of the Committee, Prof. Manley O. Hudson, while agreeing with the report, does not approve of the use of the expression "illegitimate child" and would substitute the expression "child born out of wedlock." He also objects to including in a certificate of birth any statement as to a child's legitimacy. But it is believed by the other members of the Committee that the certificate of birth provided for does not give any statement from which the child's legitimacy or illegitimacy can be determined. If there is any doubt about this in the minds of the Conference the other members of the Committee will agree to any amendment to prevent that result. They believe, however, that the provisions in Section 14, sub-paragraph 14, fully protect this matter. If it should be deemed necessary to change the draft in any way it would seem wise to require the name of the mother as provided for (in Section 14, sub-paragraph 14) to be given in every instance, leaving out the provisos and omitting altogether Section 14, sub-paragraph 8, providing for the name of the father. This would result in giving only the maiden name of the mother, and no inference could, therefor, be drawn with reference to the legitimacy or illegitimacy of the child from the married name of the mother, or of the name of the father.

As stated, all of the committee with the exception of Prof. Hudson approve of the report as presented last year and are not in favor of his suggested changes, one of them stating that the phrase suggested by him "born in or out of wedlock" seems to him to be very largely a play upon phrases; while another member of the committee states that he is very strongly opposed to the suggested changes and would feel obliged to oppose them if they were suggested and proposed at the Conference.

This report was ready for final adoption at the last meeting of the Conference, but because of the absence of the chairman of the Committee on active military duty was not considered. It is believed that never in the history of the country has an adequate Vital Statistics bill been so important and it is urged upon the members of the Conference that final action be taken upon the report herewith submitted, and that it be recommended to the Legislatures for adoption.

1920 REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VITAL AND PENAL STATISTICS.

To the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

GENTLEMEN: Herewith we beg to present the report of the Committee on Vital and Penal Statistics, including the Fourth Tentative Draft of an Act to provide for and make uniform the registration of all Births, Still Births, and Deaths, and to be cited as the "Uniform Vital Statistics Act."

This subject has been before the Conference since 1906, and the Committee respectfully refers the members of the Conference to its annual reports since that time, and more particularly to the reports of 1917 and 1918 for information as to the present status of the act. (These reports will be found preceding this report.)

This precise act has heretofore been considered section by section by the Conference and tentatively adopted by it at Washington in 1914, except certain amendments to Sections 14, 18, 19, 21, 23, and 24, for which purpose the act was referred to the Committee. These amendments were perfected and incorporated in the act which was then submitted as the Fourth Tentative Draft in 1917. The amendments had already been read to the Conference in 1916, however, and by motion duly passed approved in principle.

The Committee recommends therefore that the Conference consider the amended Sections and if approved adopt the act as a whole for recommendation to the various states for passage.

RESOLUTION

adopted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at St. Louis, Missouri, August 23, 1920:

Resolved, by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its Thirtieth Annual Conference, held at St. Louis, Missouri, August 19th to 24th, 1920, that the Uniform Vital Statistics Act be, and the same is hereby approved and adopted; and the act is now recommended to the legislatures of the various states, Territory of Alaska, District of Columbia, and insular possessions of the United States for enactment.

EUGENE A. GILMORE, Secretary,
University of Wisconsin, Madison.

The foregoing message from the Governor was received and ordered placed on file.

The House proceeding on the order of Resolutions, Mr. S. B. Turner offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 53.

WHEREAS, It is reported that there are representatives of the Klu-Klux Klan attempting to organize chapters or posts of that organization in various cities of the State of Illinois; and

WHEREAS, It is believed that the Klu-Klux Klan is an organization which operates in defiance of law and order and against the best interests and welfare of the people at large; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, That we condemn and deplore the attempt to organize posts of the Klu-Klux Klan in the State of Illinois, and urge all good citizens of the State in the interests of law and order and the welfare of our State, to do all in their power to discourage the operation of this organization in the State of Illinois.

And the resolution was adopted.

At the hour of 12:30 o'clock p. m., Mr. Holaday moved that the House do now take a recess until 2:00 o'clock p. m.

And the motion prevailed.

2:00 o'CLOCK P. M.

The Hour of 2:00 o'clock p. m., having arrived, the House resumed its session.

The Speaker in the chair.

The House proceeding on the order of House Bills on First Reading, House Bill No. 758, a bill for "An Act to amend section 17 of an Act entitled, 'An Act to create sanitary districts and to remove obstructions in the DesPlaines and Illinois Rivers,' approved May 29, 1889, in force July 1, 1889, as amended."

Was taken up, read at large a first time and ordered to a second reading.

House Bill No. 414, a bill for "An Act concerning railroads and to better protect the lives of the railway employees and the traveling public, and providing penalties for the violation thereof."

Was taken up, read at large a first time and ordered to a second reading.

House Bill No. 843, a bill for "An Act to amend section 4 of an Act entitled, 'An Act in relation to the construction and maintenance of rural post roads under and in accordance with an Act of Congress entitled, 'An Act to provide that the United States shall aid the states in the construction of rural post roads and for other purposes,' approved July 11, 1916, and known as the Federal Aid Road Act."

Was taken up, read at large a first time and ordered to a second reading.

The House again proceeding on the order of House Bills on Second Reading, House Bill No. 348, a bill for "An Act to amend section 189 of 'An Act to establish and maintain a system of free schools,' approved and in force June 12, 1909, as amended."

Having heretofore been read at large a second time, on June 7th, and consideration postponed, was again taken up.

And the pending question being the consideration of Amendment No. 1, offered by Mr. Castle, on June 7th.

The same was, by unanimous consent, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Amend House Bill No. 348 by inserting in line 1 of section 189 after the figures "189" and before the word "for" the following:

"For the purpose of establishing and supporting free schools for not fewer than seven months in each year and defraying all the expenses of the same of every description; for the purpose of building, repairing and improving school houses, or procuring school land, furniture, fuel, libraries and apparatus and for all other necessary incidental expenses in each district, village or city, having a population of two hundred thousand or more inhabitants, the directors, the board of education and the authorities of such district, village or city, as the case may be, shall be authorized to levy a tax annually upon all the taxable property of the district, village or city not to exceed, except as hereinafter stated, one and seven-tenths per cent for educational purposes and three-quarters of one per cent for building purposes and the purchase of school grounds, upon the valuation to be ascertained by the last assessment of State and county taxes: Provided, that any sum expended or obligations incurred for the improvement, repairs or benefit of school buildings and property shall be paid from that portion of the tax levied for building purposes and the purchase of school grounds: Provided, however, that if the directors or board of education in any such district, village or city shall desire to levy or cause to be levied in any one year more than one and seven-tenths per cent but not more than two and seven-tenths per cent for educational purposes and more than three-quarters of one per cent but not more than one per cent for building purposes and the purchase of school grounds, such directors or board of education may, by resolution stating the per cent so desired cause a proposition for an assent thereto to be submitted to the voters of such district, village or city at any general or special election, and if at such election a majority of the votes cast on said proposition shall be in favor thereof, the directors or board of education of such district village or city may thereafter until such authority is revoked in like manner, levy annually for educational purposes a tax in excess of one and seven-tenths per cent but not exceeding the per cent mentioned in said proposition, and a tax for building purposes and the purchase of school grounds, in excess of three-quarters of one per cent but not exceeding the per cent mentioned in said proposition for such purposes. Such propositions may be submitted at any time, and from time to time, to the voters of such district, village or city, at any such election at the instance of such directors or board of education; and such directors or board of education shall levy or cause to be levied no tax in excess of one and seven-tenths per cent for educational purposes, or in excess of three-quarters of one per cent for building purposes and the purchase of school grounds, that shall not be assented to by the voters of such district, village or city in such manner.

Provided, further, that the directors or board of education in any such district or city, which shall have adopted the provisions of an Act entitled, 'An Act to authorize boards of education and school directors to provide text books for the free use of the public schools, and to sell text books at cost to the pupils who desire to purchase them, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof,' approved June 28, 1919, in effect July 1, 1919, may levy or cause to be levied annually for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of said act, a tax of not more than eight cents on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of all the taxable property of said district or city, which tax shall be in addition to all other taxes herein authorized.

Mr. Young moved to lay the amendment on the table.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Murray, Secretary:

Mr. Speaker—I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolution, to-wit:

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 41.

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois has placed the City of Chicago in the Mississippi watershed in pursuance not only of its own statutes but also of the Acts of Congress of March 30, 1822, and March 2, 1827, the validity of which is not disputed; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of Illinois and the people of the Mississippi Valley States have long cherished plans for a deep waterway connecting Lake Michigan with the Gulf of Mexico thereby greatly improving transportation facilities and contributing to the prosperity of the entire Mississippi Valley; and

WHEREAS, In furtherance of these plans the people of the State of Illinois have heretofore voted in favor of the issuance of bonds in the sum of twenty million dollars for the improvement of the Desplaines and Illinois Rivers and the construction of a deep waterway from the Sanitary District Canal at Lockport to the Illinois River at Utica; and

WHEREAS, Work is now under construction and the present session of the Illinois General Assembly has re-appropriated the unexpended balance of said sum of twenty million dollars for the purpose indicated; and

WHEREAS, The success of the plan for a deep waterway depends entirely upon obtaining permission from the Federal Government to divert a sufficient amount of water from Lake Michigan to properly serve the purpose of such channel and without which such deep waterway is an utter impossibility; and

WHEREAS, The Sanitary District of Chicago has heretofore dredged the Chicago River from Lake Michigan to Robey Street, Chicago, and has constructed a channel 24 feet deep and 160 feet wide from Robey Street to Lockport to be used in carrying the sewage and drainage of the said Sanitary District of Chicago into the Desplaines River at Lockport, thus reversing the flow of water in the said Chicago River and diverting the sewage of the Sanitary District of Chicago from Lake Michigan; and

WHEREAS, The said Sanitary District canal constructed and paid for by the people of the Sanitary District of Chicago, together with the improvements of the Desplaines and Illinois Rivers between Lockport and Utica by the State of Illinois, form a necessary connecting link between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi River; and

WHEREAS, A diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan will contribute to the success of the Lakes to the Gulf waterway and is absolutely essential to reverse the runoff of water into the Chicago River and to cause said river and the sewage of said Sanitary District to at all times flow away from Lake Michigan, and to protect the lives and health of the more than three million inhabitants of said Sanitary District who are obliged to use Lake Michigan as their source of domestic water supply; and

WHEREAS, Neither the State of Illinois nor the Sanitary District of Chicago has been able to secure from the Secretary of War of the United States permission to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan, due to possible lack of authority and also because it has been and is claimed that diversion of water tends to lower the levels of the Great Lakes and to interfere with Commerce and navigation; and

WHEREAS, The Sanitary District of Chicago while asserting that no actual injury to commerce or navigation has resulted or will result from such diversion, nevertheless, stands ready, willing and able to pay the cost of building wiers or dams or other works designed to restrict the outflow of water from the Great Lakes and to regulate and maintain Lake levels, and thus to compensate for any injury to commerce or navigation which may be held to result from such diversion; and

WHEREAS, Authority to establish the amount of water which may be diverted from Lake Michigan at Chicago for purposes of sanitation and for the development of the Lakes to the Gulf waterway rests with the Congress of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The State of Illinois and the Sanitary District of Chicago are mutually interested in securing congressional action in this regard and in having the amount of water which may be diverted definitely fixed and established; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Illinois General Assembly, the Senate concurring herein, That a joint committee of ten be appointed, four members thereof to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, three members thereof to be appointed by the President of the Senate upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, and three persons to be appointed by the Governor for the purposes of co-operating with the Trustees of the Sanitary District of Chicago, and with the United States Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Illinois in presenting to the Congress of the United States the pressing necessity for congressional action authorizing a diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan at Chicago for the double purpose of protecting the waters of Lake Michigan from sewage pollution dangerous to the lives and health of over three million people who must use Lake Michigan's water for drinking purposes and also to make certain an adequate supply of water for navigation purposes between Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico when the connecting link between the Sanitary District Canal and the Illinois River has been completed;

Resolved, further, That the General Assembly proceed to make an appropriation in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00) for the necessary expenses of said committee.

Adopted June 9, 1921.

"An Act to create the Illinois Educational Commission, to define its powers and duties and to make an appropriation therefor."

The foregoing bill was placed on the order of Senate bills on third reading.

Mr. Sawyer, from the committee appointed under House Joint Resolution No. 7, substituted the following report, which was received and ordered placed on file:

Pursuant to House Joint Resolution No. 7, the undersigned committee was appointed to meet with a similar committee from the State of Indiana to study the effect of straightening and enlarging the channel of the Kankakee River from the Indiana-Illinois State line westward through the City of Momence, in reclaiming the marsh lands of the Kankakee River Valley, for agricultural purposes.

Your committee has held several meetings and has met with the committee from Indiana, and on one of these joint meetings made a trip by boat over the Kankakee River from Momence to a point about twenty miles east of the State line. After careful investigation of the conditions the following statements and recommendations are made:

From Momence eastward to its source the River runs through a broad plain varying in width from one to twenty miles, has an almost uniform slope from its source to Momence of about 1.3 feet per mile. The bed of the river is generally of sand and fine gravel, and the banks are very low. The soil bordering the River is generally dark sandy loam and the stream bordered by a timber belt, in some instances as much as one mile in width. The water, even with the present cultivation is remarkably clear and pure in low water season and is said to carry iron and possibly other mineral substances in solution, which gives it valuable tonic properties and it was once valuable for domestic purposes.

The stream has always been considered a navigable river. The Federal Government has made several studies looking to its improvement for navigation purposes. In 1879 Major Smith examined the stream, making the reconnoissance in a small steamer and said in his report: "The greater portion of the distance of 120 miles which I went over, had a depth of five or more feet, but I found no case where it was less than two feet, and but a few as low as three feet." In his report he recommended the improvement of the river for navigation purposes for a distance of 150 miles from its mouth, reaching almost to South Bend, Indiana. Since that date the State of Indiana has been employed in straightening of the river in an effort to reclaim the marsh lands. They began in the early 80's about 75 miles east of the State line and have progressed westward until they have now reached a distance about six miles east of the State line. Contract has been let and work is in progress for completing the last reach of this improvement within the State of Indiana.

As a result of these changed conditions the river carries a greater amount of silt and sand especially in flood stages and the cultivation of the soil adjacent adds to this burden of soil matter which finally is deposited in the lower reaches of the river not improved. Various engineers who have studied this situation since about 1880 are unanimous in the statement that the improvements have caused the growth of weeds and aquatic plants from Momence westward and this condition is creating islands which may be a menace in creating ice gorges, and that the floods may be increased when the final improvements are completed. The citizens of Momence are complaining bitterly because of the creation of a marshy condition in front of their city. Because of the unusually pure water, the navigability of the stream for small boats, good fishing, and the abundance of timber and camping ground, the stream has become attractive as a summer resort all along the banks from the State line westward for 12 or 15 miles. This is the condition in which we find the stream at this date. The improvements now in progress will have some further damaging effect on the low lying properties within Illinois and to the camping and fishing industries above mentioned, unless said improvements are made in the manner as hereinafter set forth in this report.

The interested land owners in Indiana desire to have the River Improvements carried westward from the State line to Momence and the surface of the river lowered to about five feet at the State line, decreasing the present elevation at Momence.

Material benefits will accrue to from 15,000 to 18,000 acres of land in Illinois from the Indiana-Illinois State line westward; but the cost of assessing benefits to these Illinois lands would be excessive, if not prohibitive.

It is well to consider that in the Momence-Yellowhead Drainage District comprising about 7000 acres, $90,000 to $100,000 has been spent by land owners alone, and $65,000 to $70,000 by land owners in the Momence-Pembroke Drainage District in providing drainage outlets for their said lands.

The River work contemplated by Indiana west from the State line to Momence is necessary to more completely drain these lands in question.

If, under the laws of Illinois, State aid could be given in this River improvement, it would be a public benefit in having reclaimed valuable farm lands, the soil of which is mostly brown silt loam and very productive.

The State of Indiana is ready and willing to bear a large share of the expense of this river work. The proposed improvement of the river west of the State line will not benefit any of the agricultural lands in Illinois unless the improvement is carried well down to Momence. The Singleton Ditch empties into the River in the SW $\frac{1}{4}$ of Section 16, nearly five miles west of the State line. The work proposed by the Indiana people terminates above the mouth of the ditch. In order to benefit Illinois property, excavation must be made at the Momence line in Section 17 and possibly to a certain extent in Section 18.

Certain owners of cottages along the river in Illinois east of Momence object to a part of the proposed improvement on the ground that their property would be damaged by the straightening and deepening of the River. This could be obviated by a competent engineer so locating the work as not to seriously interfere with their property.

The rock ledge in the River east of Momence should by all means be removed.

Obstructions in the channel of the river at the point where the C. T. & S. E. R. crosses said river should be removed.

The North channel of the Kankakee River through the City of Momence should be cleaned.

We, therefore, recommend and suggest that no further legislation is necessary at this time in aid of the improvement outlined as there is no constitutional authority warranting any action by the legislature.

If the interested land owners of the Kankakee River valley in Illinois and Indiana can agree as to the improvements of the river within the State of Illinois, as suggested in this report, that said work should be conducted under the sanction and by direction of the Director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings.

We append hereto engineer's report to Mr. W. L. Sackett, Superintendent of Waterways, together with maps and data.

Springfield, Illinois, June 7, 1921.

Respectfully submitted,

C. B. SAWYER, Representative,

CHARLES A. GREGORY, Representative,

RICHARD R. MEENTS, Senator,

Mr. W. L. Sackett, Superintendent of Waterways.

Subject: Kankakee River-Momence.

Dear Sir: Pursuant to your oral instructions and in company with L. D. Cornish, Asst. Chief Engineer, I went to Kankakee on April 22, and on April 23 accompanied the Illinois Legislative Committee and a delegation from the Kankakee drainage interests on an inspection of the Kankakee River between Momence and Water Valley, Indiana, about 15 miles East of the State Line, and beg to report as follows:

Present Status of Drainage Work. The deepening and straightening of the Kankakee River in Indiana to drain the adjacent swamp lands has been under way for years and is now completed to a point about seven miles east of the Indiana, Illinois State Line. A contract has been let for dredging the remaining seven miles to the State Line and it is expected that this work will be completed by 1923.

In order to complete the drainage plans of the Indiana interests, they desire to have the dredging operations continued to a point about two miles west of the State Line and to have removed certain shoals between that point and Momence. The location of this proposed work is shown on the accompanying map.

Effect upon the flow of the Kankakee River. The dredging which has been done has materially shortened the length of the upper river, increased the slope and sediment carrying capacity of the River and has resulted in heavy deposits of sand and silt at various places in the river west of the State line. Many new islands are being formed from the State Line to about five miles below Momence, first by deposits of sand, then by the lodging of trees and stumps released by the dredging operations above. Willows will soon start on these newly formed islands and as their surface is but a few feet above low water, they form good places for lodgment of ice which may form gorges that will do damage to the adjacent district.

The drainage work in Indiana has resulted in a material lowering of the water table in the valley lands which are largely of sand formation. Such formation acts like an immense sponge to quickly absorb heavy rains and give off the ground waters gradually thus producing a more uniform flow of the river. The effect is to reduce the heights of usual floods and to lower the low water level in the summer. The former is advantageous to all interests, but the extreme low water is very objectionable to the people of Momence, summer resort residents and campers along the river. Lowering the low water level also lessens the value of water power interests on the Kankakee River below Momence and depreciates the value of water power interest on the Illinois River, and in like measure lessens the value of the river from a navigation standpoint. In the event of a heavy rain storm occurring at the time when the ground is covered with snow and partly frozen or when the ground is completely saturated with water, the run off will be greatly increased by the proposed work. At the time of such rain falls on the upper Kankakee, Indiana waters would quickly reach the State line and cause increased high water and damaging floods at and beyond Momence.

The extreme low water due to the Indiana drainage improvement is the cause of much dissatisfaction and alarm to the people of Momence. One arm of the river through the town is filling up and becoming swampy along the shores.

Effect Upon Property of Proposed Work in Illinois. The proposed improvement of the river west of the State line will not benefit any of the agricultural lands of Illinois unless the improvement is carried well down to Momence. The Singleton ditch empties into the river in the SW $\frac{1}{4}$ of section 16, nearly five miles west of the State Line. The work as proposed by the Indiana people terminates above the mouth of the ditch. In order to benefit Illinois property, excavation must be made at the Momence line in Section 17 and possibly to a certain extent in Section 18. If such excavation is made, a slight benefit might accrue to about 7,000 acres of agricultural lands north of the river. Pleasure resort owners would be benefited because of lower high water conditions, but will be damaged because of lower low water conditions.

That the Indiana Drainage improvements would damage the river from Momence to the State Line was clearly foreseen by John J. Campbell, the engineer, who in 1883 made a report to the Governor of Indiana, in which he said:

"The increased velocity of the straightened channel above will carry down large quantities of soil and sand for which a free outlet must be provided by opening a way through the rocky ledge (Momence).

Even now the improvements in the Beaver Lake region have increased the growth of grasses and weeds in the river at Momence, and this will be further increased to a very damaging degree, unless this free outlet is provided."

The United States Engineers office made an investigation of this stream from the standpoint of navigation in 1915, and on November 4 of that year Colonel Judson reported on the subject, in which he says: "As a matter of fact the drainage of the Kankakee marshes through the elimination of the reservoir action, would tend to more rapid and uneven run-off. This in turn would increase flood height and lower water stages, however slightly, upon the Illinois River, which is under improvement and now used for navigation. These effects upon the regimen of the Illinois River would, although in but a slight degree, be detrimental to navigation."

In 1919 the engineering firm of Pearse & Greeley reporting on the proposed drainage of English Lake, just below the mouth of the Yellow River tributary to the Kankakee, reached the conclusion that the drainage of this lake would increase the floods at Momence from about 4000 c. f. s. to 19,700 c. f. s. The average of annual floods is expected to increase from about 3 to 4 c. f. s. per square mile." In other words, these engineers estimated the floods will be increased from three to four fold. Pearse & Greeley's report is predicted on the heavy rain fall occurring at the time the ground is fully saturated. Not only will the floods occurring at time of complete saturation be increased, but these floods will bring down large deposits of sand and silt which will create islands and otherwise damage the stream below the State Line. A map of the Kankakee River from the State Line to Momence is submitted herewith, on which is shown in orange the work proposed by the Indiana interests. There are also shown on this map the various camping grounds along the river. The completion of this work will probably lower the low water stage at the State Line some four or five feet, the lowering decreasing to zero at the lower limits of their proposed work. In some instances this low water would make the stream unnavigable in front of the resort camps, which is especially true in Sections 13, 19 and 24.

A survey has been made of all the camping interests between the State Line and Momence, which survey shows a valuation of approximately $200,000.00. While this property would not be entirely destroyed, very large damage would certainly result from the proposed lowering. No careful survey has been made to determine accurately the cost of the proposed improvements, but from the information available the following estimate is made:

Earth excavations, 320,000 cu. yds. at 15c.....	$ 50,000.00
Rock excavation, 40,000 cu. yds. at $2.50.....	100,000.00
Total	$150,000.00

This estimate is conditioned upon the work being done by the dredge now at work in the vicinity. If the work is postponed until the dredge has been removed, the cost will be increased. I am inclined to think that if the work is to be carried out, an additional amount of excavation would be required. Probably a complete survey would show that it will be advisable to lower the bed of the river from one to two feet below that proposed by the Indiana interests.

Conclusions: The work of drainage in Indiana is a direct damage to interests in Illinois. The amount of such damage is difficult to determine. Part of this damage has already accrued and will increase as dredging operations approach the State Line. Probably the damage to the camps between Momence and the State Line will not exceed $50,000, if the work is completed as planned. The greatest damage is likely to occur during the spring floods, at which time the highest water may be greatly in excess of that in the past, and also from the deposit of sand and the formation of new islands.

None of the work of improving the stream is of sufficient benefit to Illinois interests to warrant its undertaking or to warrant the State of Illinois in spending any money in its aid.

Yours truly,

M. G. BARNES, Chief Engineer.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—The Governor directs me to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 13, 1921.

Gentlemen of the Fifty-second General Assembly:

I am in receipt of a letter from the Honorable John P. Devine, one of your members, in which, among other things, he assures me of his personal desire, and of the desire of "the Democratic members of the House" to cooperate with this Administration in every way possible to secure economy in the administration of state affairs.

In closing, Mr. Devine asks that I transmit to your Honorable Body any suggestions which I may have concerning appropriations, and writes:

"In transmitting to the General Assembly your specific requests for reduction of appropriations we, also, wish to have your recommendations as to the amount of the State Distributive School Fund.

"We will greatly appreciate an official message advising the Assembly of your position in these matters."

The subject of appropriations is most vital in these, the closing days of the General Assembly. I have written Mr. Devine, acknowledging receipt of his communication and replying thereto. My views on the subject of appropriations are fully set forth in that reply. I know of no better way to present them to your Honorable Body than to append herewith, as a part of this official message, a copy of that reply, as follows:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 13, 1921.

Honorable John P. Devine, House of Representatives, Springfield, Illinois.

My dear Sir: I desire to acknowledge receipt of your letter of June 10, and to reply as follows:

In the first place you misquote my statement on the general subject of appropriations given to the press on the evening of June 9 when you say I stated:

"This legislature is running wild on appropriations." I do not believe, of course, that you would wilfully misquote me, but in order that your misinformation may be corrected, permit me to offer for your earnest consideration a correct copy of my statement to which you refer as follows:

"In my inaugural address to the General Assembly, I said: 'We should not forget that every dollar taken from the State Treasury comes from the pockets of the taxpayers, most of whom have to toil for a livelihood. These funds are trust funds and it is our duty as elected officials, to guard against waste and extravagance in the expenditure of the Peoples' money. I trust that the General Assembly will exercise care in making appropriations, and I believe you will. I, on my part, shall endeavor to see that every dollar appropriated will secure a dollar's worth of service.'

"I called directors and division heads together today for the purpose of reiterating that statement. And I urged most emphatically that they do everything in their power to keep demands for operating expenses of the state to the lowest possible minimum. I believe the People expect the same economy from the General Assembly.

"Extraordinary demands for increased appropriations are coming to the General Assembly from practically every section of the state. These demands must be scaled to the lowest possible minimum in keeping with the actual needs of state government, and the general welfare of the People.

"To state officials this morning, I called attention to the fact that the appropriations in the omnibus bill two years ago were $28,000,000. The budget estimates for the omnibus bill of 1921, submitted last December by the outgoing Administration, called for an increase of $3,000,000, or a total of $31,000,000.

"The request for appropriations in the present omnibus bill, however, called for a total of $38,000,000, or an increase over the December figure of $7,000,000.

"We must get back to the approximate figures of the budget.

"We are confronted with a most serious situation. The demand for increased appropriations, as I have said before, comes from practically every section of the state and every class of people.

"The General Assembly is being asked for a $20,000,000 per year school distributable fund. Two years ago it was but $6,000,000. The Senate has scaled this proposed appropriation some, but still comes the demand for the full appropriation of $20,000,000. And on all sides, from practically all boards and classes supported by the taxpayer, comes the demand for greatly increased additional appropriations.

"A halt must be called. There is a limit to the amount of taxes the People can pay. Economy must be practiced. The tax payer must be protected. Economic conditions not only warrant but demand retrenchment.

"Prices are tumbling. The farmer who a year ago paid his taxes with one load of corn, would now be compelled to haul three loads to market to pay his taxes if appropriations were not increased one penny. And the loads of corn he must exchange for a receipted tax bill will be increased in direct proportion to the increase made in appropriations.

"The cost of living is being greatly reduced. Economy must be the watchword in the closing days of this General Assembly, and I trust that the legislature will give every protection within its power to the taxpayers whom it represents."

You will note that nowhere in my statement to the press, did I say, as you quote in your letter:

"This legislature is running wild on appropriations."

May I not here refer to the following extract from your letter addressed to me, reading as follows:

"Appreciating the fact that taxes are too high, the Democratic members of the House are desirous of cooperating with you to eliminate all increases of salaries and each and every item in the Omnibus Bill not absolutely necessary. * * *"

I appreciate your expression of the desire of Democratic members of the House who follow your leadership to cooperate with me in the prosecution of my desire that all departments of the State government practice economy in the administration of State affairs. I assume, naturally, that you are sincere in this statement.

But the practical means of attaining that much to be desired end, Mr. Devine, would be for you, and your followers, who are willing to put an economic program into effect to cooperate with other members of the General Assembly, the great majority of whom, I am confident, are anxious to protect the taxpayer.

Our constitution very specifically defines the duties and the responsibilities of the legislative and executive departments.

It is the function of the General Assembly alone to make appropriations, Section 18, Article 4, reading:

"Each General Assembly shall provide for all the appropriations necessary for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session."

With the power, the duties, and the responsibilities of the Executive Department, you, of course, are familiar. That fundamental principle of American government, as recognized by the Federal and all state constitutions which prevents the encroachment of the Executive Department on the legislative, in the making of appropriations, or in any of its other duties, is very clearly set forth in Article III of our constitution, as follows:

The powers of the government of this State are divided into three distinct departments,—the legislative, executive and judicial; and no person or collection of persons, being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others."

I could not, therefore, even if I wished, Mr. Devine, interfere with the responsibilities of the General Assembly in the making of appropriations.

As a result, and in reply to your request for suggestions from me as to my desires in these matters, permit me to say that it is my hope, as expressed in my inaugural message that the General Assembly "will exercise care in making appropriations, and I believe you will."

I urge most earnestly the practice of economy, and the protection in every way of the tax payer. As I said in my statement to the press, and to which you refer:

"I trust that the legislature will give every protection within its power to the taxpayers whom it represents."

I hope that I have made my desire for economy in the matter of appropriations plain, and I sincerely trust that you will cooperate with that body of fellow legislators, which I am sure is in the great majority, in the effort to conserve the interests of all the People of our great State.

I beg to remain, sir, very sincerely,

The above letter, I think, very frankly expresses my hopes as to the action which your Honorable Body will take in the matter of appropriations. As I said in my statement to the press some days ago, and as I repeat in my letter to Mr. Devine:

"We must get back to the approximate figures of the budget."

You are, now, in the Omnibus bill as it is before you in the House, practically back to the figures of the budget.

At the time of my statement to the press, the Chairmen of the appropriations committees had in their possession requests for many millions of dollars which have been eliminated and are not in the measure as it is before you now.

The present bill does contain increases over the budget, but they consist, chiefly, in $4,000,000 in the School Distributive Fund; $2,000,000 for retirement of waterway bonds and payment of interest; $1,000,000 for payment of interest on state road bonds, to be used only in case the bonds are issued and sold; and appropriations for new activities for which you have provided, or for which it was thought you would provide before the end of the session.

Referring to the request of Mr. Devine for my recommendation "as to the amount of the State Distributive School Fund", permit me to call the attention of the General Assembly to the following facts:

You are face to face with unusual demands for appropriations. You have inherited from predecessors a number of unfinished projects, including the new penitentiary at Joliet, the Centennial Memorial building and the Central Group Hospital at Chicago, all of which are now in process of construction.

If work on them is not to be abandoned you are face to face with the necessity of appropriating for them a sum approximating $4,000,000, a sum which alone will increase the State tax rate ten cents. You have already appropriated $914,500 of this sum for the Centennial Building.

In view of this unavoidable drain on our resources, and its accompanying necessity for increased taxes, and the general condition of business in Illinois, we should be extremely careful in adding an unusual and unreasonable percentage of increases in the cost of existing activities of the State.

I feel compelled to say to you in all frankness, and I say it only because I think justice to all taxpayers of the State demands it, that in my judgment it would be a mistake in view of these conditions to appropriate for education alone twice the amount of our present total State tax.

I appreciate, I believe, as well as any other man in this State, the advantages of education. But there is a limit, beyond which the people cannot go, in the paying of taxes, even for educational purposes.

I am not advocating, in any manner, a decrease in the sum of moneys which the State of Illinois should pay for the education of its youths, for the salaries of its teachers, or for the development of its educational institutions. We realize that you must appropriate more funds than heretofore; we must do everything within our power to pay just and living wages.

But, I do urge upon you, and the people of our whole State, as well, sound business judgment and saneness.

The requests now being made of your Honorable Body for distributive school funds—for the biennial period—amounts to $40,000,000; for the University of Illinois nearly $11,000,000; for normal schools $3,000,000, and, with additions for other educational purposes, a total of $55,000,000.

This would require an annual State tax rate of approximately seventy cents, for educational purposes alone, or thirty cents more than the entire State tax rate of the past year for all State activities.

And so, answering the request for my views upon the amount of the school distributive fund, permit me to say:

In view of the rapidly decreasing values of farm products, and a general tendency toward decreased wages; a regrettable business depression; the financial condition of our people and of our State, and the increasing purchasing power of the dollar, it seems that an increase of thirty-three and one-third per cent, or one-third, over the appropriations of the last legislature for educational purposes is liberal.

The budget for 1921, prepared by the outgoing administration, proposed a distributive fund of $6,000,000 per year, the same figures used by the General Assembly in its appropriations two years ago. The omnibus bill, now under consideration in the House, recommends a fund of $8,000,000 per year, or thirty-three and one-third per cent increase over the fund of two years ago. This is a most substantial increase.

I realize that the responsibility for appropriations, as cited in those paragraphs of the Constitution quoted in my letter to Mr. Devine, rests solely with your honorable body. The expression of my personal views is only in answer to the request for them.

I have every confidence that you will meet your responsibility fearlessly in your effort to protect the taxpayers of Illinois and promote the welfare of the whole State.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN, SMALL, Governor.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 55.

WHEREAS, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, occupying the exalted and influential position as head of the American Navy, has been so forgetful of his duty to America and to loyal American citizens, as to betray and humiliate his fellow citizens in an address before a club of Englishmen and expatriated Americans in London, and

WHEREAS, Carried away by the flattery and plaudits of his British guests, to whom he is kin by blood and birth, and for the time being losing sight of the great honors given him by the American people, he had the affrontry to characterize a great group of loyal Americans as "jackasses" in their zeal for America and against the encroachment of British influences that are trying to weaken our loyalty, as they apparently have shattered his, and,

WHEREAS, The purpose of the club before which this American Naval officer, in the service and on leave, gave such affront to his more loyal compatriots, has for its purpose the subjugation of the spirit of true independent Americanism to the wholly false and fictitious doctrine of an English Speaking Union, and

WHEREAS, The statements contumely heaped by this British born and British worshipping official, will tend to further strengthen the belief of the members of the club that toadyism is rampant, and independent loyalty decadent in the United States, and,

WHEREAS, This same official has in the past at various times committed grave breaches, among which the following are illustrations:

On December 3, 1910, the then Commander Sims of the Minnesota, at a banquet in London, without authority and against the policy of American diplomacy, declared that in case of war America would stand with Britain "to the last drop of blood." This statement brought a deserved rebuke from President Taft.

In 1919 he declined to accept the Distinguished Service Medal from the United States, but did take the Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George from the King of England, thereby showing his preference for British honors, and

WHEREAS, His whole attitude in the past and in the recent controversy has been such as to belittle America in the eyes of England and the entire world, and give to potential enemies the belief that we are a divided and not a united people, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Illinois General Assembly. That it is the belief and wish of its members, who believe that such conduct on the part of a representative of the United States is detrimental to the interest of our country and an affront to the loyalty and intelligence of our citizenry, that the Secretary of the Navy should at the earliest possible moment bring Rear Admiral Sims to trial, and if it be proven that he made the statements credited to him that he be censured for his conduct and dismissed from his rank as rear admiral; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Secretary of the Navy Denby, and to the Naval Affairs Committee of the Senate, and to members of the United States Senate from this commonwealth.

Unanimous consent being refused, Mr. O'Grady moved to suspend the rules for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

Mr. Speaker—I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 35.

WHEREAS, The producers of rolled steel products, which are basic to our industrial life, have established and do maintain an artificial price adjustment known as the "Pittsburg Plus" System, which compels the manufacturers of finished steel products to pay excessive prices on their raw products; and

WHEREAS, The said price adjustment includes a fictitious freight cost which in fact is not incurred for actual transportation; and

WHEREAS, The said Pittsburg Plus System has served to restrain the development of the manufacturing of steel products in the West, and has served to retard the growth of competition in this important industry, which works an unjust hardship on the manufacturers of this State, and also on the agricultural interests, which are among the largest consumers of iron and steel products; now therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the facts and conditions in relation to such "Pittsburg Plus" practice are such as to warrant an order from the Federal Trade Commission, directing that the said practice shall cease; and be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the State of Illinois be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to intervene in the proceedings now pending before the Federal Trade Commission and such further proceedings as may hereafter follow with respect to such trade practice, and to represent and protect the interests of the people of the State of Illinois; and be it further

WHEREAS, In the past, the several agricultural associations and combinations of consumers in this State have purchased for the use of their members, farm tools, fruits, fertilizers, sugars, coal, and other commodities in carload lots and have made distribution of such products from the car, thereby materially reducing to the consumers the price of warehousing and handling charges; and

WHEREAS, Notice has been given the associations and others by the railroad companies that in the future, delivery would be made only to the consignee and that no distribution to association members would be permitted on the property of the railroad companies; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of Illinois, The House of Representatives concurring therein, That there is created a committee of five members, two members of the Senate, appointed by the Senate, two members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker, and one agricultural advisor, to be named by the Governor. This committee shall investigate all conditions relating to such shipments, delivery and distribution of commodities to agricultural associations, and combinations of consumers and any and all orders issued by railroad companies relating thereto. It shall also ascertain under what authority, if any, such orders forbidding distribution of such commodities on railroad property was issued. The committee is further authorized to call upon the Attorney General of the State for legal counsel in the premises, and it may, in its discretion, request the Attorney General to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission, a petition seeking relief against orders interfering with the convenient distribution of shipments to agricultural associations.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

My attention has been called to a serious charge made on the floor of the House of Representatives against an employe of the State, the charge being that said employe had urged support for certain measures by unlawful representations.

I desire to inform the members of the House that I have not authorized any person or employee connected with the State government to make any pledge or promise for any vote for or against any measure before the Legislature, and shall make a searching inquiry into the charge made against the employee referred to, and shall direct such action as the facts and justice warrant for the honor and dignity of the State of Illinois.

I beg further to advise the members of the House, as Governor of this State, that I will not permit any person, no matter who he may be, to continue in the service of the State who has been guilty of any wrongful act.

I trust that in voting on pending measures, members of the Legislature will not allow themselves to be influenced by any issue other than the question of how such legislation will affect the welfare of the people of the State; and that they will be guided in casting their votes solely by the merits of the measure before them.

Respectfully submitted,

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—The Governor directs me to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 16, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

The unusual increase in prices, caused by the World War, have unquestionably necessitated proportionate increases in appropriations, not only for our charitable and other State institutions, but for all the activities of the State.

The additional taxation necessitated by these increased appropriations will fall with crushing force on the farmer, the small home owner, and the taxpayer of moderate means, who do not conceal that portion of worldly goods which they have been able through patient industry to accumulate.

I deem it my duty at this time to bring to the attention of your Honorable Body the opportunity which you now have to raise additional revenue and insure a reduction of the present high tax rates. This can be done through the enactment of legislation to place on the tax rolls millions upon millions of taxable property heretofore concealed by rich tax dodgers who systematically evade payment of their just share of the expenses of this government under which they accumulated their riches.

While it is perhaps impossible at this time to accomplish all that should be done to remedy the situation which confronts us, I am satisfied that Senate Bill No. 472, conferring added powers on the State Tax Commission, which has passed the Senate, and is now pending in the House, would be a step in the right direction.

Without added authority, the State Tax Commission will be powerless to uncover great stores of wealth which are now and for years have been successfully concealed from our local taxing bodies; and unless the General Assembly clothes the State Tax Commission with this power there can be no reduction of tax rates and the burden of taxation will continue to fall on those least able to bear it, among whom are the small land and home owners and the taxpayers of moderate means.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor.

The foregoing message from the Governor was received and ordered placed on file.

A. G. MURRAY, Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. Smejkal moved that the House non-concur with the Senate in the adoption of their amendments to House Bill No. 865.

Whereupon, Mr. Castle moved as a substitute that the House concur with the Senate in the adoption of Amendment No. 1 and non-concur in the adoption of the other amendments.

The Speaker ruled the substitute motion out of order for the reason that the amendments, reported to the House in the Senate Message must be adopted or rejected in their entirety, and for the further reason that such action has been the established precedent of the General Assembly in previous sessions.

The question then being on the motion of Mr. Smejkal to non-concur, it was decided in the affirmative.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Green, from the Committee to Visit Charitable Institutions, submitted the following report, which was received and ordered placed on file:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House: As chairman of the committee appointed to visit charitable institutions, after visiting every charitable institution in the State, accompanied by a clerk, beg leave to offer the following report, and move its adoption:

SOLDIERS' ORPHANS HOME.

The home for orphans at Normal was caring for about 475 children. The cottages were a little crowded, as some were caring for as many as 16 children in one cottage. Some of the buildings were in fair condition, and others were not so good.

Seemingly, the home was being used not only for soldiers' orphans, but for other dependents as well.

This home, as it is being used for the education of future citizens, should receive all consideration.

SOLDIERS' HOME AT QUINCY.

The cottages at the home at Quincy were in very good condition, the soldiers are very well contented, and enjoy the pleasures the place offers, very much. The institution takes care of about 1,235 soldiers.

The soldiers' widows home is located at Wilmington. It accommodates only one hundred widows, but was found to be a very home-like place. The freedom and help which is allowed them is appreciated very much.

STATE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

The State school for the blind cares for about 230 children. The educational training for the blind as well as the deaf was particularly adapted to the children as they were taught the vocation in which they seem talented or wish to follow.

STATE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

The State school for the blind cares for about 230 children. The educational training for the blind as well as for the deaf was particularly adapted to the children as they were taught the vocation in which they seem talented or wish to follow.

INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR THE BLIND.

The industrial home for the blind is located in Chicago, and is caring for the helpless blind, as well as those who are able to work.

The making of brooms was the most noticeable occupation which was being carried on there. The brooms are made and sold there. Although the work of these people is not what it would be if they were not blind, it is remarkable and all help should be given this institution that can be given.

ILLINOIS CHARITABLE EYE AND EAR INFIRMARY.

The Eye and Ear Infirmary in Chicago had 100 patients besides a number of outsiders coming in for daily treatment. The hospital kept 12 nurses and 9 attendants.

We were informed that 90 per cent of the eye and ear operations and treatments were successful.

The condition of the hospital was very poor and needs repairing.

STATE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The State Training School for Girls is located at Geneva. About 475 girls are being cared for. They are given full attention. The health conditions are excellent.

ST. CHARLES SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

The St. Charles school for boys is caring for about 900 boys. The boys are given a common school education. One-half of the day is spent in school, and the other half is spent working in the fields. They farm 917 acres. With the excellent care the boys receive they should become useful citizens.

THE DUNING HOSPITAL.

The Duning Hospital is located near Chicago, and is somewhat overcrowded. At the time it was inspected it contained 3,482 patients, which were attended by 450 employees. About 240 acres of land is owned by the State for the institution.

DIXON STATE COLONY.

The institution at Dixon is a new one, and on account of the high cost of material and labor, it is not yet finished, but it promises to be a good institution. It has been a great help to the Lincoln colony, as quite a few have been removed from there to Dixon. This institution owns 1,057 acres of land.

KANKAKEE STATE HOSPITAL.

The Kankakee hospital had 3,300 inmates and some 200 on parole.

The buildings were found in very good condition, as lately several have been remodeled.

Two buildings are now being remodeled for the Hydro-Thermal department. The safety devices have abolished all cause for danger to the patients.

PEORIA STATE HOSPITAL.

The Peoria hospital was found in a very good condition. The institution takes care of about 2,097 inmates. The land belonging to the institution being farmed, thereby supplying part of the provisions.

LINCOLN STATE SCHOOL AND COLONY.

The Lincoln institution is occupied by the feeble-minded. Although somewhat over-crowded, the conditions are better than in the past, as some of the patients have been removed to the Dixon colony. About 2,050 patients are now being taken care of at this institution.

WATERTOWN STATE HOSPITAL.

The Watertown hospital was in fair condition. Some buildings have been in bad condition, but are being remodeled. The kitchen being in bad condition, was being moved away. This institution handles about 160 patients.

JACKSONVILLE STATE HOSPITAL.

The Jacksonville hospital is in good condition. It is a large institution, caring for about 3,500 patients. The recreation and amusement is remarkable. The grounds were in good condition.

The dairy herd was composed of 70 head of cows and 44 head of calves. The year's supply for 1920 was 594,000 pounds of milk and 8,570 pounds of beef.

CHESTER STATE HOSPITAL.

The conditions of the Chester hospital were fair. On the farm were 20 cows, giving 300 pounds of milk daily. The institution has about 160 inmates.

ALTON STATE HOSPITAL.

The Alton hospital has 1,170 patients. The conditions of the institution were good. The dairy was composed of 60 cows, and the milk supply was 700 pounds daily.

The institution being new and unfinished, needs more equipment.

ANNA STATE HOSPITAL.

This institutions has about 1,700 inmates, and about 260 employees. The dairy herd consisted of 65 cows, and the daily milk supply was over 700 pounds.

The conditions of the average institutions is very good, although it could be improved.

The poultry, gardens and dairy herds are a great help and an addition of farm land would be a great benefit to some of the institutions.

There is a generous amount of milk being produced in these various institutions, and given to the patients.

ELGIN STATE HOSPITAL.

The Elgin hospital was in good condition, and about 2,200 patients were being taken care of, and 510 acres of land owned by the institution.

WHEREAS, The United States Congress, by Act H. R. 17645, approved September 8, 1916, granted an appropriation for the National Memorial Reunion and Peace Jubilee of the Union and Confederate Civil War Veterans, held in Vicksburg National Military Park October, 1917, of which said appropriation an unexpected surplus remained, which was by Act H. R. 5227, approved July 11, 1919, reapportioned to be used in the erection of a Memorial Archway at the intersection of Clay street, extended, in the city of Vicksburg, within the bounds of Vicksburg National Military Park, in commemoration of the participators and defenders in the siege of Vicksburg fortifications, who sacrificed their lives there; and, especially, memorializing the remarkable success and sacred incidents of that Reunion and Peace Jubilee of October, 1917; and

WHEREAS, The said archway is now completed in imperishable granite on its chosen site, though without any knowledge of pre-arranged plans that, if carried out, will seriously militate against the sacred purposes of the Arch; the rich perspective of surrounding vistas emphasizes the simplicity with hallowed dignity of honor and patriotism sanctifies the purposes of the reunion of the Union and Confederate Civil War Veterans.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 44.

WHEREAS, On account of and by reason of the death of William E. Mason, a representative at large from the State of Illinois in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, a vacancy exists in the representation of the State of Illinois in the said House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Illinois General Assembly, the Senate concurring therein, That the Governor of the State of Illinois be and he is hereby empowered to make a temporary appointment to fill the said vacancy now existing in the representation of the State of Illinois in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, until the people fill said vacancy by election.

And the resolution was adopted.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof and ask their concurrence therein.

Mr. Devine, from the committee appointed under Senate Joint Resolution No. 9, submitted the following report:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED UNDER SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 9 OF THE FIFTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

To the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Fifty-second General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Joint Resolution No. 9, the Committee created thereby submits the following report:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 9 was adopted on March 23, 1921. On the same day, the President of the Senate, upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, appointed as members of said Committee the following Senators: John Dailey; John D. Turnbaugh; Thurlow G. Essington; Willett H. Cornwell; Harold C. Kessinger; John T. Denvir; Patrick J. Sullivan.

The Speaker of the House appointed the following Representatives: W. L. Pierce; Charles Curren; Sidney Lyon; Frederick J. Bippus; John P. Devine; Robert E. Wilson; Frank Ryan.

Upon the same day, the Joint Committee met at Springfield, and selected Senator John Dailey as Chairman, Representative John Devine as Secretary, and T. B. Scouten as Sergeant-at-Arms.

Upon March 25, 1921, the Joint Committee held its first meeting at Room 1123 County Building, Chicago, Illinois, and commenced the taking of testimony. Since that time it has conducted hearings on forty-four days up to and including June 29, 1921, and the transcript of the testimony has reached a total of 7,700 pages.

A great mass of documentary evidence has been gathered in the form of exhibits produced by witnesses. These exhibits include many cancelled checks, receipts, and other papers evidencing payment of tribute to grafting labor business agents, as well as voluminous records of associations of employers and material men showing the many devices and practices resorted to by many of them to stifle competition and increase prices.

Working rules, jurisdictional disputes, and agreements of various unions and crafts have furnished a fertile field for criminal operations of dishonest business agents. The evidence adduced along this line convinces the committee that scarcely any building, large or small, erected in the City of Chicago within the last two years, has been immune from the imposition of graft. The methods employed in exacting graft have been infinite in disguises. It has been exacted in the form of insurance against strikes by the payment of money before construction of buildings has begun, or by the payment of large sums of money to prevent strikes called upon the slightest or no pretext whatever, by the payment of money to call off strikes, whether such strikes had any foundation or not from the Union Labor viewpoint.

Associations of material men have been guilty of practices as hurtful to building operations as the criminal practices of crooked business agents. These associations, by cunningly devised schemes, have endeavored to avoid the conspiracy laws of the State. Exchange of cost information, pooling of bids, exchange of bids and of price lists, reporting to each other of bids and contracts, average cost systems, restrictive agreements with labor unions, agreements with dishonest labor leaders, and many forms of "co-operative competition" and other euphemisms, have served as devices for the restraint of trade and the inflation of prices of building materials. The financial burdens imposed upon the building industry by these associations are greater even than imposed by grafting business agents.

The opinion expressed by many witnesses is that the artificial burdens placed upon building by crooked business agents and criminal associations connected with the building industry have increased the cost of building in Chicago at least thirty per cent. These agencies are largely responsible for the housing shortage in Chicago, the almost complete cessation of building, and increased rentals.

After several weeks of investigation, the Committee came to the conclusion that these practices of the business agents and of the associations connected with the building industry required the strengthening of our laws with reference to extortion and conspiracy.

Accordingly, two bills dealing with this situation were prepared by the Attorney General's office under the direction of the Committee.

One of these bills, Senate Bill No. 372, intended to correct the weakness of the existing law with reference to extortion, passed by both branches of the General Assembly, has been signed by the Governor. This law will become effective July 1, 1921. The rigid enforcement of this law will go very far towards breaking up the piratical practices of dishonest business agents.

As a result of investigation of the activities of associations connected with the building industry, the Committee caused to be introduced in the General Assembly Senate Bill No. 444, "For an Act in relation to Contracts, Combinations, and Conspiracies in Restraint of Trade and Commerce, and providing penalties for the violation thereof." This bill was prepared to correct what was in the opinion of the Committee a most malignant malady of the building industry. It was patterned after the federal anti-trust laws and the anti-trust laws of the leading states of the Union. It was designed to revamp the archaic anti-trust laws of Illinois with legislation embodying the sound, constructive thought of law making bodies, representing the experience of a generation. The bill passed the Senate with but one dissenting vote. Gross misrepresentations of the effects of this bill were made to the House of Representatives and insidious propaganda against its passage were made to the agricultural, laboring, and manufacturing interests of the State, with the result that it was loaded down with devitalizing amendments which would render the bill, if enacted into law, of both doubtful practical and constitutional value. The very fact that such desperate efforts were made to defeat this measure suggests that a most thorough investigation should be resorted to for the purpose of showing all of the methods employed for price fixing by these associations, and the Committee feels that the permanent Commission established by the present legislature should devote much of its efforts to such investigation.

Among the associations which have been under investigation may be listed:

- Chicago Retail Lumber Dealers' Association;
- Lumbermen's Association of Chicago;
- Building Material Exchange;
- American Face Brick Association;
- Chicago Face Brick Association;
- Millwork Cost Information Bureau;
- Reinforced Bar Association;
- Master Steamfitters' Association;
- Sheet Metal Contractors Association;
- Master Plumbers Association;
- Employing Plasterers Association;
- Chicago Contracting Team Owners Association;
- Chicago Cartage Exchange;
- Building Construction Employers Association;
- Associated Builders.

Investigation has also been made as to the operations of the common brick manufacturers in Cook County, and as to plate glass and roofing materials.

Recently, as a result of the bringing to light of violations of law as detailed in the testimony of witnesses before the committee, a special grand jury was empaneled on the petition of the State's Attorney of Cook County.

To date, the grand jury has already returned twenty-four indictments against forty persons. Some of the defendants have been indicted for several transactions, and the total number of parties defendant is sixty-two.

The grand jury has under investigation a great number of other instances of unlawful acts. The Federal government has also caused to be empaneled a special grand jury which is investigating many of the transactions which have been brought to light by the Committee.

Senate Bill No. 510, which passed both branches of the General Assembly, has received the sanction of the Governor and will become effective on July 1, 1921. This law retains the personnel of the present Committee. By this law the Commission thus created is given even greater powers than the present Committee. The Committee feels that the benefit of its investigations is now manifest, and that the uncompleted work of the Committee should be thoroughly prosecuted by the Commission just created by law. The new Commission, under its amplified authority, should continue vigorously until the evil and sinister situation hampering the building industry is completely eradicated.

The Committee feels that the disclosures unearthed by it, together with the speedy and successful prosecution of the indictments already obtained, will destroy the grafting business agents and price fixing associations, and bring an early resumption of building operations.

The Committee is under the greatest obligation to the Chicago newspapers: The Daily News, The Tribune, Evening Post, Herald-Examiner, American, Daily Journal, and Journal of Commerce. Without the publicity given by these newspapers, the Committee's work would be unavailing. The press of Chicago has aroused a public sentiment and civic patriotism that spells the doom of graft, extortion, and conspiracy, so far as they affect the building industry of Chicago.

The thanks of the Committee are due to United States District Attorney Clyne, to Attorney General Brundage and State's Attorney Crowe for their active and helpful co-operation. The continuance of such co-operation and the energetic and speedy trial and prosecution of persons already indicted will contribute effectively to the elimination of these evil conditions.

The Committee also desires to express its thanks to Sheriff Charles W. Peters for his courtesy in placing the deputies of his office at the disposal of the Committee. The sincere thanks of the Committee are also due to Charles Fitzmorris, Superintendent of the Chicago Police Force, for his very hearty and active co-operation in supplying special officers for constant attendance upon the Committee and for the protection of witnesses who have appeared before the Committee.

The Committee desires to express its appreciation for the hearty co-operation of the many civic, business, and professional organizations of the City of Chicago that have rendered material encouragement and aid to the Committee.

This report is merely intended as a preliminary report. The Committee feels that a detailed report of findings and conclusions with reference to the conditions affecting the building industry in the State should be reserved for the Commission created by Senate Bill No. 510.

The above report was adopted by the unanimous vote of the Committee on June 29, 1921, and the Chairman was authorized on behalf of the Committee to sign his name thereto.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—The Governor directs me to lay before the House of Representatives the following communications:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval House Bill No. 488, being a Bill for "An Act to prohibit circuit clerks or recorders or deputy of such officers preparing certain documents and instruments," and submit as reason for my veto the following:

This bill provides that no circuit clerk or recorder or any deputy of such officers shall prepare any document to be filed in the offices of such officers.

It has become customary for these officers to prepare many types of documents in cases where the persons requiring such documents are unable to pay for having them prepared, or where such documents are not of sufficient importance to the person having them prepared to warrant the payment of any fee for preparation. One type of these documents is that of petitions for naturalization. These petitions are very usually prepared by the clerks or their deputies and it would serve no good purpose to prohibit this practice. I have therefore withheld my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval House Bill No. 430, being a Bill for "An Act to amend sections 38 and 40 of 'An Act to provide for the holding of primary elections by political parties,' approved March 9, 1910, in force July 1, 1910, as amended," and submit as reason for my veto the following:

This bill is a companion bill to House Bill No. 431 and the reasons for vetoing the latter bill apply with equal force to this bill. I am, therefor, returning the same without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval House Bill No. 49, being a bill for "An Act to amend section 30 of an Act entitled: 'An Act to provide for the holding of primary elections by political parties,' approved March 9, 1910, in force July 1, 1910, as amended," and submit as reason for my veto the following:

This bill amends section 30 of the Primary Act which deals with the time for filing petitions to have the names of candidates placed upon the primary ballot. At the present time the last day for filing a petition and the last day for withdrawal of a candidate are the same day. This bill, if approved, would require that petitions be filed five days before the last for withdrawal.

The law, at the present time, has operated effectively to prevent manipulation in party nominations. It seems to me there is no good reason for making a change in this provision. I therefore withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 12, being a Bill for "An Act to amend section 54 of 'An Act in regard to the administration of estates', approved April 1, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended", and as reason for my veto, submit the following:

This Bill attempts to amend the law with reference to the oath of the appraisers in an estate. by providing that the oath may be administered not only by any person authorized by law to administered oaths, but also by the executor or administrator or one of the appraisers who has already taken and subscribed the oath. A proviso is then added which states that this provision shall apply only to counties having a population of less than 500,000 inhabitants. It is not clear from the reading of this bill whether this proviso refers to the taking of the oath or whether it refers merely to the person by whom the oath may be administered. In either case, there is no officer designated in this section before whom the oath of the appraiser may be taken in counties over 500,000 inhabitants.

I am furthermore advised by the Attorney General, in an opinion dated June 24, 1921, that this bill is probably unconstitutional. A copy of the opinion of the Attorney General is hereto attached.

For the reasons stated in this message, as well as those set forth in the opinion of the Attorney General, I withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,

Bills.

House Bill No. 12.

To the Governor, Springfield, Illinois:

SIR: I return herewith, House Bill No. 12, submitted by your letter of June 23rd.

This bill amends section 54 of the Act in regard to administration of estates relating to the oath to be administered to and subscribed by appraisers appointed to appraise the personal property in an estate.

The section as now in force provides that the oath may be taken before any person authorized to administer oaths and applies uniformly throughout the State. The amendment strikes out that provision and adds the following paragraph immediately following the provision requiring the oath and prescribing the form:

"The oath shall be administered by any person authorized by law to administer oaths or the executor or the administrator of the estate or by one of the appraisers who has already taken and subscribed the oath. Provided, however, this provision shall only apply to counties having a population of less than 500,000."

The meaning of this added paragraph is not entirely clear due to the fact that it is uncertain how much of the provisions of the section is referred to in the proviso.

It might be argued that the proviso refers even to the preceding paragraph requiring and prescribing the form of, the oath to be taken, in which case the amendment would attempt to exempt appraisers in Cook County from taking any oath. It might also be argued that it applies only to the paragraph in which the proviso is found, in which case there would be no affirmative provision authorizing any one to administer the oath in Cook County. This would probably not be serious as any person authorized to administer oaths could perhaps do so under their general authority.

But, even if the proviso be construed as relating only to the provision authorizing the executors, administrator or one of the appraisers who has taken the oath, to administer the oath, a very serious question arises as to the validity of the classification made in the proviso.

In L'Hote v. Milford, 212 Ill. 418, 423, the court says:

"It is true that a classification of cities and villages of the State by population, as a basis for legislation may be valid, but a classification cannot be adopted arbitrarily upon a ground which has no foundation in difference of situation or circumstances of the municipalities placed in the different classes. There must be some reasonable relation between the situation of municipalities classified and the purposes and objects to be attained." (Kennedy v. McGovern, 246 Ill. 497, to the same effect.)

Disregarding the question to what provisions the proviso above referred to apply, I am unable to see any "reasonable relation between the situation of the counties classified and the purposes and objects to be attained" by the amendment.

I am unable to find any reason for having appraisers take and subscribe to an oath, or permitting the oath to be administered by the executor or administrator or one of the appraisers who has already taken the oath, in counties of less than 500,000, which would not also apply to counties of 500,000 or more.

I think the form of the bill is faulty because of the ambiguity above referred to and I have grave doubts as to the constitutionality of the classification mentioned.

I do not therefore think that I would be justified in approving this bill as to constitutionality and form.

Respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD J. BRUNDAGE,
Attorney General.

FEB—DO.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 29, the same being a bill for "An Act to amend section 5 of 'An Act to regulate the State charitable institutions and the State Reform School, and to improve their organization and increase their efficiency,' approved April 15, 1875, in force July 1, 1875, as amended," and for reason for my veto submit the following:

This bill is exactly the same, word for word, as Senate Bill No. 15, which was passed at this session and which I have approved.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 44, being a bill for "An Act to amend section 1 of 'An Act to provide for annexing and excluding territory to and from cities, towns and villages, and to unite cities, towns and villages,' approved April 10, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended," and as reason for my veto, I submit the following:

This bill amends section 1 of the Act providing for the annexation to and excluding territory from cities, towns and villages. The law, at present, provides that the petition for annexation must be signed by a majority of the legal voters and by a majority of the property owners in the territory proposed to be annexed.

If House Bill No. 44 were approved, the petition for annexation would need to be signed only by one-fourth of the legal voters and one-fourth of the property owners in the territory seeking annexation.

Annexation to a city, town or village means the assuming of additional burdens in the way of taxation and opens up, as well, the possibility that the territory annexed may be improved by sewers and pavements at the expense of the property owners in that territory. It is only fair and reasonable that the property owners should have a voice in the determination of this question; and it seems to me contrary to the principles of good government to take the determination of this question from the majority and place it with the minority. In all other matters of government it has always been the policy of this and other states to abide by the decision of the majority. This important and wholesome principle ought not to be abandoned in the important matter of annexing territory to a city.

I, therefore, return House Bill No. 44 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith without my approval, House Bill No. 50, being a bill for "An Act to amend an Act entitled: 'An Act in regard to elections, and to provide for filling vacancies in elective offices,' approved April 3, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended," and as reason for my veto, submit the following:

This bill radically changes the manner of selecting electors of President and Vice-President of the United States. It provides, in substance, that the names of electors shall not be printed upon the ballot at the presidential election, as has been the custom heretofore; but that the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President shall be printed on the ballot enclosed in a bracket with one square in front of the bracket; and that the electors of the party whose candidates for President and Vice-President receive the highest votes, shall then be appointed by the Governor.

I am advised that this scheme has been adopted in only two states of the Union, namely, Nebraska and Iowa, and that the validity of this manner of electing electors has never been determined by the courts.

Our State, the third largest in the Union, should never, by any chance, or by any defect in its laws, be deprived of representation in the electoral college. Should the law as amended by this bill be declared by the courts to be unconstitutional or otherwise insufficient, it might deprive this State of its voice in the choice of a President. Rather than risk that possibility, it seems to me wise and prudent to continue our present system of choosing presidential electors, at least until the validity of the proposed scheme has been approved by the highest courts of our land.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 57, being a bill for "An Act to add section 9a to the 'Motor Vehicle Law,' approved June 30, 1919, in force January 1, 1920," and submit as reason for my veto, the following:

At the present session of the General Assembly Senate Bill No. 385 was enacted which also adds section 9a to the Motor Vehicle Law. If two sections both numbered 9a were added to the same Act at the same session, I am advised that there would be considerable doubt as to whether both would stand as the law. The provisions of Senate Bill No. 385 are of such importance that I consider it inadvisable to jeopardize the validity of that Act by approving this one.

For the reason above indicated, I return the bill herewith, without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval House Bill No. 67, the same being a bill for "An Act to amend sections 1 and 3 of an Act entitled 'An Act to revise the law in relation to the sentence and commitment of persons convicted of crime or offenses and providing for a system of parole and to repeal certain Acts and parts of Acts therein named,' approved June 25, 1917, in force July 1, 1917, as amended," and my reason for withholding my approval of said bill is that I am advised by the Attorney General that the same is unconstitutional. Provision is made in House Bill No. 68 for three grades of offenses in case of robbery; the first being robbery without the use of a dangerous weapon; the second being robbery with the use of a dangerous weapon other than a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or having a confederate present so armed; and the third being robbery while armed with a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or having a confederate present so armed.

House Bill No. 67, as originally introduced, provided that robbery while armed with a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or with a confederate present so armed, should be put into the class of offenses for which there is a determinate sentence under the law, such as treason, murder, rape or kidnapping. By an amendment, the words "robbery or" were inserted before the clause last mentioned. Through this amendment there results the inconsistent provision that robbery without the use of a weapon of any kind is put in the same class with respect to commitment and parole as robbery with a pistol, revolver or other firearm, and a determinate sentence must be given for it with more restricted parole provisions, while in the case of robbery with a dangerous weapon other than a pistol, revolver or firearm, the present lenient parole provisions and indeterminate sentence will continue. Manifestly, this inconsistency renders the bill unconstitutional, as stated in the opinion of the Attorney General, hereto attached, and I, therefore, return herewith House Bill No. 67, without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,

Bills.

To the Governor, Springfield, Illinois.

SIR: You transmitted to me in your letter of June 23 House Bill No. 67, with the request that I give you my opinion upon its form and constitutionality.

The title of the Act reads as follows:

"An Act to amend sections 1 and 3 of an Act entitled, 'An Act to revise the law in relation to the sentence and commitment of persons convicted of crime or offenses and providing for a system of parole and to repeal certain Acts and parts of Acts therein named,' approved June 25, 1917, in force July 1, 1917, as amended."

This bill seeks to amend the Parole Act. Section 1 of the Parole Act, as it now stands, includes the offenses of misprision of treason, murder, rape and kidnapping and are made determinate punishments by requiring the jury to fix the period of imprisonment in their verdict.

The other offenses, under section 2 of the Act, are indeterminate in punishment, the jury returning only a verdict of guilty, leaving the amount of punishment to be fixed by the Department of Public Welfare.

The present House Bill 67 changes section one and adds thereto the offenses of manslaughter, robbery or robbery while armed with a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or robbery with any confederate present so armed with a pistol, revolver or other firearm to aid or abet him, thereby including these last named offenses in the list where the jury must fix the amount of punishment, taking them out of the indeterminate class where they now are.

This bill also amends clause 5 of section 3 of the Parole Act. The words underscored is the new matter added to clause 5:

*"That every person who shall be found guilty of robbery while armed with a pistol, revolver, or other firearm, or while he has any confederate present so armed with a pistol, revolver or other firearm to aid or abet him, shall be sentenced to the penitentiary and not to the reformatory or other State institution; that every person of the age of twenty-one years or more who shall be found guilty of robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon, other than a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or while he has any confederate present so armed with a dangerous weapon other than a pistol, revolver or other firearm to aid to abet him, shall be sentenced to the penitentiary and not to the reformatory or other State institution;" * * **

the remainder of clause 5 refers to burglary.

Robbery is the felonious and violent taking of money, goods or other valuable thing from the person of another by force or intimidation, the punishment for which is not less than three or more than twenty years in the penitentiary.

Under section 1 of House Bill No. 67, if the offense is plain robbery, the jury must fix the term of imprisonment.

If the offense is robbery with a dangerous weapon, other than a pistol or firearm, the jury do not fix the punishment under section 2 of the Parole Act and the sentence is indeterminate, to be discharged by the Department of Public Welfare.

If it is robbery while armed with a pistol or other firearm, under section 1 of House Bill No. 67 the jury fixes the term of imprisonment.

If the defendant is unarmed, but has a confederate present who is armed with a pistol or other firearm, under section 1 of this bill the jury fixes the term of imprisonment.

If the defendant is not armed with any dangerous weapon but has a confederate present armed with a pistol or other firearm, the jury fixes the term of imprisonment.

If the defendant is unarmed but has a confederate armed with a dangerous weapon, not a pistol or firearm, the jury do not fix the punishment and the sentence is indeterminate.

Under clause 5 of section 3, as amended in this bill, every person, male or female, ten years of age or over, found guilty of robbery while armed with a pistol or other firearm, or has a confederate present so armed, shall be sentenced to the penitentiary and not to the reformatory or other State institution.

Under said clause 5, if the defendant is under the age of 21 years and found guilty of robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon other than a pistol or firearm, such person may be sent to the reformatory or other State institution, in the discretion of the court.

If the defendant is under the age of 21 years, under clause 5, and is unarmed but has a confederate present armed with a dangerous weapon other than a pistol or firearm, such person may be sent to the reformatory or other State institution than the penitentiary, in the discretion of the court.

Under clause 5, a person over 21 years of age, armed with a dangerous weapon, or if he is unarmed but has a confederate present armed with a dangerous weapon, not a pistol or firearm, must be sent to the penitentiary but in these last two sentences the sentence is indeterminate, the jury do not fix the term of imprisonment and the Department of Public Welfare may discharge earlier than the maximum period by the law required.

Section 246 of the Criminal Code, as the law now stands, defines and prescribes the punishment for robbery, and reads as follows:

"Robbery is the felonious and violent taking of money, goods or other valuable thing, from the person of another by force or intimidation. Every person guilty of robbery shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three years nor more than twenty years; or if he is armed with a dangerous weapon, or being so armed, he wounds or strikes him, or if he has any confederate present so armed, to aid or abet him, he shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for any term of years not less than ten years or for life."

It will be noted that the present law prescribing the punishment if the defendant is armed with a dangerous weapon, or being so armed wounds or strikes a person, or has a confederate so armed, shall be imprisoned for any term of years not less than ten, or for life, and there is no provision made in the present law distinguishing and making robbery with a gun a special act or offense, therefore the amendments of House Bill No. 67 to the present Parole Act do not fit the present law of robbery and would lead to endless confusion.

House Bill No. 68, which will be before your Excellency for consideration, amends the law for robbery and reads as follows:

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: That section 246 of Division 1 of an Act entitled, 'An Act to revise the law in relation to criminal jurisprudence,' approved March 27, 1874, in force July 1, 1874, as amended, be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows:

"Section 246. Robbery is the felonious and violent taking of money, goods or other valuable thing from the person of another, by force or intimidation. Every person guilty of robbery shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three years nor more than twenty years; or if he is armed at the time of the robbery with a dangerous weapon, other than a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or if he has any confederate present so armed, to aid or abet him, he shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for any term of years not less than ten years or for life; or if he is armed at the time of the robbery with a pistol, revolver or other firearm, or if he has any confederate present so armed with a pistol, revolver or other firearm, to aid and abet him, he shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term of years not less than ten, and it may extend to life."

The new words inserted being underscored.

It is to be observed that the punishment and the definition of robbery remain the same, but if armed with a dangerous weapon other than a pistol, or if armed with a pistol or other firearm, the punishment is just the same as it is now being armed with a dangerous weapon.

The author of House Bill No. 67 introduced House Bill No. 68 evidently so as to make No. 67 workable.

In section 1 of House Bill No. 67, where definite sentences are imposed, on page 2 of the bill beginning with the sentence in line 5, is the following language:

"In every such case of imprisonment the court shall sentence the defendant to the penitentiary, except as is provided in clauses 1 to 4, inclusive, in section 3 of this Act, and in such cases the court may, in its discretion, commit as in those clauses provided."

You will note that clause 5 is not included in section 1 in the exceptions.

In section 3, on page 3 of the bill, is the following language, beginning at the end of line 7 of section 3:

"Shall in all cases except as herein otherwise provided, in clauses 1 to 4 inclusive, be sentenced to the penitentiary and the jury in its verdict in such cases and the court imposing such sentence, shall not fix the limit or duration of the same."

In clause 1 it is provided that every male person, between the ages of 16 and 26 may, in the discretion of the court, be sentenced to the reformatory instead of the penitentiary.

In clause 3, every male person between the ages of 10 and 16 may, in the discretion of the court, be committed to such other institutions (other than the reformatory) as is provided by law for the incarceration and punishment, etc., instead of the penitentiary.

In clause 4, every female person between 10 and 18 years of age may, in the discretion of the court, be sentenced to such other institution as is provided by law, instead of the penitentiary.

The above are three of the four clauses in the exceptions made in section 3.

You will note that clause 5 is not included in the exceptions enumerated in the body of section 3.

Clause 5 is in conflict with and defeats clauses 1, 3 and 4, in the instances named in clause 5.

That your Excellency may understand the effect of House Bill No. 67, as amended, and as it will be applied in court and by the courts and the juries, it is necessary to present to you the following illustrations:

1. Plain robbery by a defendant 16 to 26, the jury fixes a definite term, and may be sentenced to the reformatory instead of the penitentiary, with no benefits of the good effect of the parole system.

2. Plain robbery, the defendant being unarmed, age 10 to 21, but having a confederate present armed with a dangerous weapon, not a pistol or firearm, the sentence is indeterminate, the jury does not fix the term and may go to the reformatory or other institution instead of the penitentiary and receive the benefit of the parole system.

3. Plain robbery, by male or female, 10 years of age or more, if unarmed but has a confederate present armed with a pistol or other firearm, the sentence is a definite sentence, the jury fixes a term and must be sent to the penitentiary, under clause 5, as amended.

4. Plain robbery, of the age of 21 years and upward, the defendant unarmed but having a confederate present armed with a dangerous weapon not a firearm, must receive an indeterminate sentence, the jury not fixing the term, but must be sentenced to the penitentiary, receiving the benefit of the parole system.

5. Robbery by a defendant 10 to 21 years of age, armed with a dangerous weapon, not a pistol or firearm, receives an indeterminate sentence, the jury not fixing the term, and may be sentenced to the reformatory or other institution, in the discretion of the court, and receives the benefit of the parole system.

6. Robbery, by defendant 10 to 21 years of age, armed with a dangerous weapon not a pistol or firearm and having a confederate armed with a pistol or firearm present—because of the fact that the confederate had a firearm, under clause 5 of the bill it would seem that he should go to the penitentiary and the jury to fix the term, but when this is considered more carefully, the bill prescribing two places of punishment, not being armed with a gun although he had a confederate present, the courts would send, in that instance, the defendant armed with a dangerous weapon to the reformatory because the law must be construed most favorably to the accused, and that being true, the sentence would be indeterminate and the jury would not fix the term.

So, when we compare illustration No. 3 with illustration No. 6, we find this condition—a boy under 21, unarmed, having a confederate present with a gun, must go to the penitentiary; while Under No. 6, a boy under 21, armed with a dangerous weapon, not a gun, and also having a confederate present armed with a gun, may be sent to the reformatory, with the benefits of the parole system. This is a discrimination not based upon any sound reason or constitutional ground and makes the Act unconstitutional.

7. A boy 10 to 21, armed with a dangerous weapon, not a gun, with a confederate present under the age of 21, armed with a gun, the robbery being one transaction, the boy with a knife receives an indeterminate sentence and the other boy goes to the penitentiary with a definite sentence.

8. If a boy 10 to 21, armed with a gun, has a confederate 10 to 21, armed with a dangerous weapon, not a gun, the robbery being one transaction, the boy with a gun goes to the penitentiary with a definite sentence, but the boy armed with a dangerous weapon, not a gun, goes to the reformatory, under an indeterminate sentence.

These illustrations might be elaborated, but they are sufficient to show your Excellency the utter confusion to juries and to courts created by this House Bill No. 67.

Another very serious difficulty in applying the law and obtaining verdicts and having them sustained by the Supreme Court will arise in the difficulty of drawing indictments; the wonderful accuracy that will be required in writing instructions in these complicated situations, especially so if there are a number of defendants, some armed one way, some another, others not armed.

The Department of Public Welfare, as I am informed have already experienced, under the law as it is, great difficulty, because of the fact that the courts, juries and clerks in making up their records have not made the distinction under the present law in plain robbery and robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon and where the verdict rendered and the record made by the clerk do not definitely show that the defendant was armed with a dangerous weapon, although he was, the defendant can only be punished for plain robbery.

If House Bills Nos. 67 and 68 become laws, with the variety of other difficulties that I have pointed out added to those that already exist, there will be very few convictions sustained by the Supreme Court. The Department of Public Welfare can give your Excellency the benefit of its experience and suggestion upon these two bills.

I find that House Bill No. 67 is unconstitutional; I find no objection to its form. I am returning it herewith.

Respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD J. BRUNDAGE,
Attorney General.

Enclosure.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 68, being a bill for "An Act to amend section 246 of Division I of an Act entitled, 'An Act to revise the law in relation to criminal jurisprudence,' approved March 27, 1874, in force July 1, 1874, as amended," and my reason for vetoing this bill is that it is a companion bill to House Bill No. 67, which I have discussed more fully in my veto message. The enactment of House Bill No. 68 into law would serve no purpose except to confuse the present law concerning punishment for robbery. It makes three classifications of the crime; whereas, at present there are only two classes. The punishment for the two graver offenses in House Bill No. 68 is the same and inasmuch as there is no provision made for a distinction as was intended by House Bill No. 67 there remains no reason for dividing the offenses into three classes. I therefore return, herewith, House Bill No. 68, without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 93, being a bill for "An Act to amend an Act to revise the law in relation to universities, colleges, academies, and other institutions of learning," approved March 24, 1874, approved June 28, 1919, and submit as reason for my veto the following:

By a law approved June 28, 1919, section 1a was added to the Act of 1874, which pertained to the law in relation to universities, colleges, academies, and other institutions of learning. I have been informed that it was the purpose of this bill to repeal section 1a enacted in 1919. However, this bill is so drawn that it is not clear from the reading of the bill whether it was intended to repeal the entire Act or only the section enacted at the last session of the General Assembly.

It would certainly be inadvisable to repeal the entire Act of 1874 and I do not believe that it was the intention of members of the Legislature to do so. However, since this bill could be construed to effect such a repeal, I am returning it herewith, without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I am returning herewith without my approval, House Bill No. 280, being a bill for "An Act to amend 'An Act to establish and maintain parks and parkways in towns and townships,' approved May 29, 1911, in force July 1, 1911, by adding thereto two sections to be known as sections 11 and 12," and for reason for my veto, submit the following:

Section 12 of the Act of 1911, which is added, provides that if territory within a town is included within a park district, the taxes and property shall be divided proportionately between the township and the new park district; or, if the new park district includes all the territory of the town, then all the park taxes and property shall go to the new park district.

This bill is objectionable because it is a companion bill to House Bill No. 281. By taking both these Acts together, it is possible that the territory within a township be organized into a park district, contrary to the will of a majority of the people within the township; and if it is so organized, the property and taxes for park purposes in that town are turned over to the park district. I believe that the citizens of the various towns should not be deprived of their control over matters of this nature.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I am returning herewith without my approval, House Bill No. 281, being a bill for "An Act to amend 'An Act to provide for the organization of park districts and the transfer of submerged lands to those bordering on navigable bodies of water,' approved June 24, 1895, in force July 1, 1895," and for reason for my veto submit the following:

This bill, among other things, changes the law with reference to the majority vote required to organize a park district, under the Act of 1895. The present law provides that the proposition to organize a district must receive a majority vote in each town, or part of a town, embraced within the proposed district. The amendment effected by this bill provides that the proposition must secure a majority in the entire district. This makes it possible for the voters of one township, having a large population, to overcome the will of the voters in an adjoining township having a small population. A township may thus be included within a park district, even though a majority of its voters are opposed to the proposition.

I am of the opinion that the voters of each township should retain the power and right to determine whether they desire to enter a park district. This is especially true in view of the provisions both of this bill and of House Bill No. 280, which provide that the park property and park taxes of each township shall be turned over to the newly organized park district.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 431, being a bill for "An Act to amend section 15 of 'An Act to provide for the printing and distribution of ballots at public expense, and for the nomination of candidates for public offices, to regulate the manner of holding elections, and to enforce the secrecy of the ballot,' approved June 22, 1891, in force July 1, 1891, as amended," and for reason for my veto, submit the following:

This bill amends section 15 of the Ballot Act. That section at present provides that the officer furnishing ballots, shall furnish one hundred ballots for each fifty votes cast at the last preceding election for State officers, and shall hold in reserve an ample supply of ballots to be furnished to the election judges in case the first supply is lost, destroyed or exhausted.

The amendment made by this bill, which is being returned herewith, provides that the officer shall furnish one hundred fifty ballots for each one hundred votes cast in the precinct or district at the last general election, and further provides that a reserve of fifty per cent of the number of ballots delivered to the judges shall be held by the official providing the ballots.

The present law regulating the number of ballots to be furnished has, I believe, operated to the benefit of the voters. It has seldom been found that the supply of ballots has not been ample. The only conceivable reason for a change, so as to provide a less number of ballots, is that there would be a saving in the expense of holding elections. While I am thoroughly in sympathy with any movement to reduce public expense, yet, I believe it is more important that every voter of this State have an opportunity to cast a vote, than it is to make the small saving which will be brought about by this change.

I therefore return this bill without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois

STATE OF ILLINOIS,

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 450, being a bill for "An Act to amend section 8 of 'An Act to revise the law in relation to township insurance companies,' approved March 24, 1874, in force July 1, 1874, as amended," and submit as reason for my veto, the following:

This bill, as well as House Bill No. 134 passed at this session of the General Assembly, amends section 8 of the law in relation to township insurance companies. House Bill No. 134 has been approved and that bill covers all the essential changes made by the bill which I am returning herewith. A further objection to this bill is that an important proviso has been omitted, apparently by accident.

I have therefore chosen to approve House Bill No. 134 and veto House Bill No. 450.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

This bill makes substantially the same changes in the Primary Act that are made by Senate Bill No. 529, which was passed at this session and which I have approved. To approve this bill would be a more duplication and for that reason I return it herewith, without my approval.

Bills.

House Bill No. 537.

To the Governor, Springfield, Illinois.

SIR: You have transmitted to me for my opinion as to constitutionality and form, House Bill No. 537, entitled as follows:

"An Act to add section 6a to an Act entitled: 'An Act in relation to State finance,' approved June 10, 1919, in force July 1, 1919."

The section which this bill purports to add to the Act in relation to State finance provides that the gross amount of money received from whatever source, belonging to or for the use of such normal schools or the State of Illinois, shall be paid into the State treasury within ten days after the receipt thereof without deduction of any kind and shall be covered into a special fund to be known as the Normal Schools Revolving Fund. Moneys belonging to such schools or to the State, in the hands of such schools or the officials, employees or agents thereof on July 1, 1921, are required to be paid into the treasury and covered into said Revolving Fund except that $1,000.00 may be retained by each normal school as an Advanced Fund. The last paragraph of the said section 6a is as follows:

"Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit any State normal school or its officers continuing the administration of or receiving for administration trust funds, gifts or legacies."

This new section provides that the said Advanced Fund shall be handled on the Imprest System and disbursements shall be made therefrom following the plan authorized by the Director of Finance. Provision for maintaining this Advanced Fund is made in the following language:

"Said funds shall be replenished from time to time by warrants of the Auditor of Public Accounts payable by the State Treasurer from the Normal Schools Revolving Fund in accordance with the appropriations made by the General Assembly upon itemized, receipted vouchers certified to by the Presidents of the respective normal schools and approved by the Director of the Department of Registration and Education and the Director of the Department of Finance."

Each State normal school is required by the bill to file with the Auditor of Public Accounts on or before the second Wednesday of January, April, July and October of each year, a detailed balanced statement in form prescribed by said Auditor, of all receipts for the preceding fiscal quarter verified under oath. A copy of such statement must be filed with the Department of Registration and Education at the same time.

This bill virtually appropriates to each State normal school the sum of $1,000.00 for an "Advanced Fund," which is not otherwise described nor is the purpose thereof specified. It is required to be handled upon what is termed in the bill the Imprest System, which is likewise not defined. Disbursements therefrom are to be made pursuant to a plan authorized by the two directors aforesaid. This is equivalent to an appropriation to each of said Normal Schools of a lump sum of $1,000.00, without specification of the purposes for which it is to be expended. This is in violation of the Constitution. People ex rel Board of Agriculture v. Brady, 277 Ill. 124, 130. Moreover, the title of the Act amended, "An Act in relation to State Finance," does not include appropriation. The moneys which this bill requires shall be paid into the State Treasury are the property of the State and from a constitutional standpoint should now be in the State Treasury. The provision of this bill respecting the $1,000.00 which each of the named institutions is permitted to retain as an Advanced Fund, is in my judgment as much an appropriation of State money as though the funds were now in the State Treasury. I therefore consider this provision of the bill unconstitutional.

The provision that the Advanced Fund shall be replenished by appropriations made by the General Assembly amounts to nothing more than a recommendation by this General Assembly to subsequent General Assemblies. It is so uncertain and indefinite that I am unable to say whether, either as a recommendation or as effective legislation, it is constitutional. Does it mean that the Advanced Fund is to be replenished by appropriation from the Revolving Fund, which acts of appropriation shall properly specify the purposes for which the money so appropriated to the Advanced Fund shall be disbursed upon Auditor's warrants based upon lawful vouchers certified by the presidents of the respective Normal Schools and approved by the two specified directors? Or, does it mean that the amounts appropriated shall be drawn from the treasury, paid over in a lump sum to the Advanced Funds of the respective Normal Schools upon itemized vouchers setting forth the purpose for which it is to be applied, and certified and receipted for as such by the said president and approved by the said directors? If the latter is meant the appropriations made to the Revolving Fund would be a lump sum to be used for such purposes as the said president and the said directors may determine, thus conferring upon them the functions of the General Assembly and depriving the Auditor of Public Accounts of his rights as defined in People v. Brady, supra, and in violation of the rule announced in that case requiring that moneys can be paid out of the State Treasury only in pursuance of an appropriation specifying the purpose thereof, upon the presentation of itemized vouchers showing that obligations have been incurred.

There is only one provision of the bill which I can pronounce constitutional and that is the provision requiring these several institutions to pay into the State treasury the money which the bill requires to be so paid over.

I herewith return the bill, subject to the constitutional objections above noted, and in the respects mentioned uncertain and vague as to form.

Respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD J. BRUNDAGE,

Attorney General.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 600, being a Bill for "An Act to amend section 36 of 'An Act in relation to Motor Vehicles and to repeal a certain Act therein named', approved June 30, 1919, in force January 1, 1920", and submit as reason for my veto, the following:

Senate Bill No. 518 was passed at this session of the General Assembly and is a bill which also amends section 36 of the Motor Vehicle Act. If both Senate Bill No. 518 and House Bill No. 600 were approved, there would be two Acts, both amending section 36 of the Motor Vehicle Act, and doubt and confusion would arise as to which of these amendments would prevail over the other. In order to obviate this confusion, I am compelled to veto one of the bills, and as I consider Senate Bill No. 518 more important than this bill, I have vetoed House Bill No. 600.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return, herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 669, being a bill for "An Act to amend section 61 of an Act entitled: 'An Act to provide for the holding of primary elections by political parties,' approved March 9, 1910, in force July 1, 1910." The reason for my veto is as follows:

This bill provides that the petition for nominations for city offices in cities having a population of over five hundred thousand inhabitants, shall be filed in the office of the city clerk. This is the law at the present time, and the bill merely re-enacts the existing law. There is no good reason for encumbering the statute books with a statute of this nature, which is merely a duplication, and accomplishes no change or improvement.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith without my approval, House Bill No. 631, being a bill for "An Act to amend sections 89a and 90 of 'An Act to establish and maintain a system of free schools,' approved and in force June 12, 1909, as amended, and to add section 89b thereto," and for reason for my veto submit the following:

The Attorney General in an opinion dated June 25, 1921, advises me that this entire bill is invalid. A copy of the opinion of the Attorney General is hereto attached.

For the reasons stated in that opinion, I withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
LAW DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 25, 1921.

To the Governor, Springfield, Illinois:

SIR: You have transmitted to me for an opinion as to form and constitutionality, House Bill No. 631, same being:

An Act entitled, "An Act to amend sections 89a and 90 of 'An Act to establish and maintain a system of free schools,' approved and in force June 12, 1909, as amended, and to add section 89b thereto."

Upon examination of said Bill I am of the opinion that it is objectionable both as to form and constitutionality.

The objection to the form of said Bill is that the Bill proper contains no reference to section 90, one of the sections mentioned in the title as being amended and for the further reason that it adds sections 89c, of which no mention is made in the title. Where it is proposed to amend a certain section or sections of an Act, and to add thereto new sections, the title of the amendatory act should specify the new sections intended to be added.

I am of the opinion, too, that section 89a as amended has the effect to render said Bill invalid. Said section provides that any contiguous and compact territory, no part of which is included within a township or community high school district, having an area of not more than sixty-four square miles, and does not extend more than four miles in any cardinal direction from the center of the proposed territory, and which has an assessed valuation of taxable property of not less than five hundred thousand dollars according to the last preceding assessment for State or county purposes, and has not less than thirty prospective high school pupils residing within its limits, may be organized into a community high school district upon a petition defining the boundaries of such proposed district, signed by not less than one hundred voters residing in such territory to be filed with the county superintendent of schools of the county in which the territory or the greater portion thereof is situated. Upon such petition being filed with the county superintendent, it is made his duty to file such petition in the circuit court of his county. Upon filing such petition in the circuit court, it is made the duty of the judge of said court to fix a time either in term time or vacation for a hearing thereon, notice of which is to be given in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county, containing a description of such proposed district and stating the time and place at which such hearing is to be held, at which hearing all parties interested are to be heard for or against the organization of such proposed district.

Said section further provides that the court shall have power to determine whether such proposed district meets the requirements specified therein for a community high school district, and if it does not or if the court decides that a more satisfactory and efficient district can be formed which will meet such requirements, that the court may exclude territory described in such petition and add territory not described in such petition. And provides, if the court finds it is impossible to form a district which will meet the requirements specified, he shall dismiss the petition, but if he decides that such district can be organized, he shall fix the boundaries of such district and order the county superintendent to call an election to vote on the proposition of establishing such district. It will be noted that the power given to the court to add territory not described in such petition is arbitrary; and there is no provision for any hearing as to the territory not described in the petition which the court may decide should be added to such district. A hearing is provided for as to territory described in the petition; but no hearing is provided for as to the territory which the court is given the power to add to such district.

Under the rule announced by the Supreme Court in the case of Kenyon v. Moore, 287 Ill. 233; and in an opinion handed down by the court at the term thereof just adjourned, in the case of Jackson et al v. Blair, I am of the opinion that said section 89a as amended by this bill is invalid. And as section 89b and section 89c, the latter being the section not specified in the title to said bill, are so interwoven and dependent on section 89a as to be ineffective without that section, I am of the opinion that the entire bill is invalid.

Very respectfully,

EDWARD J. BRUNDAGE, Attorney General.

This Bill amends the Primary Act in substantially the same manner in which that Act is amended by Senate Bill No. 528, which has been approved. As there is no necessity that the same changes be made by two laws, I have approved Senate Bill No. 528, and return this bill without my approval.

I submit as reason for my veto of these items the following: "The Fifty-first General Assembly appropriated to the University of Illinois the sum of $5,348,000. The appropriation contained in House Bill No. 333 aggregates $10,565,000, which is an increase of almost 100 per cent. Even after these items have been vetoed, the increase over the last appropriation is approximately 80 per cent.

In addition to House Bill No. 333, the Fifty-second General Assembly has also appropriated $100,000, to be received from the Federal Government, and has reappropriated $185,265. This is a greater increase than has been allowed by the Fifty-second General Assembly to any other division, branch or agency of the State government.

I believe that this increase will be found ample to supply the growing needs of the State university and will provide for as many buildings as the University of Illinois can economically construct before the next session of the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith House Bill No. 672 entitled, "An Act making appropriations for the State Normal Schools."

I veto and withhold my approval of the following item therein contained:

On pages 3 and 4, I veto all of section 4.

The reason for my veto of this section is as follows:

This section makes an appropriation of $760,000.00, payable out of the Normal School Revolving Fund. This fund was created by House Bill No. 537, which has been held unconstitutional by the Attorney General and which I have accordingly vetoed. There is, therefore, no fund in the State treasury from which this item of $760,000.00 could be paid.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

Page 15, section 8, lines 15 and 16 from the top of the page: "TO THE PSYCHOPATHIC HOSPITAL: For Permanent Improvements..$21,447.04".

I also veto all of section 9 of said bill, reappropriating $44,373.21.

I also veto all of section 10 of said bill, reappropriating $734,955.60.

As reason for my veto of the above items, I submit the following:

The appropriations and reappropriations for buildings, permanent improvements, repairs and equipment to the Department of Public Welfare aggregate $7,222,283.44. In addition to this amount there has been appropriated to the Illinois Penitentiary Commission the sum of $1,784,616.33, and to the University of Illinois for buildings to be used in conjunction with the Department of Public Welfare at the group hospital, at Chicago, the sum of $500,000.00, which makes a total appropriation for the charitable and penal institutions of the State of nearly $10,000,000.00, for buildings, permanent improvements, repairs and equipment.

This sum is greatly in excess of any ever before appropriated for one biennium and is, I believe, more than the people should be called upon to spend in any one biennium for these purposes.

I have, therefore, withheld my approval from the items above listed which total approximately $2,500,000.00 and which, in my opinion, can be eliminated without interfering in any way in the proper conduct and management of any of the State institutions.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.

Respectfully submitted,

LEN. SMALL, Governor of Illinois.
